UDC To Meet Jan. 22

The James Kenan Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy will hold their January meeting on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 22, in the home of Mrs. Paul Berry on Pine St. This is the first meeting of the new year and Mrs. R. L. West, the president, desires the presence of all daughters in order to present the business for the year. Don't forget, Thursday afternoon, Jan. 22, at 3:00 o'clock.

With The Sick

Mrs. Wilbur Garner left Friday for Clayton, Ala. where she was called on account of the serious illness of her sister.
 Friends of R. Paul Britt, newcomer to Warsaw, with the Duplin Trading Company, will be interested to learn that he is getting along as well as could be expected following an emergency appendectomy Monday night at the Goldsboro Hospital.
 Friends of Mrs. Lola P. Garner will regret to learn that she had the misfortune to fall recently and fracture three ribs.
 Miss Janie Elice Blackmore, who is undergoing treatment in James Walker Hospital, is getting along nicely.

Compete and Live

America's workers take pride in their ability to do hard jobs well. They are willing to let merit be the judge of their handiwork. Such traits as speed, accuracy, stamina, dependability, and initiative are what get a fellow ahead.
 America has seen this kind of competition make real men. In turn these free men have made America. Every worker, no matter whether he makes use of strong hand or agile mind, puts his faith in the trading of the valuable commodities he possesses to his employer. Competition is good policy for craftsmen, athletes, scholars, fishermen, shopkeepers, and American business in general. The American people have reasoned wisely that competition in industry must be maintained so that the whole nation may benefit.

Enforced Agreements

Does competition on the level of labor have any value for the welfare of the nation? It is obvious that our industry, of which labor is a part, exists for the sake of those who consume goods. Policies that add unreasonably to the costs of goods, or any other non-competitive practices, endanger the free economy that made us great.

Closed-shop agreements, usually signed by management under duress, present this kind of danger. The non-competitive monopolistic nature of such enforced closed-shop agreements is apparent. Labor groups themselves need the stimulus of fair competition, for the sake of improved service. Unions need not find their only competition with employers. Rather, management and labor have need of cooperation, for they complement each other.

Too Dangerous

Mr. Gunnar Anderson, executive vice-president of the Federation of Swedish Labor Unions, told me that 90% of Swedish labor belongs to unions. Yet, he informed me, the Federation of Labor Unions is unalterably opposed to the closed shop. They feel that the closed shop is antagonistic to the very principle of freedom which labor unions enjoy and which they must help defend in their own interest.

A universal closed shop in America would amount to one tremendous monopoly of non-competitive labor, with the premium placed on mediocrity. This would also make labor more powerful than any plain American would wish. Any segment as powerful as that, either would be actual head of a totalitarian government, or would be so powerful that only a totalitarian state could deal with such a power. A national closed shop is too dangerous for America, and would mean the end of free labor unions.

Labor wants no such regime, whether you call it fascist, communist or by some other fancy name that may yet appear. Under any other system you can think of, as compared with a free America, labor would be the loser. In Nazi Germany, Hitler found it necessary to protect his totalitarian state by abolishing labor unions. In Russia, Stalin simply runs them. There's every reason why we must avoid monopolies of either labor or industry, and instead must foster competition in every way.

J. P. Harmon, who has been confined to his home with pneumonia is improving.
 Miss Alice Fussell is improving after being confined to her home by illness. Her mother, Mrs. W. E. Fussell is also improving and able to be out.

Mrs. J. K. Williamson, who has been ill for several months at her home, remains about the same.

Miss Gray Weds Mr. Farrior

Miss Mary Virginia Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark D. Gray of Concord and Henry Davies Farrior, son of Mrs. J. W. Farrior and the late Dr. Farrior of Warsaw, were united in marriage on Saturday, December 27, at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the Harmony Methodist Church in Concord with the Rev. R. Hoy Whitlaw, officiating.

The altar, before which the couple exchanged vows, was arranged with palms, woodwardia, southern smilax, and standards of white glad-loll. The wedding scene was lighted with ten branched candelabra holding lighted tapers. Family pews were marked with white satin bows entwined with white glad-loll.

Mr. Buford Goodman, pianist, and Mr. Harry Arrowood presented a program of nuptial music. Mr. Goodman played Schubert's "Serenade", "To A Wild Rose", "Liebestraum" prior to the speaking of the vows and during the ceremony he rendered "Clair de Lune". Vocal numbers were "Because", "Love Thee" and as a benediction, "O Perfect Love."

Ushers were Elmer C. Thompson, of Chapel Hill, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Everett L. Small, of Concord, brother-in-law of the bride, Linley R. Miller, of Concord and Charles K. Maxwell of Wilmington. William Sloan Farrior of Warsaw was his brother's best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a formal white duchess satin, fashioned with illusion yoke, outlined with seed pearls, leg o'mutton sleeves, ending in ca. lily points at the wrist. Aque waist with covered buttons down the back, and full skirt ending in a long court train. Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion was attached to a tiris o' tiny seed pearls and wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white purple throated orchid, showered with 'ridal streamers.

MRS. HENRY DENNIS FARRIOR, who before her marriage on December 27 was Miss Mary Virginia Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark W. Gray of Concord. Mr. Farrior is the son of Mrs. J. H. Farrior and the late Dr. J. W. Farrior of Warsaw.

forum discussion. Following business the hostess served a tempting fruit salad course with cheese biscuits, nuts and coffee.

Circle No. 2 met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Sam Godwin and 11 present and Mrs. J. C. Thompson presiding. Mrs. Thompson also had charge of the devotionals. Due to excessive business there was no regular program. Officers were elected after which the hostess served dainty hors d'ouvrs, sandwiches and hot tea.

Circle No. 3 was entertained on Tuesday evening in the home of Miss Nellie Corbett, who also presided. There were 11 present. Mrs.

Mable Waters read the 67th Psalm and Miss Corbett, assisted by Mrs. Waters, Mrs. G. P. Pridgen, Mrs. J. A. Rackley, Mrs. J. A. McCollman and Miss Rosa West presented the program. Following business the hostess, assisted by her sister, Miss Helen Corbett, served a congenial salad course with ritz, cookies and coffee.

Miss Faith Gray, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Linley R. Miller, both of Concord, were bridesmaids, wearing gowns identical to that of the matron of honor, matching mitts, off the face hat and pearls. Their nosegays of yellow roses and aqua tulle were tied with yellow satin ribbon.

Mrs. Gray, mother of the bride, wore a green crepe dress with black accessories and corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Farrior, the groom's mother, wore black crepe with black accessories and shoulder corsage of white roses.

After the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip. The bride changed into a suit of chocolate brown with winter accessories and wore a topper fur coat with the orchid lifted from her prayer book, pinned on her shoulder.

The bride attended Lenoir-Rhyne College in Hickory and is employed as a secretary in the office of the Cannon Mills Co. in Kannapolis, N. C. The bridegroom attended Davidson College in Davidson, and is now a student at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. During the war he served with the armed forces in the China-Burma-India theatre.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mrs. J. W. Farrior, and William Sloan Farrior, of Warsaw; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Thompson, of Chapel Hill; Don Williams, of Durham; Charles K. Maxwell, of Westmoreland; of Mooresville; and William Sauer, of Indianapolis, Ind.

Entertains Club

Mrs. Frank Hobbs entertained her bridge club and several guests on Wednesday evening with two tables in play. After several spirited progressions Mrs. Herman Hollingsworth received hand cream for club high and Mrs. Avon Sharpe cleansing cream for visitors high. Mrs. Sharpe also captured the floating award, lip cleanser.

Mrs. Hobbs served delicious cherry pie a la mode to her guests.

Baptist Meetings

The WMU held their first meeting of the new year Monday afternoon with the new president, Mrs. F. J. Thomas presiding and 35 present. After the opening song, and circle business, the Rev. G. Van Stephens discussed the Wake Forest Funds and read a letter from

Rev. Charles Howard of Campbell College, telling the need of financial help for a young Cuban student in that institution.

Mrs. Thomas had charge of the devotionals, and the Rosa Hocutt Powell Circle with Mrs. D. T. Chambers as chairman presented the program. Mrs. Carrie Poole was program chairman, assisted by Mesdames Chambers and Allen Draughon. Miss Mae Brock and Mrs. Glenn Brown sang a duet.

The Jr. R. As met Monday afternoon in the home of Eddie Britt with the Counselor Mrs. Thel Snipes, leading. Following the R. A. hymn and devotional officers were elected: Ambassador in Chief John Steed; Asst. Ambassador in Chief, Eddie Britt; Recorder, Currie Deems Pollock; Custodian, Currie Dail, Jr.; Herald, William Snipes; Scribe, Billy Dail. Seven young boys from 9 to 13 were present. Mrs. Snipes reviewed the forward step requirements and the boys enjoyed pepsi colas and potato chips.

The Sunbeam Band met Monday afternoon at the church with 23 present and the new leader, Mrs. V. A. Stencil, assisted by Mrs. G. V. Penney, in charge. Following the rally cry, watchword and song: Judy Stencil, hostess, served pop-sicles.

The Jr. G. As met Monday afternoon at the church with Bessie and Helen Herring hostesses and 18 present. Mrs. J. F. Strickland had charge of the meeting which consisted of a business meeting after which the hostesses served coca colas and cookies.

Dinner Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Strickland entertained Monday with a family dinner honoring her sister, Mrs. Guy Shue and Mr. Shue, of Staunton, Va., who were week end guests of her father, Harry Grady of Rt. 2.

Potted plants decorated the home and a tempting three course dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. Shue, Mr. Grady, Mr. and Mrs. Belton Minshew, Miss Verna Strickland, Miss Agnes Turnage and Mr and Mrs. Strickland.

BEER—America's Beverage of Moderation

—As Do Good Friends—

SELF-REGULATION WEARS WELL!

Eight years should provide a good test—and the North Carolina brewing industry's Self-Regulation program is now that old.

Today, it stands stronger than ever. Good friends always "wear well" and Self-Regulation has proved itself a good friend to the public, the law-enforcement agencies, and those in the beer business.

Briefly, Self-Regulation is the system whereby the brewing industry makes sustained effort to see that places selling beer are clean, wholesome and law-abiding.

Your patronage of beer retailers living up to these high operating standards is our strongest support.
