A FREE AT THE MAID'S COTTONS

The 1948 Maid of Cotton models a pale blue cotton chambray formal by Dorris Varnum, reminiscent of romantic days in the Old South.

Texas can brag with just pride about its glamorous blonde beauty, Matilda Hall of Fort Worth, 1948 Maid of Cotton. Here is the National Cotton Council official portrait study of the Maid by Jacques d'Harcourt. On her 25,000 mile international tour as King Cotton's fashion and goodwill ambassador, Matilda will wear the latest and smartest cotton fashions which have been created especially for her wardrobe by twenty-five of the country's leading designers. The Maid will visit more than 20 cities in the United States, France, and England.

In a sophisticated mood, the 1948 Maid of Cotton wears a dramatic frock by Pat Fremo in brilliant print cotton with contrasting cummerbund.

Live in Russia?
One test of a country's economic pattern is whether you would like to live there. The advantages of the social scene, in other words, make up its strongest advertisement. Or, the proof of the pudding is in the eating. It is common scandal, naturally, that none of our American "yellow travelers" cherish the idea of actually living in Russia. Apparently, from a personal viewpoint they'll take American living any day.

On that point, these Communists and Russophobes show good judgment. Your Russian factory worker, under the new Russian prices, has to spend the income of one hour and 18 minutes of labor for a quart of milk, which the average American factory worker gets in exchange for the price of 10 minutes of his labor. A pound of butter costs the Russian 10 hours and 42 minutes; the American only 48 1/2 minutes (not counting the time spent griping about the current price).

Spending Labor
It costs the Russian factory worker about four weeks' work to get himself a part-wool suit. If he wants a worsted suit he'll have to spend his entire pay for more than three months. His American counterpart can work out a good quality worsted suit in little more than three days. More than two weeks' pay would have to go into a pair of leather shoes for the Russian, yet the American can work them out in less than a day.

These comparisons are based upon estimates of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and on Russian prices as reported by the Associated Press in December. The comparisons are as accurate as the iron curtain will permit. They show that prices in a communistic economy are much higher than our own, in terms of work. And those are the terms that count.

Eating the Pudding
The real pay-off of any economic system comes in the standard of living that it provides for its people. Without question, the American workingman enjoys the highest living standards of any nation. He's rightly proud of this, although he may not know the United States has 54 per cent of the world's telephones, 84 per cent of the automobiles, nearly 50 per cent of the radios, and 92 per cent of all the bathtubs on this planet!

A "capitalistic" country, contrary to Russian description, is a nation where men are permitted to have a high standard of living. This is exemplified by America. Here, men are free to work, to invent, to initiate, to experiment, to engage in the enterprise of their dreams. Unhindered by restrictions that in other nations tend to keep down any individual enterprise, an American worker can start his own factory or set up his own business.
