The church edifice was decorated with ferns, white spirea, and white gladioli, and lighted by cathedral candles. In the pulpit, a background of spreading ferns served as an effective foil for standards of candles and white gladioli.

While the wedding guests were assembling, Mrs. James Davis at the organ gave a program which included "Sweetest Story Ever Told", "Indian Love Call", and Schubert's "Serenade". Before the ceremony Miss Jacqueline Davis sang "Because", and Mrs. Everett Joyner sang "Always". Mrs. Davis accompanied both soloists, and during the ceremony played very softly Wagner's "To An Evening Star". The traditional marches were used.

Ushers were Sam Hines and William Hines, brothers of the groom, and his cousin, James Middleton all of Warsaw.

Bridesmaids were Miss Betty Barbrey of Mt. Olive, and Miss Virginia Potts of Mt. Olive and Concord. They wore long white taffeta dresses fashioned with fitted bodices with square neckline and narrow berthas, short puffed sleeves, and bustleback full skirts. They wore long matching gloves and carried colonial bouquets of pastel flowers.

Little Miss Linda Kay Cameron was flower girl and her mother Mrs. Stafford Cameron, was matron of honor. The former was gowned in an airy model of white dotted swiss trimmed with lace and carried a nosegay of pastel flowers. Mrs. Cameron wore white silk crepe with round shirred neckline, short sleeves and draped skirt. Her bouquet and headdress were of Better Time roses tied with matching ribbons.

Edward Hines of Warsaw served his brother as best man.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Samuel Martin. Her gown of ivory satin was fashioned with full skirt, pointed basque with yoke of silk marquisette bordered with applique of seed pearls, and small turn-down collar bordered with applique. The sleeves were shirred to the elbow and pointed at the wrists. Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a white and silver prayer book topped with lilies of the valley, allium, and delicate pink orchids, and showered with narrow white satin ribbon.

After the ceremony, the bride changed to a suit of off-white gabardine with green hat and accessories and the couple left by automobile for a trip through the North Carolina mountains.

Mrs. Hines is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Martin of Mt. Olive. She was graduated from the Mt. Olive High School at the head of her class, and since her graduation had been employed as secretary to the general manager of the Mt. Olive Pickle Company.

She was active socially and in civic and religious work, especially in the affairs of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Hines is the son of Dr. and Mrs. William E. Hines of Warsaw. He was graduated from the Warsaw High School and attended State College, Raleigh, before enlisting for service in World War II. His period of service included several months overseas in the Pacific.

After April 20 the couple is at home in Whiteville, where Mr. Hines has his headquarters as a salesman for the Curtiss Candy Company.

Cake Cutting
 After the rehearsal for the Hines-Martin wedding on Friday evening, Mrs. John Manley and Mrs. A. L. Marvel, aunts of the bride-elect, entertained the wedding party and out-of-town guests at a cake cutting.

Mrs. Marvel's home was decorated for the occasion with white flowers and fern and lighted by candles in silver holders.

In the dining room the table was covered with a lace cloth. The three-tiered wedding cake was wreathed at the bottom with ace fern, in the center of the table, and flanked by silver candleabra.
