Johnson Enlarges On Platform

Charles M. Johnson, candidate for Governor, came forward today with proposals for financing expanded state services as advocated in his platform.

He is the first candidate to provide a positive plan to increase state revenue without increasing taxes.

Said Mr. Johnson: "The things that I advocate will cost large sums of money, but unlike some I do not advocate these things without offering a solution on how to raise the money for them."

Continuing he said, "I am definitely on record against any increase in taxes. There is a point in taxation beyond which the law of diminishing return begins to operate. Burdensome taxation stifles progress and initiative and makes expansion hazardous and undesirable. How do I propose to answer that question? The way to increase state revenue without increasing taxes is by creating within the borders of the state, new taxable value. This can be done by attracting to the state new industries, expansion of our present industries, and further development of the tourist trade."

Mr. Johnson pointed out that his platform calls for better schools better pay for teachers, better roads, better care for the unfortunate, expanded medical care program, increased assistance to farmers.

"I advocate the expansion of the Division of Commerce and Industry within the Department of Conservation and Development. By calling attention to the natural advantages of North Carolina, its natural resources, its skilled labor supply and other advantages, we can and will attract new industry to our state and encourage our own to expand.

"I'm especially interested in seeing the establishment of small industries in our rural communities. The blending of industry with agriculture makes for well-rounded economy in any county or section.

"I do not only stress attracting new industry into the state, but want to see our present industry expand, thereby providing more new jobs and sources of revenue for the state.

"An", said Mr. Johnson, "I want to see labor receive good pay for work well done, under favorable and just working conditions."

It has been estimated, he said, that a small plant employing 150 workers would aid in support of 1,000 to 1,200 people; that the merchants, as a direct result of the payroll of this plant would make more than a half million dollars in sales each year; that such plant would also furnish a livelihood for 24 professional people and equally significant would establish a tax foundation of some 2 1/2 million dollars. The employee of such a plant would spend their money with merchants and professional men and all of them together with this new earning capacity would pay into the state their proportionate part of the taxes levied.

"It is necessary for our industry to expand," he said, "for lack of opportunity will cause our young people to leave the state. The youth of North Carolina is its most valuable asset. Youthful brains and enthusiasm, given the proper setting and opportunity, can do more towards the future progress of North Carolina, than any other one asset within its boundaries."

Mr. Johnson pointed out that the farms in keeping step with progress are becoming mechanized. "We must provide the farmers with opportunities at home. This can and must be done by further development and expansion of our industries.

The gubernatorial candidate said that expansion in North Carolina in recent years has been above the national average and, he said, this has been largely due to the "stability of our state government."

With reference to North Carolina as a tourist state Mr. Johnson said "eighty per cent of the money spent on vacations is paid out in exchange for service, recreation and other advantages that we have which do not in any way deplete our natural resources. The tourist trade not only affects the resort areas but reaches out and aids all sections of the state. The more money spent by tourists in North Carolina, the more prosperous are our citizens and the more revenue reaches the state treasury. This is big business and we should carry out an aggressive and attractive program towards making North Carolina a leading resort state.

"I am confident," he concluded, "that it will be possible to attract new industries into our state and to foster the expansion of our present industries and to increase our tourist trade. It will be our duty to intelligently encourage industrial development and more sympathetically view the efforts of our citizens in their attempts to develop the resources around them."

PRESERVE PARTY HARMONY
Give The East Its Governor
For many years the Democrats of North Carolina have observed the custom of alternating the election of its principal officers — Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Speaker of the House — between EAST and WEST. For decades this gentlemen's agreement, similar to that generally observed in many of our State Senatorial Districts, has been substantially observed and adhered to and this process has brought stability and harmony to the Democratic party of North Carolina.
By the terms of the agreement the County of ALAMANCE has always been considered WEST. Before the turn of the century Thomas M. Holt was elected Lieutenant Governor from ALAMANCE as a WESTERNER. More recently R. L. Harris of PERSON was elected Lieutenant Governor as a WESTERNER and A. H. Graham was elected Lieutenant Governor and later ran for Governor from ORANGE County, as a WESTERNER. Both ORANGE and PERSON Counties are farther EAST than ALAMANCE, and are considered WESTERN counties.
In 1944 Kerr Scott of ALAMANCE, now a candidate for Governor, seriously considered running for the U. S. Senate to succeed Bob Reynolds, which clearly showed that he recognized ALAMANCE County as in the WEST.
Now is the time for the Governorship to come to the EAST. Uphold the agreement! Vote solidly to nominate a man from the EAST — CHARLES M. JOHNSON of PENDER County. Failure to elect an EASTERNER will mean the rotation agreement is broken and in the future the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House will be elected at large. In the democratic primary, the INDUSTRIAL WEST can out-vote the AGRICULTURAL EAST, but in the general Election the West needs the heavy Democratic vote of the East.
Vote for Charles M. Johnson
