June 30 Deadline Vets Free Cars

Midnight of June 30 is the absolute deadline for eligible veterans to apply for free cars, or other conveyances, it was pointed out by R. B. Edmundson, District Officer of the State Veterans Commission. Limited to WWII veterans, they must have suffered the loss, or loss of use of, a leg at or above the ankle in order to qualify. Complete cost of vehicle - including all special attachments - may not exceed $1600.00.
Mr. Edmundson emphasized that last-minute applications should be filed at once in order to allow time for proper processing before the deadline.

Convocation To Be Held At Duke

A Christian Convocation will be held at Duke University from the afternoon of Monday, June 7, thru noon Friday, June 11. The cooperating agencies are the Duke Divinity School, the North Carolina Council of Churches, the North Carolina Pastor's School, and the North Carolina Rural Church Institute. There will be three general types of attractions: platform lectures; class room instruction; and preaching services.

For platform hours, those in charge have been fortunate enough to secure the services of Dr. Paul Hutchinson, Editor of the Christian Century; and President Henry P. Van Dusen, of Union Theological Seminary, for three lectures each. Appearing for one lecture each are Mr. Chester C. Davis, Banker, Agricultural Commissioner and former Food Administrator; and Bishop Sommers of the Methodist Church of Germany.

The preaching will be done by Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, Pastor of Christ's Methodist Church, New York; Dr. Theodore Ferris, Pastor of the Phillips Brooks Church in Boston; and Dr. George A. Buttrick, Pastor of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York. These services will be held in the Chapel at the evening hour.

The classroom work offers a wide range of choices of both teachers and subjects. Alphabetically arranged the following teachers will offer courses in the subjects indicated: Dr. H. A. Bosley, Preaching; Dr. G. A. Buttrick, City Church Problems; Dr. Russell L. Dicks, Personal Counseling; Dr. James Mulkenburg, Old Testament Studies; Mrs. W. R. Reed, Child Specialist, the Vacation School; Dr. J. V. Thompson, the Pastor and Christian Education; Dr. Thomas A. Tripp, Rural Church Work; and Dr. Hezen Werner, The Home.

A group of dairymen from several eastern Carolina counties met at Wallace Tuesday night for the purpose of discussing the organization of an artificial breeding association. Melvin Cording, dairyman of Wallace presided.

John Arey, who is in charge of the dairy Extension of N. C. State College, related the need for dairymen in eastern North Carolina. He told how artificial breeding could increase milk production. He stated that there are three factors in milk production, namely: breeding, feeding, and management. Mr. Arey also stated that North Carolina has not made too much progress with natural breeding and that many cows were underfed.
Mr. Arey reported that the first artificial insemination program in the United States was started in New Jersey in 1938. During that year about 30 cows were bred artificially. During 1947 about one million cows were bred artificially. "There are too many cows in the southwest for artificial breeding," Mr. Arey stated. "It is not a cheap method in breeding." The main advantage of artificial breeding is that the influence of one bull can be spread over a large area.

It was decided that the cow population in eastern North Carolina is too sparse to make artificial breeding practical, that is to employ a full time man to do the work. Semen must be shipped from Asheville and it is necessary to have a laboratory for processing the semen. Cost of laboratory and necessary equipment is estimated at $500. Semen is shipped to the laboratory daily and should be used within 24 hours. It is necessary to have 1,000 cows signed up to pay a full time technician to do the artificial breeding.

Final decision at the meeting was to appoint the county agents of Duplin, Pender, and New Hanover counties as a committee to canvass the counties and determine how many dairymen would be interested in an artificial breeding program. Appointed to the committee were Lacy Weeks, R. R. Rich, and Coy Cook. County agents from Wayne, Lenoir and Columbus counties will serve on the committee in an advisory capacity.

A meeting of the committee and vocational teachers from Duplin and Pender counties will be held in Wallace Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. to determine what the charge per service for the artificial breeding will be. The charge will be determined on a mileage basis. The dairymen hope to organize a breeding association and employ a part time inseminator until enough cows can be signed up to need the services of a full time technician.

The New INSTANT

A NEW TYPE FRYER STOPS FIRE IN AN INSTANT

ANTI-FREEZE LOADED STREAM Fire Extinguisher

ADVANTAGES OF THE INSTANT

As its name implies, the "INSTANT" snuffs out fires INSTANTLY. Also Fire-proofs burning material which retards rekindling of the fire after blaze is extinguished. The 1 1/2 gallon size is approved and accepted as a standard "A-1: B-2" unit by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Approved Soda-Acid and Foam extinguishers must be recharged annually while the "INSTANT" needs only to be inspected annually. This is a very important matter to consider when purchasing fire extinguishers.
