To My Friends and Supporters Everywhere

I express my deep and abiding appreciation for the fine support given me in my campaign for Governor of North Carolina. I accept our victory with mixed emotions; grateful for the trust and confidence evidenced by your vote and reposed in me in the nomination, and conscious of the responsibilities incident to victory. With your continued assistance, and through the aid of Divine guidance, we will be able to so administer the affairs of our State government as to bring the greatest blessings to all the people of our State they have yet experienced.
