This house is now a trim Cape Cod cottage, though not so long ago it was a Spanish-type dwelling which appeared more like a filling station than a home. The first step in remodeling was to rip off the top of the walls and the flat roof. That permitted construction of a pitched roof, covered with fire-resistant asphalt shingles to harmonize with the white sidewalls in keeping with the New England design, and made room for a second floor.

Remodeled by Paul E. Ragan of Los Angeles, the house was given French doors and a glassed-in porch in the rear. Small-paned windows were put in place of plain ones. A more suitable front door was purchased and the tiny door shelter was removed.

Are You A Musician? If So, Read This!

R. H. Mason, general manager of Station WPTF in Raleigh, has announced that the station will sponsor its annual "Stars of Tomorrow" contest and will again award a $500 music scholarship to the winner of the competition. This series will be heard each Saturday between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. over station WPTF.

Young musicians between the ages of 15 and 20 -- vocalists and instrumentalists, male or female -- may participate in the recitals following a successful audition which are now being heard in the studios, Monday through Friday from 2 to 4 p.m. No appointment is necessary, but those appearing must furnish their own accompanists and present three numbers of their own choice.

Each successful applicant will be assigned two broadcasts to be heard over WPTF. The second program will be recorded for judging. The winner will be awarded a $500 music scholarship to the school of his or her choice.

For further information, write Station WPTF.

Do You Envy Profits?

All the talk about profits and profiteers has put a lot of us on the wrong track. There has been so much of this misleading talk during the past decade that some of our youngsters are beginning to think there is something immoral about making a profit at all. Some of them take it so seriously that they think the profit system should be junked in America.

On the contrary, I am convinced that the profit system is the very sparkplug of our economy. I have given this subject a lot of study. However, it isn't very difficult to see that workers are in for trouble if they are employed by a business that doesn't make a profit. More than this, I think profits are too small for the good of workers and the good of the American public.

First Aid to Labor

Some people seem to think that if no profits were made at all, the workers would get more wages. This cannot be. My belief is that the part of the sales dollar called profit actually helps the workers more than it helps anyone else. More than that, I believe it can be proved that the part of the sales dollar called profit actually helps labor more than does the part of the sales dollar called wages.

Consider an example. Fifty years ago it required 8 hours' work for one man to shape the top of a gasoline tank for an automobile. He was paid less than $1 for the job, which he did by hand. Finally, the automobile idea caught on, and vehicles sold. From profits, the companies have continually built up better and better plants. Tools are good and efficient. Working conditions are always being improved. Profits have brought all these things.

Profits Pay Off

Nowadays, an auto worker shapes the top of a gasoline tank in one minute, instead of eight hours. He is happy to work in a clean and sanitary plant. He uses modern tools that are productive and efficient. Most of the back-breaking labor is done by electricity or other power. Even after the cost of keeping up the plant and its modern tools, the modern auto worker earns $10 a day instead of the $1 a day of fifty years ago.

Was it wages that enabled the worker to increase his pay ten-fold? Just asking for higher wages didn't mean that they were forthcoming. There was more to it than that. It was profits that built the improved plant and bought the improved tools. Had no profits been made the workers would still be working for $1 a day, or less. This is not difficult reasoning, but it shows what profits are worth to the workers.

Everybody Profits

What about the public? If the modern automobile like the Ford or Chevrolet had to be made by hand, it would cost $50,000 to make at present wages. Yet, with modern tools such a car is made and sold for less than $2,000. What is what profits have done for the public. Today it is possible to buy an automobile for 4 per cent of what it would cost if no profits had been available for better plants and tools.

This money for modern plants and efficient tools can come from only two places: from profits, or from loans. But the business that is not making profits cannot borrow for long. In reality, then, this money must come from profits. Better plants and tools couldn't be had without profits. If we stop profits we stop increases in wages and we stop the march of production toward lower prices. That was the
