Father Mrs. Sue Wells Dies At Lillington Home; Age 83 Years

Lillington, Sept. 4.—Joel G. Layton, 83, pioneer Harnett County business leader, farmer, realtor, churchman and former county official, died today at his home here. Retired at the time of his death, he was one of the biggest farmers and among the wealthiest citizens in this section. He was recognized all over the State as one of the leading laymen of the Baptist Church. He started his career in Dunn in his early years, later moving between Erwin and Buie's Creek. He established the Layton Supply Company, general farm and home store in Lillington in 1924. The firm grew to be one of the largest in the county. He retired from the firm last year and was succeeded by his son, Joel Layton, Jr.

His principal interest was his church, particularly the establishment of rural churches and missions. He was responsible for the erection of several Baptist churches in the Little River Association. One of them, Layton's Chapel, was named in his honor. South Layton Avenue, which runs past the Baptist Church in Dunn also bears his family name.

At the time of his death he was a member of the executive committee of the Little River Association and years ago was nominated as the man of the year by the association for his outstanding work in doing the most for the upbuilding of the Baptist Church in this area.

He was a large contributor to the historic old Spring Branch Baptist Church in Sampson before coming to Harnett. Among the positions and honors was his election years ago to the Harnett County Board of Commissioners. He was born in Sampson County, son of the late John Allen and Susan Eldridge Layton, of the early distinguished families of Sampson. He was the last survivor of his immediate family. He married the former Meade Castleberry of Wake County.

Private funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Castleberry. Burial was held at 5 o'clock in the Castleberry burial plot in Oakwood Cemetery in Raleigh. Dr. W. R. Cullom, dean emeritus of the Wake Forest School of Religion and the Rev. Charles B. Howard of Buie's Creek, officiated. Both are former pastors. The family requested that no flowers be sent.

Surviving are the son, Joel Layton, Jr., of Lillington; two daughters, Mrs. Robert W. Winston of Oxford, and Mrs. Robert C. Wells of Clinton, formerly of Kenansville, and five grandchildren.

Market News

Tobacco: The leaf grades, which accounted for more than half of the tobacco sold on Eastern N. C. markets during last week were sharply lower with losses ranging mostly from $2 to $5. Daily price averaged $46.90, with Friday's estimated at approximately $43. Good lugs and primings were steady to slightly stronger.

Border Belt tobacco prices were weaker with daily averages from $46 to $50. Gross sales for the season on the Border Belt moved above the 195 million pound mark at an average of approximately $52 per hundred.

Poultry and Eggs: Offerings of fryers and broilers were heavy throughout the week at Central N. C. points. Improved demand, as a result of cooler weather, held farm pay prices steady at 35 cents per pound.

Top quality eggs advanced one to two cents per dozen in early trading at leading markets and held steady the remainder of the week.

Meat: The curtailed demand for meat caused hog prices to drop 50 cents to $1 at Carolina's cash buying stations and from $1 to $2 at leading western markets. Local stations closed with top hogs at $27.50 to $28.

Spot cotton prices fluctuated within a narrow range during the week with the price slightly stronger. Middling 15-16 inch cotton averaged 31.04.

Disciples To Build In Mt. Olive

A Christian church will be erected soon in Mt. Olive on the lot at the corner of Southerland and John streets. The Rev. J. T. Brown, pastor, said "We will get started on the church as soon as we can get the material and the labor to put it up." He did not say what the value would be but there will be Sunday school rooms and an assembly room built at first. The members are worshipping in the Mt. Olive Community Building at present. Last plans for constructing the church were discussed at a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hollowell, Jr., last week.
