Bad Apple?

One bad apple can spoil a barrel.

And too many traffic accidents by teen-age drivers are giving our younger drivers a black eye, according to the Dept. of Motor Vehicles.

Only about 5% of all drivers are in the teen-age group, but for the country as a whole, they have 8% or more of all accidents. And based on miles driven, they have the highest accident rate of any group.

So it's up to you teen-agers to be safe drivers. And it's up to you parents and the police, too, to see that you do drive safely.

WATCH FOR US -

GIVE US A BRAKE!

DRIVERS should be extra careful near schools, watch for kids, slow down. It's the human, and humane, thing to do! Children should wait for the traffic light, cross at corners, keep out of the streets.

Be careful—the life you save may be your own!
