Warsaw Girl Heads Committee

To aid students and teachers in foreign countries, the YMCA and the YWCA of East Carolina Teachers College have begun their annual drive for the World Student Fund. Nicholas Fokakis of Wilmington and Peggy Steed of Warsaw head committees of the two organizations working on the collection of contributions on the campus. They spoke at a faculty meeting recently and discussed the services of the WSSF to students abroad. Funds will be used this year, they said, mainly in Poland and Greece, where many students are ill with tuberculosis, and in the East.

L. P. Stanley, Jr.

Funeral services for Lawrence Paul Stanley, Jr. aged 20, who was killed in an airplane accident near Dunn on Thursday of last week, were held from the Quinn-McGowan Funeral Home in Warsaw on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with the Rev. Mr. Shepard of Wilmington, assisting by Rev. A. M. Williams, pastor of the Warsaw Methodist Church. Burial followed in Pinecrest Cemetery with full military honors by the Warsaw Unit National Guard.

Young Stanley was born March 7, 1923 in Warsaw, son of L. P. Stanley, Sr., of Wilmington and Mrs. Irene Blackburn Bartlett of Macon, Ga. He resided in Warsaw with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Blackburn and received his education in the local high school until transferring to New Hanover High in Wilmington when in the 10th grade. He graduated in 1946 with high honors especially in Art and Literature in which he received special recognition. Soon afterwards he enlisted in the Navy and was with the last Byrd Expedition to the South pole. He was medically discharged from a California Naval Hospital and came back to Wilmington where he received his wings in 1947. At the time of his tragic death he was residing in Erwin, where he was taking special high school courses in French and Spanish preparatory to entering the ministry next year. In his up-to-date diary was found the following quotation, which is presumed to have been written the night before his death:

"So let's not linger as we live
And let the days slip by.
But give your life to Jesus Christ
To live and never die."
Surviving are his parents, grand parents, two sisters and two brothers of Wilmington and Macon, Ga.

Outlaw's Bridge

The series of meetings closed on Sunday morning with four additions to the Church membership. Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Prater went to Shelter Neck Sunday afternoon. Misses Dorothy Outlaw and Edna Sutton of Goldsboro spent Sunday with their parents.

Grover Adams suffered a broken leg while hunting last Saturday. Mrs. Katie Outlaw is visiting her brother D. H. Outlaw and family near Kinston.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nichols and Dennis of Sims visited here Sunday.

Mrs. Jobert Jones and daughter of Southport are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Parker.

Several H. D. members attended Achievement Day in Kenansville Thursday. Also a splendid group attended the Farm Bureau meeting and barbecue supper there.

Rev. Thos. Terrell of Kinston and Rev. Stall of Rocky Mt. were visiting ministers here for the series of services held in the church last week.

J. G. Langston Dies At Friendship

Johnny Gideon Langston, 74, died early Monday morning at his home in the Friendship community after a long illness. Funeral services were held at Friendship Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the Rev. John Cline of Kenansville in charge and burial was in the church cemetery. Surviving are Mrs. Langston; four sons, Roland of Calypso, Oscar, Ralph and Mark, all of Warsaw; three sisters, Mrs. Emma Potter, Wilmington, Mrs. Alma Herring and Mrs. Annie Stroud—both of Deep Run; and one brother, Charlie Langston of Kinston. Mr. Langston was a retired farmer.
