Not So Dumb

THOMAS ROY JONES

Rejecting the saying "It's all right to be dumb on occasion but there's no sense in making a career out of it," Thomas Roy Jones, a Kingman, Kans. boy who became one of the nation's leading industrialists (he's board chairman of American Type Founders Daystrom Furniture, and other companies) once told an American Management Association conference: "You are now looking at a man who has made a career of being dumb and thinks it does make sense. I have learned from experience that any answer which I may have for a problem is probably, at best, only half right, so I go to the best man I can find on that particular problem, and if I don't have all the answers when I come away it's because I haven't thought of all the questions. Then I take action on the other fellow's advice and get a reputation for being smart and am invited to come to conventions and make speeches to the fellows from whom I obtained the answers."
