B.F.G. High School To Present Senior Play

By Mildred Maddox
The Senior Class of the B. F. Grady High School will present its Senior Play in the local auditorium on Thursday, January 20, at 7:30. The play, "A Little Clodhopper", is a catchy, active comedy with dramatic climaxes throughout. Judy, a little clodhopper from the poorhouse and unknowingly an heiress, is the intended victim of Mrs. Chigerson-Boggs, who is determined that she and her son George shall marry. George, however, is equally determined to marry his true love, Charmian. Septimus Green, a young book agent, Miss Julietta, a sentimental land-lady, and Okey Gump, a country boob, rescue Judy at various critical points and provide more comic touches. A surprise ending unravels the plot and leaves everyone happy ever afterward.

Characters in the play are: Douglas Townsend, as Septimus Green; James Padgett, as Okey Gump; Bernard Kornegay, as George Chigerson; Ardeth Smith, as Mrs. Chigerson-Boggs; Julia Williams, as Miss Julietta Bean; Eva Edna Grady, as Charmian Carter; and Marie Prater, as Judy Elliott.

Admission to the play is 50 cents for high school students and adults, and 25 cents for those younger.
