When Neil Bolton, (left) agricultural agent for Tide Water Power Company, and Jack McCarley, Wilmington dairyman, get together there's always plenty to talk about -- the weather, crops, milk production and better farming. McCarley operates a large dairy farm on the Carolina Beach Road, about six miles east of Wilmington. His prize herd of Guernseys is one of the finest in the country.

For a man who really believes in Southeastern North Carolina you need go no further than Neil Bolton. You're liable to run across Neil almost anywhere, at almost any time.

You might find him auctioning off 4-H Club chickens in Pender; helping with a sale of cattle or hogs over in Lenoir or acting as master of ceremonies at a town festival in Duplin County. He has been known to officiate at jacking contests and rumor has it that he won a hog-calling contest over in Jones County. This he denies.

As the spark plug for the most successful North Carolina "Better Farming for Better Living" program, Neil covers an average of nearly 3,000 miles a month. His prime purpose -- to see that North Carolina farmers and their families are happy, healthy and are practicing "Better Farming for Better Living".

The hostess served a delicious Valentine salad course followed by demi-tasse.

Club Hostess

Mrs. Allen Draughon entertained her bridge club Wednesday afternoon at her home on Pine St. Attractive patriotic decorations were used and guests found their places by novel hatchet tallies. Upon arrival guests were served delicious cherry pie, topped with whipped cream, and coffee.

After several progressions Mrs. Stacy Britt received a linen handkerchief for high score and Mrs. Edgar Pollock was presented scuffs for second high.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE--KNOW AND OBEY TRAFFIC LAWS

Traffic Laws are made to protect you. Learn and observe them--and watch for others who don't. Sooner or later, those who break the law wind up in jail, the hospital, or the graveyard. Don't let it happen to you.

Be Careful--the life you save may be your own!
