

MRS. STACY BRITT
WARSAW EDITOR
 Subscription Agent
 Advertising & Letter
 Dial 293-6
 Please
 Call in Your News

Pre-School Clinic

The annual Pre-school Clinic will be held at the Warsaw Grammar School on Wednesday, April 6, 1948, from 9 A. M. until 12 noon. All pupils entering school this fall must be vaccinated for small-pox and immunized for diphtheria and whooping cough. Parents of pre-school children are urged to cooperate with the County Health Department and send or bring their children to the clinic.

Attend Music Festival

Eight piano pupils of Miss Nell Buchhaus, of Warsaw, attended and participated in the Southeastern Regional Music Festival held at East Carolina Teachers College in Greenville last Saturday.

Approximately 150 school boys and girls from 13 North Carolina towns attended the second held at the college recently. Towns represented were Wilmington, New Bern, Morehead City, Ayden, Kinston, Pollocksville, Kenansville, Warsaw, Piney Grove, Scotland Neck, Hookertown, Fremont, and Goldsboro.

Students of music present ranged from beginners to advanced students and included both vocalists and instrumentalists. Miss Fannie K. Lewis, of Scotland Neck, formerly of Kenansville, and Warsaw, was director of the festival and was assisted by Mrs. Allan Easley of Wake Forest, State Chairman of Federation Festivals and Ivor Aycock, of Fremont. Miss Elizabeth Drake of three East Carolina faculty and former of Warsaw, was local chairman with Dr. Rudolph R. Willmann. Two of Miss Bruchhaus' pupils made superior ratings in solo work. They were Betty West, advanced pupil and Joyce Whittle, beginner. Rating superior from Kenansville were Sally and Gail Newton. Others from Warsaw attending and receiving special recognition were Betty Phillips, Patsy Kornegay, Peggy Torrans, Juliana and Thelma Jenkins and Annette Boyette.

Club Hostess

Mrs. Johnny Mallard was hostess to her bridge club Tuesday evening, entertaining with two tables in her apartment. Pretty spring flowers decorated the living room and at the conclusion of play Mrs. Glenn Brown received a vase for scoring high and Miss Ann Nell Parker an apron for visitors high. The hostess served delicious pecan pie with coffee.

Entertains Club

Mrs. L. S. Whittle was hostess to her bridge club Thursday afternoon. Her home was attractively decorated with peach blossoms and azaleas. Upon arrival guests were served canapes, hors d'oeuvres and coca colas. After progressions Mrs. N. A. Mitchell received a plastic apron for club high and Miss Nell Bruchhaus was presented a novelty plate for visitors high.

UDC Meeting

Those from Warsaw who attended the Ninth District United Daughters of the Confederacy held in Wilmington Wednesday, March 23 were: Mrs. R. L. West, president of James Kenan Chapter, Mrs. H. L. Stevens, Jr. Division Registrar and Mesdames C. A. Womack, C. F. Carroll, W. J. Middleton, Stacy Britt and Misses Eula Powell and Mary Alice Blackmore. Following the interesting meeting held in the First Presbyterian church the ladies viewed the lovely azalea gardens.

Family Re-Union

A family reunion was enjoyed over the week end in the home of Miss Annie Kate Powell. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Powell of Savannah, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. B. L., and H. B. Powell,

DOG TALES

Dogs in Budapest

By TOM FARLEY

TO find out how dogs are faring in other parts of the world, we asked Elizabeth Fagg, noted foreign correspondent, currently covering Europe for a first hand report. Following is the second of these reports with others promised for subsequent issue.

The zoos of Europe today are poignant reminders of the fact that animals as well as human beings suffer during a war. Many of Europe's zoos in countries where devastation was great, are half destroyed from bombings of the recent war, their animal populations depleted and those animals which remain pathetically thin and hungry from insufficient food. One of the saddest spectacles of all are the caged dogs in Budapest's formerly famous zoo.

Before the war there were 3000 animals in the Budapest Zoo which was one of the largest and finest on the continent. During the bombardment of Budapest and the three months' terrible siege, they suffered as much as did the human population. And as starvation slowly closed in on the Hungarian capital, the animals were slaughtered and eaten by the citizens. Today only 14 wild animals are left, and last summer the zoo had to borrow a few dozen wild animals from abroad to attract more visitors.

However, these are only a handful in the vast garden. So to give an aspect of life to the almost desolate park the authorities have placed dogs in some of the pens and other domestic or semi-domestic animals, such as Maltese cats, raccoons, beavers, muskrats and possums, in others.

Today as you stroll down the paths of the still beautiful park, which was untouched by bombs, you pass endless empty cages. The big rock pile with its little pool for the polar bears is vacant. The monkey cage with trees and poles and swings is uninhabited. Small signs announcing "Leopard", "Zebra" or "Giraffe" front only blank holes where these animals formerly dwelled.

Then suddenly you come to the dogs. They are only a couple of dozen at most and include Cochin dogs, sheep dogs and Eskimo dogs. They howl and bark and set up a terrific racket in excitement over the occasional visitor. And when you reach through the bars to pet them (not forbidden), you are struck by the forlorn fashion in which they wag against the bars and nuzzle your hand in gratitude for human affection. Their cages are clean and they look well-fed (Hungary has more food than many European countries), but the dogs appear starved for human companionship.

Dunapest citizens seem to enjoy the sight of these dogs just as much as they formerly liked to look at the wild animals. Many lost their pets during the war, so it is a treat for them to see the dogs. Today in Europe all animal life is highly valued.

O. E. S. Honors Outgoing Officers

On Tuesday night, March 22, at a regular meeting of the Eastern Star the officers honored their outgoing Worthy Matron, Mrs. Thelma Stroud and outgoing Worthy Patron, Dempsey Smith, with a program of appreciation and thanks for the past year's services. The Patrons were honored with flowers in the Star Point colors and were presented lovely gifts. The ceremony was made most impressive with songs and talks. Worthy Patron Smith was given handkerchiefs; Worthy Matron Stroud, a silver teapot, and secretary Ruby Newton was also remembered with a gift.

Note Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincerest thanks and appreciation for the kindnesses shown us during the hours of distress and anxiety by our hosts of friends. We also appreciate the efficient service of the telephone operators and officers of the law in helping to locate and arrest the guilty parties before they caused others similar trouble and distress.

Signed ----
 L. O. Williams and family

Personals

Mrs. R. C. Pridden returned on Thursday from Yanceyville where she spent three weeks with her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Anderson and Mr. Anderson.

Mrs. W. J. Middleton, Miss Mary Middleton of Raleigh, Miss Nell Bruchhaus and Jim Middleton visited the gardens in Wilmington on Sunday.

Friends of H. C. McCullen will be interested to learn that he has returned from Goldsboro Hospital where he was a patient for several days.

Mrs. R. E. L. Wheelless is visiting in Roanoke Rapids.

Mesdames Paul Potter, Allen Draughon and Robert Blackmore shopped in Raleigh Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Whittle and children and Misses Helen Brown and Nell Bruchhaus were recent visitors to Washington, D. C.

Mrs. O. E. Best, Mrs. H. M. West and Miss Fannie Wilson shopped in Wilmington Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Womack of Wilson were here for the week end with relatives.

Mrs. Stacy Britt and daughters went to Concord Friday to be with her mother, Mrs. Greene. Friends will regret to learn that there is little improvement in the condition of Mrs. Greene, who has been ill.

Mrs. N. A. Mitchell and son Nell spent the week end in Wadesboro with her mother, Mrs. Teel.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. West spent the week end at Carolina Beach and attended the opening exercises of the beach season.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Avon Sharpe visited the gardens in Wilmington Sunday.

Miss Janie Blackmore went to Wilmington last week and spent some time with her brother, Rev. and Mrs. James Blackmore.

Arthur Apple returned Wednesday from New York and northern markets.

College students home for the spring holidays are: Rebecca Best, Henry West, Jackie Sutton, Jack Middleton, Jean Newkirk and Jean Gardner and others.

Those from Warsaw attending the O. E. S. Installation in Kenansville Tuesday night were Mesdames Henry West, O. H. Best, Kathleen Snyder, Q. J. Sutton, Stacy Britt, J. P. Harmon, N. A. Mitchell, Edgar Pollock, George Poney, A. L. Shubert, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. West, Mr. and Mrs. James Blackmore,

LOCAL LEGISLATION

Issued By Institute of Government

HB 662 - Introduced by Outlaw, Mar. 4 (Wallace charter) Reported favorably by Senate committee; passed 2nd and 3rd reading in Senate.

HB 921 - Introduced by Outlaw, Mar. 17 (Juror fees); reported favorably by House committee; passed 2nd and 3rd readings in House; received in Senate Mar. 24; sent to House stores in Faison as HB 1085

HB 997 - Introduced by Outlaw, Mar. 21 "To protect Pinecrest Cemetery at Warsaw, N. C." (Provides that persons taking flowers or shrubs from the cemetery shall be guilty of larceny.) T Judiciary 2, Mar. 23, reported unfavorably by House committee.

HB 1065 - Introduced by Outlaw, Mar. 24 "Authorizing the establishment of a town liquor control store in the Town of Warsaw upon a vote of the people and providing for the allocation of the net proceeds from the operation of such store." (Has same provisions in regard to a liquor store in Warsaw as HB 930 has in regard to Wallace except that the 10% of profits turned over to the county shall be for the public schools.) To Propositions and Grievances.

HB 1086 - Introduced by Outlaw, Mar. 24 "Authorizing the establishment of a town liquor control store in the Town of Kenansville upon a vote of the people and providing for the allocation of the net proceeds from the operation of such store." (Has same provisions in regard to a liquor store in Kenansville as HB 1085 has in regard to Warsaw except that the town's share of the profits may be used for "town governmental purposes.") To Propositions and Grievances.

HB 1081 - Introduced by Outlaw, Mar. 25 "Authorizing the establishment of a town liquor control store

Farm Fire Insurance Lags As Property Values Increase

Increased property values mean that most farm buildings are underinsured. A barn which cost $6,000 before the war is a $6,000 barn today and should be insured for $8,000 if full protection is desired.

When a farm building is destroyed by fire, the insurance money received by the owner is a fraction of the cost of a similar new building, according to agricultural economists and insurance company officials.

Farmers are advised to base fire insurance coverage on replacement costs, not on original costs. Fire insurance policies usually are written for one, three or five years, but if necessary to keep coverage in line with current price levels, the amount of insurance should be changed before there is need for renewal of the policy.

The rise in value of farm structures also intensifies the importance of fire prevention on the farm. Even if a destroyed building is covered fully by insurance, the farmer's losses are high because the productive capacity of the farm is lessened.

Use of fire-retardant building materials for both new construction and repair is recommended. The vulnerability of roofs to flying sparks, a common hazard in rural areas, can be reduced by the economical application of fire-resistant asphalt shingles, which are approved by Underwriters' Laboratories and will not be kindled into flame by chimney sparks or airborne fire brands.

Farm residents are urged not only to clean up fire hazards in the farm home and other buildings but to eliminate outdoor hazards as well. Unnecessary combustible debris should be removed from farm yards, and dead undergrowth and weeds in fields and along fence lines should be destroyed. Sparks from field fires often are blown hundreds of yards to endanger farm buildings.

has in regard to store in Warsaw.)
 To Propositions and Grievances.

A. J. CAVENAUGH
 JEWELER
 DIAMONDS WATCHES
 WATCH AND JEWELRY
 REPAIRING & ENGRAVING
 Wallace N. C.

Whitehouse Evap. MILK

3 tall cans 35c

Marvel Bread	1 1/2 lb loaf	18c
HOME STYLE
Ann Page Fancy	14 oz. bot	18c
KETCHUP
Ann Page - with pork & tom. sauce	16 oz. can	10c
BEANS
Fine Flavor Iona	No. 2 can	10c
PEAS	4 lb ctn.	79c
Shortening
SWIFT JEWEL	4 lb ctn.	79c
Sunnyfield S. R.	10 lb bag	79c
FLOUR
Libby's Fruit	No. 303 can	25c
FRUIT COCKTAIL
A & P	pt. bot.	19c
GRAPE JUICE
Golden Maid uncolored	1 lb pkg.	23c
MARGARINE
Mild American	lb	42c
CHEESE
Mild & Mellow Coffee	1 lb bag	40c
8 O'CLOCK
Winesap	3 lb	39c
APPLES	4 lb	18c
RUTABAGAS

CLOSE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

More Kenansville

on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Alphin and Mr. Faison McGowan attended the official opening of the season at Carolina Beach Saturday night.

Mrs. W. M. Ingram and daughter shopped in Kinston Friday afternoon.

Mesdames J. R. Grady and children and L. F. Weeks and daughter shopped in Clinton Friday afternoon.

Mesdames Bea Hines, Daisy Caven, G. V. Gooding, and E. A. Newton shopped in Kinston Friday.

Miss Mary Lee Sykes spent the week end in Wilmington with her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Brinson and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Brock, Jr. and Mrs. Lassiter of Bailey toured the Wilmington gardens Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Stokes and Dianne, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. McKay, Charles

FEATURED FOODS

TO HELP YOU ECONOMIZE

Friday and Saturday SPECIALS

DRESSED FRYERS	per lb	49c
ROUND STEAK		65c
PORK CHOPS		55c
FAT BACK		15c
PURE LARD	4 lb	65c
FRESH GROUND CORN MEAL	10 lb	39c
CHEESE	per lb	39c
SIX BOXES MATCHES		29c
1/4 lb BOX TEA		19c
1 lb BOX ZESTA CRACKERS		23c
TWO CANS CARNATION MILK (large)		25c
SUPER SUDS (large)		27c
ALL 10c TOILET SOAP	3 for	23c
BANANAS	per lb	12 1/2c
CARROTS	bunch	10c
CELERY		15c
LETTUCE		15c

FRESH FISH DAILY — WE DRESS 'EM

FREE DELIVERY SERVICE - 10 A. M. - 4 P. M.

PLENTY OF GOOD PARKING SPACE

ELLIS' SUPER MARKET

J. ELLIS WEST, Prop.

Phone 223-6 WARSAW

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY ARE

DOLLAR DAY

IN WARSAW

A Hint To The Wise Is Sufficient