Do you ever read the feature, in the Times, captioned "The American Way"? In it this week the writer gave several reasons why we are kept from an "abundant life". He failed to give one more reason - that in all probability, he, with thousands and thousands more of his ilk, have never produced a stable article in their lives. But acting merely as parasites, living off the sweat and hard earned dollars of laborers. Has Mr. Haake ever laid brick for a living, ever produced a pound of coal, a sheaf of oats, ear of corn, or has he ever gone out into a dark stormy night with its hail and sleet to repair a broken electric wire? If he had, folks, he sure would have told you about it. Yet, he howls until things stink unto high heaven.

Whenever you see a paragraph in a newspaper leading off with "it is reported", you can lay ladders to a dime the writer is not sure of what he is talking about.

Let's put all parasites to work and then we'll have a more "abundant life".

I say "Hats Off" to Labor; at last I feel it is coming into its own.

Plentiful Foods

Food markets will be well supplied in April with carrots. Miss Hilda Clontz, home demonstration agent for the State College Extension Service, said this week in releasing U. S. Department of Agriculture's April plentiful foods list for Southern states.

Carrots, she said, are rich in carotene, which the body changes to vitamin A.

Oats products are also an inexpensive source of food energy, she pointed out. Corn products also will be in good supply in April.

Among the protein foods on the April plentiful list that offer food shopper a wide choice in menu planning are: broilers, fryers, egg, processed dairy products, dried beans and peas, peanut butter, and fresh and frozen fish.

State College Hints To Home Makers

Clothing specialists say it is the number of stitches per inch, the kind of thread, the quality and kind of fabric, and the kind of stitch that affect the wearability of buttonholes. The number of stitches is of first importance and the right kind of thread is another important factor in long-wearing buttonholes. Buttonholes made with unmercerized thread are more wear resistant than those made with mercerized thread.

The kind of fabric and the kind of stitch also affect the wear. On medium quality percale, buttonholes should be longer than on higher or lower quality percale. The so-called purl stitch is better than the whip stitch for making buttonholes wear.
