Easy to Make SEED FRAME

Anyone handy with a hammer and saw can construct this sturdy seed frame. It is made up of four sides, and a hinged top glazed with "Vimlite", flexible plastic glazing. "Vimlite" is used because it is shatterproof, lightweight, has good insulating qualities and is easy to install. No grooving of the frame, or putting in necessary. "Vimlite" is merely tacked in place like fly screen.

The standard size for seed frames is 3 feet x 6 feet. To protect it against rot and decay, the lumber used should be treated with Dow's pentachlorophenol. This chemical and "Vimlite" can be obtained at hardware, lumber and building supply stores.

Assemble the four sides, center partition, and top frames according to the sketch. For permanent construction it is advisable to use galvanized screws instead of nails.

The seed frame is set in place on the ground with the high side to the north, and the top sash slanted toward the sun. The inside should be filled with 3 inches of cinders or gravel and then a layer of top soil. This insulates against cold, and improves drainage. When the seed frame has served its purpose each season, it should be removed and stored until it is time to use it again.

Lumber List

Sides: 9 pcs. 1" x 6" x 6 ft.
15 lineal ft. 1" x 2"

Sash: 30 lineal ft. 1" x 2"
4 hinges, 1 1/2" x 1 1/2"
2 yds. VIMLITE, 36" wide

FIVE POLIO PRECAUTIONS ARE LISTED FOR PARENTS

Warning that the 1949 polio season is "just around the corner," the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today issued a list of precautionary measures to be observed by those in charge of children during the epidemic danger period which usually runs from May through October, reaching its peak during the hot, mid-summer months. The five easy-to-follow health rules for children are:

1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely.
2. Avoid over-fatigue caused by too active play or exercise, or irregular hours.
3. Avoid swimming in polluted water. Use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities.
4. Avoid sudden chilling. Remove wet shoes and clothing at once and keep extra blankets and heavier clothing handy for sudden weather changes.
5. Observe the golden rule of personal cleanliness. Keep food tightly covered and safe from flies or other insects. Garbage should be tightly covered and, if other disposal facilities are lacking, it should be buried or burned.

The National Foundation also listed the following symptoms of infantile paralysis: headache, nausea or upset stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, and unexplained fever. Should polio strike in your family, call a doctor immediately. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by qualified medical personnel often prevent serious crippling, the National Foundation pointed out.

The organization emphasized that fear and anxiety should be held to a minimum. A calm, confident attitude is conducive to health and recovery. Parents, it said, should remember that of all those stricken, 50 per cent or more recover completely, while another 25 per cent are left with only slight after effects.

If polio is actually diagnosed, contact the chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis serving your community. The chapter will pay that part of the cost of care and treatment which patient or family cannot meet.

Be Kind To Animals Week
By TOM FARLEY

THE week of May 1st through May 7th marks the thirty-fifth annual observance of Be Kind To Animals Week. Humane societies throughout the nation participate in this event fostered by its national sponsor, the American Humane Association.

Most localities have humane organizations that work diligently and tirelessly all year round. They protect all dumb living creatures and give them care if they are injured, sick, lost or hungry.

Kindness to animals is a principle that should exist not only during this week of national observance, but throughout every week all year long. Children who are taught these responsibilities toward animals will more easily learn to take on the responsibilities of good citizenship. Kindness to animals can be taught on the basis of all relationships. Let each child every one of us, help appreciate the dignity of all creatures.

With spring in the air and the circus playing in many towns, a new book called "Pongo the Terrible" (Westminster Press, $1.50) makes ideal reading for child and adult alike. For Denis Cleaver's book is about a circus performer, a poodle named Pongo. Two other dogs take part in the story. They are called Mr. Willis and Mr. Willis. Mr. Willis is very bright and haughty while Mr. Willis is short, stumpy and not quite as bright as his friend. Their travels take them to a nearby town where Pongo is appearing in a circus. They find that Pongo is a bully and not nearly as brave as he pretends. Mr. Cleaver, the author, is one of England's favorite writers of children's stories. He has given the dogs in this book personality and imagination. Before the children read it, read it yourself for his clever humor and appealing style.
