Warsaw Cannery To Open June 8 New Cookers Have Been Installed

The Warsaw High School cannery will resume operation for the summer months, beginning Wednesday, June 8th, for the convenience of those who desire foods conserved in tin.

Much new equipment has been added to the plant, which is centrally situated behind the new Town Hall, this spring which will facilitate the work of canning fruits and vegetables as well as rendering the work more pleasant. New cookers have been installed which will alleviate some of the long periods of waiting for the non-acid foods to be processed.

The cannery is equipped to do custom work on a larger scale than ever. A cordial invitation is extended to all former patrons and friends to visit the school cannery on Wednesdays of each week during the season.

The price this season will be some higher than in previous years due to the rise in cost of coal and cans. The cost this season for the No. 2 cans will be 9 cents and for No. 3 cans, 10 cents.

Ross F. Watkins, High School Vocational Teacher, who has so efficiently operated the cannery in the past, will again supervise the work.

Niece Honored

One of the loveliest parties of the season was on Friday afternoon when Mrs. Paul Berry complimented her niece, Mrs. Frank H. Longino of Durham, who before her recent marriage was Miss Mary Darden Quinmerly of Ayden, and Miss Jane Bruce of Durham. At one o'clock Mrs. Berry was hostess at a lovely appointed luncheon and at three o'clock ten tables of brides were in play. The home, ornate for the occasion, was lovely in a profusion of mixed summer flowers. In the dining room, the table was overlaid with an exquisite cutwork linen cloth, which was centered with a massive arrangement of pink peonies and fern. The mantle was banked with dentils. During progressions, each table were served and at the conclusion dainty bridal ices in lilies, individual bridal cakes, nuts and fruit punch. The guest list included Mrs. Ann Nell Parker, bride-elect, and Mr. John Fonvielle, recent bride, guest tables. Town high school playing cards was won by Mrs. S. S. White, visiting high school cards, went to Mrs. Robert Carroll Wells, a good high tray cloth, to Mrs. B. O. Derrap and low, a Klomex box, to Miss Jimmie Austin of Clinton. Out of town guests for the parties, Mrs. Longino and Miss Bruce of Durham.

Mesdames Jack Quinmerly, mother of the honor guest, Spawdie Edwards, Hermon McGibbon, John Burgess, Wes Gooding, Ralph Worthington, J. S. Worthington and J. T. Taylor of Ayden, Mesdames Joe Best, Robert C. Wells, H. M. Campbell, B. O. Dunlap, Festus Turlington, Bob Shields, Jimmy Austin, Henry Vann, Paul Herring, Fred Caison, P. S. Carr and Jack M. Casey. Assisting in serving were Mesdames Ralph Best, Sr., Ralph Best, Jr., Robert Blackmore and J. K. Rea, Jr.

UDC Memorial Service

The James Kenan Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy held their annual Memorial Day Service Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in the Warsaw Methodist church with the chapter president, Mrs. R. L. West, presiding. Following the professional by members, veterans, scouts and legionnaires, the group sang "How Firm A Foundation" and the Rev. J. M. Newbold, pastor of the Warsaw Presbyterian Church, led the invocation. Mrs. West introduced her husband, Judge Robert L. West, who gave the Memorial Address. A boys' quartette, composed of Lee Brown, John Anderson Johnson, Glenn Rollins and Joe West, accompanied by organist, Mrs. Paul Potter, sang "Hall Prince of Peace" after which Mrs. C. F. Carroll, recorder of Crosses, bestowed Crosses of Military Service upon Rev. James Blackmore and Frank Blackmore. These crosses were received by their sister, Miss Mary Alice Blackmore, chapter historian who in turn pinned them on her brothers. Chaplain Mrs. C. A. Womack, read a memorial tribute to a deceased member, Mrs. Harvey Boney, and closed with prayer. Mrs. West read a poem, "Memorial Day" by Edgar A. Guest and Mrs. Womack called the roll of deceased members, veterans of all previous wars, at which time relatives stood in their memory. George Best, Jr. concluded the service with "Taps."

School Will Soon Be Out

'Twas just the other day that the teacher chanced to say
That school would be out the fourteenth of May
Now toward the end of school everyone is filled with excitement
But for me it is usually sheer delightment
Because I see a period of joy and fun
After each long, hard day's work is done
Of course, school can be fun
But in it everything we want to do cannot be done.

So many await the last of school
When books are no longer the most important tool
This last school term has really flown
And with it our minds have grown
Towards the last of school, our minds do churn
'Cause it's an exam on every turn.

Now that the end is nearing fast
And our Freshman year will soon be past
I'd like what is left, a long time to last
This year will soon be history
Just another year for you and me
To remember in years to come
As we sum up all memories of our dear old high school days
How we spent each day in so many different ways
And how each one had his or her own special chum.

Soon will come the time for parting
When this year's work will be o'er
And the year becomes a pleasant memory
As one of the high school four
Three more years have we to go
Three more years our books to tow
To Grady School, our dear old high
All these thoughts come to me as the end draws nigh

The time for vacation is sure to come
Because it draws nearer with the setting of the sun
Nine months do we spend in school
Learning the three "R's" and the Golden Rule
Our teachers, I shall never forget
Because I like them yet
Mrs. Farrior, for her very good advice
Miss Grady, for that dear little "c"
After me trying to be as good as could be
Mrs. Davis, for letting me be late every day
And her not caring anyway
These teachers of my Freshman year
Shall never be forgotten even in my fear
When in later years as I wonder down the path of life
Their advice, I shall ponder in hope and in strife.

In later years when I think back
Upon this year that is nearly spent
It will fill a great, big crack in my wall of life that is rent.

Days and weeks and years go by
And I think of the past with a feeble sigh
Why worry about what is done?
When most of life's path is yet to run
If we can fill our future with happiness all the time
And make the verses of life all seem to rhyme
We will have succeeded in the work that we started
Back in school days which we will have been long parted.

A more pleasanter year cannot be spent
Than the one that is passing and is soon to be sent
To the hall of the past.
Happy days, were these of blissful joy
Spent without a single boy
In our class, except on English
When a few of the Sophomores
Their English I, they tried to finish.

Home Economics, English, Math
Health and Citizenship, and Physical Ed.
All these subjects we have had
But none of them has filled us with dread.
As the end of school draws nigh
I can feel over me roll a pleasant laziness
The teacher said I had "spring fever"
Because the other day on class my eyes were filled with haziness
Whether it's spring fever, or something else, I do not know
Whatever it is, I sure like it, though.

School will be out soon, on May the 14th just about noon.
That day we will wave goodbye to our friends and some may cry
It will be a parting of only three months and we'll come back
Next fall with three more years to finish
Through those years, may our bright and shining hope
Never diminish
And may the feeling of cooperation still be as strong
At the end of the three years long
As it is now at the end of our Freshman year.

Many of our class will be gone and some will take their place
But in our Freshman year we have set the pace
Of the graduating class of 1952
May we all find an important job in life to do.

How many quarts of Milk in this picture?

The answer to that one is—plenty! Good pastures answer one of the big questions to Southeastern North Carolina's milk problem. Ladino and crimson clover, fescue, rye grass and small grains, double seeded, will furnish grazing for all year or nearly all year round. Pastures can furnish half of the feed required for dairy cows at 15% of the total feed cost. Once you get good pastures established you have gone a long way toward a better, more profitable milk production.

It is tricks like this that are transforming Southeastern North Carolina farms into better money-makers every year. Tide Water knows that the more prosperous our farmers are, the better off everybody is. That is why Tide Water encourages its farm friends to follow the advice of the County Agents and the Vocational Agriculture Teachers.

In the same way, Tide Water is interested in the welfare of all its customers. That is why the average customer now pays less than half for his electricity than he did back in 1933—why Tide Water rates are as low or lower than the average for the entire Atlantic Coast!
