Note Of Appreciation

I wish to take this means of publicly thanking the people of Warsaw for the fine cooperation they have shown me during the ten years that I have been local correspondent for the Duplin Times. It has indeed been a pleasure to work with the public in this capacity and it is with deep regret that I leave the newspaper field; although in my future work I will sincerely strive to please.

Mrs. Stacy Britt.

New, Fast, Biscuit Recipe Wins Home Maker's Approval

Special to the Duplin Times, Friday, June 17, 1949. "Need biscuits in a hurry? Who doesn't, from time to time!" That's the comment of Mrs. Annie Ingram of Kenansville, who was chosen recently as a representative Carolina housewife to test Robin Hood Self-Rising Flour for International Milling Company, Atlanta, Ga.

"Well, here's a new recipe that I've tried that answers the problem of a fast batch of golden brown biscuits for any family," continues Mrs. Ingram "and I am happy to recommend it to my friends and neighbors who really want a shortcut to easier, surer biscuit-making."

Mrs. Ingram's report is as follows:

"To begin with, I was highly impressed when the young men who called on me explained that the new and improved Robin Hood Self-Rising Flour has the baking powder ingredients already added before the flour leaves the mill. In addition, the correct amount of salt for seasoning is added -- all scientifically measured and mixed to insure uniformly good results."

"If I had any doubts, they were dispelled when I saw my Robin Hood Self-Rising Flour brought me beautifully and quickly, using the beautiful paper wrapper and having to mix and sift a single bit of baking powder."

"Robin Hood Self-Rising Flour certainly saves a lot of time, and not having to use baking powder, I'll bet saves a lot of money, too, in the long run. I'd like for all my friends to discover this fine new baking development!"

ROBIN HOOD QUICK SOUTHERN BISCUITS:
2 cups Robin Hood Self-Rising Flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup shortening
PLACE - flour in mixing bowl cut in shortening until the consistency of meal
ADD - milk and stir with a fork until milk is absorbed
TURN - onto a lightly floured board, knead lightly for about 20 seconds
ROLL - to about 1/2 inch in thickness and cut with lightly floured biscuit cutter
PLACE - on ungreased baking sheet and bake in very hot oven (450 F.) for about 12 minutes
YIELD - 1 dozen average sized biscuits
Note: If very crusty biscuits are desired, roll dough quite thin.
