At Home in Schoolhouse

A remodeled schoolhouse is home for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boswell of Lebanon, Ind., but it no longer resembles the one-room country school building in which children years ago learned their reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic.

Extensive remodeling has transformed the abandoned structure, which had stood neglected on a corner of the Boswells' farm, into a well-proportioned, five-room dwelling. It includes a 12- by 34-foot living room, with a picture window and a fireplace, and other extra conveniences such as a sun deck on top of the garage and a second-floor den. The old schoolhouse was high and awkward-looking. The first step in remodeling was to take off the roof and cut down the walls so that the original 14-foot ceiling could be dropped to 8 feet. Enough bricks were saved to build the wing containing the garage, the utility room and the den above the utility room.

The new roof was built at a lower pitch than the original schoolhouse roof. As roofing material, the Boswells chose fire-resistant asphalt shingles in a green blend which harmonizes with the rural setting. Color contrast was achieved by painting the brick sidewalls white.

Cost of the remodeling was "surprisingly little," Mrs. Boswell says. Most of the old materials removed were salvaged. In selecting new materials, such as the asphalt roofing, consideration was given to economy, both first cost and maintenance expense.

The large utility room, the fruit storage room and the small bathroom opening off the utility room are virtually necessary for convenient farm living. The utility room has both an outside door and a door leading into the house through the kitchen.

Successful Farming photos president of the Wilmington Oil and Fertilizer Company, who died at his home on Wrightsville Sound, yesterday, were conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Pearsall Memorial Presbyterian Church. The services were in charge of Dr. B. Frank Hall and Dr. James A. Jones of Charlotte.

Mr. Pearsall was the son of Oscar and Rachel Whitfield Pearsall of Duplin County, and had lived the greater part of his life in Wilmington. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Melva Carr Pearsall, one daughter, Mrs. David W. Wilson; and a son, Horace Pearsall, Jr., all of Wilmington; three sisters, Mrs. H. Lacy Hunt and Mrs. R. M. Sheppard of Wilmington and Mrs. D. L. Latta of New Bern; two brothers, Melzer Pearsall and Oscar Pearsall, both of Wilmington; and two grandsons.

Tobacco To Have Same Support Price

Washington, June 14 — Tobacco growers will have the same support prices for their 1949 crop as for last year, the Agriculture Department announced, while rigid market controls continue.

These rates will be 90 per cent of the June 15 parity price for flue cured and 80 per cent of the September 15 parity price for burley and other tobaccos with two exceptions.

Prices of flue-cured tobacco will be supported at 75 per cent of the burley support rate and dark air-cured will be supported at two-thirds the burley support price.

State College Hints
To Home Makers

Oiled dust cloths and oiled mops pick up dust well but should never be used on furniture finished with wax makes the wax sticky and dingy because the oil softens it, just as an oiled mop does on a waxed floor.

For dusting waxed furniture the specialists recommend either a clean, soft, lintless cloth or dusting mitt, or round brush attachment of a vacuum cleaner. After dusting, rub the furniture with the grain of the wood to keep the surface shining.

Furniture may need re-waxing once or twice a year, depending on how much use it gets. If paste wax is used, place a small dab of wax between several layers of cheesecloth and rub with a circular motion. Let dry a few minutes and then polish briskly following the grain of the wood. If liquid wax is used, apply with a soft cloth, let dry a few minutes and then polish. Polish before the wax becomes hard. A soft thick wool cloth or mitt is excellent for polishing. Once a wax finish has become mummy from mistake use of an oil cloth, it is usually necessary to remove the wax entirely and apply a new coat. Remove with a cloth wrung out of soapy water, followed by clear water. Let the wood dry thoroughly before applying wax.

State College
Farm Questions

Q. Will acreage allotment and marketing quotas be put into effect on 1950-crop wheat?

A. The total wheat supply for the 1949-50 marketing year, which starts July 1, is at present expected to be in excess of 1.6 billion bushels. Such a supply might be 30 to 60 million bushels above level at which a proclamation for marketing quotas would be required by law.

Q. What portion of their income do city residents spend for food?

A. About one-third, according to a survey made in the spring of 1948.

Output of cigarettes from July, 1948 through June, 1949, is expected to total between 380 and 385 billion.
