Barden ---

That Barden's bill is so anti-religious that it does not have a chance. "I do not believe we should upset procedure which has been established for many years in many states." "It is unfair to count parochial school children who will receive none of the benefits." "The Barden bill is most anti-Catholic, but is also discriminative against other groups that maintain parochial schools." That the "bill drips with bigotry as well as racial prejudices and was anti-negro as well as anti-Catholic." He goes on with other statements of similar nature.

This is most regrettable, and especially so when I am concerned, because I have never been one to engage in reckless statements and name calling concerning other members of the House or any one else. I do not know where Mr. Lesinski got his inspiration for making such statements, unless it was because some similar statements have been accredited to some high officials of his church. The statement certainly could not have been inspired by or founded on either truth or facts.

The bill as reported out by the committee, which meets with my approval as well as ten of the thirteen members of the committee, briefly consists of the following: A specific appropriation for public schools in the United States, Puerto Rico and the possessions of the United States. It consists of the same type formula and the formula arrives at approximately the same conclusions when applied as the formula contained in Senate Bill 344, with one amendment which prevents a state from "walking," so to speak, on the Federal government—that is any state that reduces its appropriation below the 1949 appropriation in future years will be penalized twice the amount in the Federal funds to be received by that state. The bill provides for payments to the states by the Secretary of the Treasury through the fiscal service of the Treasury Department, and further provides that amounts so paid upon payments become funds of the state to which paid, except for the expressed conditions imposed by Section 3. The expenditure of such funds thereafter shall be subject to the laws of such state rather than to the laws of the United States. The conditions imposed in Section 3 are (1) that it shall be used for public elementary and secondary schools within such state, (2) that the current expenditure from all sources for public elementary and secondary schools will average, in each local public-school jurisdiction, $60 or more for each pupil (the Senate bill fixes $55) in average daily attendance, etc."

TOWN KENANSVILLE ORDINANCE

Upon motion, duly made, seconded and unanimously carried by the entire membership of the Board of Town Commissioners of the Town of Kenansville, North Carolina, in regular meeting, duly assembled, the following ordinance was enacted:

That after, and including the date July 1, 1949, any person, firm, or corporation, within the corporate limits of the Town of Kenansville, North Carolina, desiring to use water furnished by the Town water system, on premises owned or leased by applicant, and who is not now receiving water from said Town according to law, shall apply to C. B. Sitterton, Town Superintendent of Water, or to his successor in office, for connection with such Town water system, and for the installation of a water meter, and shall deposit with the said Superintendent a meter deposit of $20.00 to be returned when such not now receiving anything akin to this amount, must be brought up to the $60 per pupil standard before the money can be placed in the schools in the cities and towns now already spending that much or more. The bill provides for judicial review in the following language:

"Whenever in the judgment of a taxpayer of such state any person has engaged etc. -- that will constitute a violation of the first two sentences of this section" (referring to expenditure to public schools and to bringing up standard to $60 per pupil) "such taxpayer may make application to the appropriate United States district court, to the District Court for the Territory of Alaska, etc. -- for an order enjoining such acts or practices or for an order enforcing compliance with the first two sentences of this section." Upon a showing, etc. -- the judge may issue the appropriate order. This procedure is basically American and puts the policing of this act in the hands of the citizens of the various states, and if any money is mispent, Mr. Lesinski or any one else, could make application to a District Judge to stop it. The bill then contains definitions which is to state current expenditures, etc. The provision which apparently worries Mr. Lesinski and some of his folks is as follows: "The term 'current expenditures' does not include expenditures for transportation or for interest, debt service, bonded indebtedness, or capital outlay, and does not include expenditures for health services etc.---". This provision is identical with the Senate provision, except the term "bonded indebtedness" was added for clarification and transportation was excluded because upon investigation of the committee it was found that the 48 states had more than 48 different systems and types and methods of transportation, some by contract and otherwise, some with mileage limitations, some states have Constitutional prohibitions against transporting any students other than public school students. The committee, therefore, decided that that was a matter to be left to the states and that we would not enter into that hazy field, and that if the state so desired it could transfer such monies from its present appropriation covering school teachers' salaries, books, etc. to the transportation fund and replace these funds with money from the Federal grant. It was regarded that that would be simpler than to proceed otherwise. As stated above, I am not very good at a name calling contest, and do not propose to assume that role, and any person has the right to be either conscientiously opposed to this bill or conscientiously for the bill, but God forbid that it ever reaches the point in America when conscientious differences of opinion is the signal for name calling, abusive language, questioning of character, and even questioning of ones patriotism. That sounds too much like Czechoslovakia to me and I want no part of it, but I challenge any man to find any evidence supporting those ugly names in the language of the bill. If he will quote the bill accurately and let his comment follow, I will take my chances with the good judgment of the American people."

Barden Education Bill Commended By Baptists

Fort Fisher, June 23—The Baptist ministers of North Carolina, meeting at Seaside assembly for the annual pastors' conference this week, have given special attention to the current issue of federal aid to education.

The Baptist pastors, after discussion of the issue, sent a telegram of commendation to North Carolina's Representative Graham Barden, who introduced in Congress the bill advocating federal aid to education.

The telegram read as follows: "Baptist ministers and laymen in conference assembled rejoice in your stand for true Americanism. We are confident that six hundred thousand Baptist in this state, and countless hosts of Americans throughout the nation, of all religious affiliations, will indeed pray for you, that God may strengthen and bless you as you oppose all legislation which would undermine the foundation of our cherished and dearly bought civilization. Please share this message with your fellow-congressmen from our state."

The Barden Bill for federal aid to education was attacked by Francis Cardinal Spellman, New York, who denounced the bill and called Barden a "new apostle of bigotry." Cardinal Spellman declared that parochial schools should share in the federal aid funds also.

The following telegram was sent to Bishop G. Bromley Oxham of New York, in appreciation of a statement made by the Bishop: "Services are discontinued, and upon the payment of all charges for water that then may be owing said Town by reason of such installation and service thereunder by the person depositing the same; And

Any person, firm or corporation making application for water service by said Town on or after July 1, 1949, as above set out, shall further pay to said town through its Superintendent of Water as above set out, the additional sum of $20.00 as cost of installation of such meter, which said sum shall not be refunded by the Town to the applicant upon any discontinuation of service;

And that, from and after the date of the enactment of this ordinance, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation within the corporate limits of the Town of Kenansville, North Carolina, owning, leasing, occupying, or otherwise using one or more residences or business establishments, or either, or both, to service the same by one installation of meter and one connection, but that a separate installation, meter, deposit and charge shall be made for each separate residence, or place of business, and no two residences, or business establishments or a combination of either shall be served, except by proper separate installation as above set out;

And any person, firm, or corporation, in the corporate limits of said Town violating any of the provisions of the above ordinance, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not exceeding $50.00, or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days in the common jail of Duplin County.

This the 19th day of May, 1949. Amos Q. Brisson, Mayor

Warsaw Rotarians Complete Survey Town Of Warsaw

Newly installed president Robert L. West of the Warsaw Rotary Club reported to the Times that the project of numbering houses and placing street markers in Warsaw is about completed. The Town of Warsaw is laid out in a perfect square. The street intersection at A&P store on corner of Main and Plank Street is the center of town and the city limits are exactly one-half mile North, South, East, and West from this point. Also the center point is said to be exactly 55 miles from Wilmington. In olden days it was called the midway point but actually it is a little nearer Goldsboro than Wilmington.
