Man Does Not Bite Dog

> Man bites dog is news; therefor: when a man runs over an automobile, that should be news, too. And, particularly so when police are trying to find a statute under which they can indict the man.

lesse Garland Farland, 20-yearold Chinquapin negro, ran smacinto the side of a 1949 Plymouth, belonging to and driven by Garland Murphy of Jacksonville, on a street there Tuesday afternoon. Farland escaped with a skinned clbow and a bruised hip.

But the automobile - the front door was knocked in, the glass broken and the rear fender dented. And Murphy suffered a skinned elbow

To make matters worse, Murphy's insurance on the car was for liabirty only, and he feels Farland should pay the damages. But police are undecided under which statute they can indict Farland. They have c. lled Recorder's Court Solicit. A. Turner Shaw, but he hasn't uled as vet
