Entertainments

Phew...! It's cooler in the theatre than sitting here writing this column. Let's call it off and go to the show where we can sit back, crunch pop corn and enjoy a good show. Nothing like it for the digestive system.
 Monday and Tuesday we'll see "The Sun Comes Up" and feel like it's a cool autumn day, with a sunburst of technicolor, a sunburst of songs and a sunburst of stars. My, isn't it relaxing to be writing that word "Sunburst". But that's how explosive the picture will be. You will see Jeanette MacDonald, whose previous screen work has been confined to romantic singing, is given her first dramatic role where she is seen as Helen Winter, a concert singer embittered by a double tragedy. She lost her husband in the war and now loses her young son in an auto accident. Renouncing her career, Helen seeks solitude in a mountain retreat with her collie dog (Lassie) who innocently was the cause of her son's death. Embittered against all children, Helen rebuffs the friendly overtures of young Jerry (Claude Jarman, Jr.), a boy from a nearby orphanage who reports daily to do her chores. It is only after Jerry is narrowly saved from death by the collie that Helen realizes what the boy means to her.

 Wednesday you can cool off a long time as they show a matinee and again at night. Get whipped up with "Whiplash". Every hard guy can be softened, sometimes you do it with a whip, sometimes with a woman. We won't tell you the story here, it might spoil the fun of seeing it. Dane Clark, Alexis Smith, Zachary Scott and Eve Arden star in "Whiplash".

Is it hot on the "Unknown Island"? You won't know what the temperature is when you are relaxing in cool Capital Thursday and Friday nights seeing Virginia Grey, Philip Reed, Barton MacLane and Richard Denning star in "Unknown Island", and, yes it is "enchanted" but uncharted. It is a creditable tale despite the strange twist of modern man meeting dinosaurs of eons ago. You'll see such fearsome "critters" as dinosaurs, king-tyrant lizards, the giant sloth and the tyrannosaurus — yes, you spell'em.

Saturday will be the usual favorites of all, the Westerners. Alan Ladd, Rocky Lane with Jack Holt will be seen in "Wild Frontier". Also "Madonna of the Desert" with Donald Barry, Lynne Roberts and Don Castle. Also Chapter No. 12 of "Gang Busters" Serial.
 Whew... ain't it hot?
