T. W. P. Co. Has Unique Display

Story" being presented in Kenansville Sept. 22, 23, 24, the Tide Water Power Company has on display at their office in Warsaw a piece of meat which has been preserved since 1865. In connection with this Tide Water has on display two types of cooking equipment, "1749" and "1949", comparing the open fireplace method, with pot and pothooks and the original Dutch oven with modern electric range with controlled heat...

The story about the meat is as

From Sampson County comes the tale of a side of meat hidden from the Yankee marauders during the War Between the States, discovered recently in the ceiling of the old home place of P. S. Cromartie, now living at Roseboro.

The meat, which is in relatively good condition, was found in the 200 year old house located on the old Fayetteville-Wilmington stage coach road in Bladen County about one mile from the Hickory Grove school. The present occupants of the house, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Lilles, in the process of installing electric wiring discovered it between the ceiling of the first and second floor. The meat was wedged between the joists, surrounded by oak leaves. The home was given to Mr. Cro-

In cooperation with "The Dupl.n | martie by his father, P. L. Cromar tie and five generations of the family were reared in the house. The ceiling had not been disturbed during his lifetime and this fact gives basis for belief that it has been there since about 1865 when the ter:itory was thoroughly covered gy the Yankee invaders.

Mr. Cromarties does not recommend the meat for eating, even though in good physical shape with no evidence of worms. It appears as if it might be strong in taste. He would like to give it to a museum or a collector and asks that he be contacted in Roseboro should any one be interested.

The piece of meat weighs between ten and fifteen pounds.

What Is Justice?

EVERYBODY is in favor of juswhat justice is. Justice is more fundamental than democracy. If we believe that democracy is the best form of government, it is only because we believe that justice can be better secured in this way than in any other.

Since is as old as God
Since for at least 3,000 years historians, politicians, philosophers and theologians

have been wrang-ling over the mean-ing of justice, you won't learn the last word about it merely by studying one Sunday school lesson. But this is the place to remind ourselves that jusand democracy as tice as an ideal, Dr. Fereman a means of reaching that ideal. were not born yesterday.

Laber Day will recall the great services rendered to decracy by the organized workers of the world, for example, in the push they have given to free and universal education. But democracy is older than the labor movement, is older than July 4, 1776, is older than the Magna Charta, is older than the Roman empire, in which one of many motioes was "Let justice be done even if the sky caves in!"

Justice and democracy go back to the ancient Hebrews, the people who wrote the Old Testament. It was written in their laws, preached their prophets, sung in their Psalms. But of course they did not event it. They proclaimed it; but jurtice is older than the human race. The whole Bible and not only the Old Testament teaches that justice is rooted in the nature of God himself. No unjust person can be called godly.

Songs of Justice OUR Psalms for this week give us some valuable light on what justice is. Some people think that if everybody were rich, that would be justice. Psalm 49 shows how olish that notion is. It says in almost so many words, "You can't take it with you."

Riches do not spell happiness. Making everybody rich might mean making many people miserable. Money by itself does not cure the ills of life, it may make them worse or even create new ones. Many a family in the "upper brackets" has troubles that would vanish if they had less money.

Psalms 72 and 82 give us more positive suggestions. Psalm 72 sees it as the king's main duty to judge the people with righteousness and justice. The king was the government, in those days; he was the executive and the legislative and the judicial branch of government all rolled into one. In modern terms, the business of governmen is something more than furnishing police to lock up and punish wrongs after they have been done.

The welfare of the people is the concern of government. When pub-lic officials take any other view of lic officials take any other view of their, job, they are off the beam. In a democracy, the government is the people, that is to say, ourselves. If things are bad we are to blame for it; if they are going to be any better, we shall have to work for it, Every appeal to a king, in the Old Testament, when translated into tegms of a democratic country, means an appeal to the people.

The Little People
TUSTICE always has to be conterned with the little people. It was true in the simple little world of the ancient Hebrews, it is just as true in our global complax world, that the streng will always exploit the weak if there is not a
