

Warsaw News

Invitations Issued

Mr. and Mrs. Everette J. Dixon request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Brower Lucille
to

Mr. Warren David Strickland on Friday, the sixteenth of September nineteen hundred and forty-nine at five-thirty in the afternoon Bear Marsh Baptist Church
Mount Olive, North Carolina

CARD ENCLOSED:

Reception
immediately following the ceremony at the Home of the Bride

UDC Enterians Sam Byrd; Others

The James Kenan Chapter UDC entertained at an informal reception Monday night honoring Sam Byrd, director and producer of the "Duplin Story" and his daughter Pat, and officials of the Duplin County Historical Association at the home of Judge and Mrs. R. L. West.

The dining table was covered with a Roman cutwork cloth upon which red, white and blue tapers burned, centered with red verbena and clematis surrounded by southern smilax, depicting the confederate flag. Mrs. J. W. Farrior presided at the punch bowl. The buffet, ornamented with white trailing arbutus held three U. S. flags.
The living room mantle, holding red burning tapers, was centered with U. S. flags and flanked on either side by Confederate flags and magnolia leaves, suggestive of the 1860's. A silver urn holding red and white dahlias graced the living room console.

Punch and assorted cookies were served by Mesdames Stacy Britt, Charlie Reeves and L. S. Whittle.

Out of town people present were:
Mr. Sam Byrd and his daughter, Pat, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Alphin, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. McGowan, Mesdames Robert Grady, Louise Mitchell, Norwood Boney, Miss Janet

Boney of Kenansville; Mesdames W. D. Pollock, George Suggs, and Frances P. Grady, and Henry Grady III of Kinston; and Mr. and Mrs.
Herman Sawyer of Elizabeth City.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Herring of Warsaw, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cassie Ruth Herring to Mr. Robert Franklin Smith. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Miss Herring was graduated from Warsaw High School, attended Wake Forest College and is soon to receive her diploma from the Piedmont Hospital School of Nursing in Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Franklin Smith of Villa Reca, Ga. He is a recent graduate of Georgia School of Technology and is now employed by the Southern Bell Telephone Co. of Georgia.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Miller announce the birth of a daughter, Anne Olivia, on Sunday, August 28. Mrs. Miller is the former Miss Helen Corbett of Turkey.

MRS. R. T. BLACKBURN, JR.
Miss Ruby Harrison of Mount Olive, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.
W. Harrison of Mount Olive, was married to R. T. Blackburn, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Blackburn of Warsaw, August 5 in Kinston.

Rotarians Meet

The Rotarians held their weekly meeting Thursday evening of last week at Mitchener's Cafe with J. C.
Thompson presiding. Visiting Rotarians from the Clinton club were Teddy Boney, J. B. Stewart and Troy Honeycutt. J. F. Strickland gave a report on activities of Co.
M National Guard at Ft. Jackson.
John Jenkins, Jr. gave a demonstration of certain types of guns now being used by the Army.

Circles Meet

Methodist — Circle No. 1 met in the home of Mrs. H. R. Hipp on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Hipp giving the devotion. After a sentence prayer, Mrs. Gordon West gave the program.

Circle 2 met with Mrs. Joe Sur-ratt with Mrs. J. C. Thompson presiding. Mrs. Q. J. Sutton gave the devotional.

Circle 3 met with Mrs. Milton West, who also presided. The devotional was given by Mrs. G. P.
Pridgen. The program was given by Mrs. West.

Delicious refreshments were served at each of the above meetings.
Baptist — The Ruby Daniels Circle met Monday evening with Mrs. D. J. Brown. The meeting was opened with song followed by prayer. Mrs. Robert Blackmore taught the mission study.

The Katie Murray Circle met with Mrs. George Hopkins. Mrs.
Raeford Bostic and Mrs. M. B. Lassiter were joint hostesses. Mrs. L.
O. Williams presided. Mrs. Doris Peeler taught the study and dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Ira Ezell was hostess to the George Rollins Circle Monday afternoon. Mrs. Leonard Herring led the devotion and Mrs. Doris Peeler taught the mission study.
The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Myra Carlton.

Delicious refreshments were served at the above meetings.
Presbyterian — Circle No. 1 met with Misses Sallie Nell, and Maggie Bowden. Mrs. John Peirce gave the Bible Study. Miss Nell Bowden
gave the program.

Circle No. 2 met in the parlor of the church with Mrs. E. Walker Stevens presiding. The Bible Study was given by Mrs. L. B. Huie. Mrs.
David Carlton presented the program.

Circle 3 met with Mr. J. C. Page with Mrs. Bill Sheffield presiding.
Mrs. John Frederick gave the Bible Study and the program was given by Mrs. Bob Buck.

Refreshments were served at the above meetings.

Personals

Mrs. J. C. Thompson has returned from spending the summer at Carolina Beach.

Miss Mae Brock shopped in Goldsboro Tuesday.

Mrs. Ralph Jones and Mary Lee Jones shopped in Goldsboro Tuesday.

Misses Annie Lewis of Clinton and Maggie Lewis of Kinston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis for the week end.

Mr. L. B. Herring has returned home after visiting a week with his brother in Charlotte.

Miss Sarah Gaylor shopped in Wilmington Tuesday.

Clarence Brown of Winston-Salem is visiting his mother Mrs.
C. J. Brown, Sr.

Andrew Boney of Suffolk, Va. was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Mathis.

Bill Farrior is visiting at White Lake.

Mrs. J. W. Farrior spent the week end at White Lake.

Mrs. Sam Godwin is a patient at James Walker Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Middleton and Jack are visiting in Beaufort.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Stevens spent the week end at their lodge on New River.

Mrs. John Best of Jacksonville is visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Garner.

Mrs. J. P. Newton and Mrs. Graham Burnham of Wilmington visited Mrs. W. M. Bower last week.

J. D. Page and F. H. Lee attended the American Legion National Convention in Philadelphia last week.

George Best is a patient at the Goldsboro Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Purcell Jones visited Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Best Monday.
James Middleton has returned from James Walker Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Toby Jones and daughter: visited in Raleigh over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Best, Jr., and Mrs. R. H. Best, Sr. attended the funeral of Mr. Simon Citizen in Kinston Sunday. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Best, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kennedy of Norfolk were guests of Mrs. Lila Kennedy over the week end.

Mrs. C. A. Womack returned on Thursday from visiting her sister Mrs. Sam Miller in Winston-Salem.

Pvt. and Mrs. H. F. Peirce, of Rocky Mt. and Pfc. D. W. Ray, Jr., of Keesler Field, Kan. and Bill Daly of Goldsboro were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Peirce Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cooper visited Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Strickland for the week end.

Miss Agness Turnage spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Turnage of Snow Hill.

Miss Haroldine Katz is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Simon Katz.

Richard Byrd is at home after attending summer school at UNC.

Earl Huie returned on Saturday from Columbus, Ohio where he attended the Psi Gamma Delta Officers Training School.

Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Jackson of Dunn visited Mr. and Mrs. K. F.
Brock on Sunday.

Mrs. J. D. Sandlin, with Mesdames Aubrey Turner, L. C. Turner, Jr., and L. C. Turner, Sr. toured to Williamsburg, Va. last week and attended the pageant,
"The Common Glory". They returned via Richmond.

Elbert Smith and Aubrey Turner of Pink Hill and J. D. Sandlin of Beaufort spent several days at the Edwards Camp at Minnott Beach last week.

Mrs. Walter Holland of Micro, and Mrs. Annie Bostic and Mr.
William Bostic attended the recent graduation exercises at ECTC.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jackson and daughter of Harrellsville were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Jones and Mrs. Robert Jackson.

Mrs. Lula Q. Parker was a dinner guest of Mrs. Isiah Vann in Clinton on Sunday.

Miss Vena Mae Quinn has returned from a visit in western N. C.

Mrs. Hallie Moore of Bowden visited relatives Sunday.

Misses Celesta Thigpen, Polly Brown, Rebecca Thomas and Pansy Edwards left last week for ECTC to become students there.

Mr. Arthur Kennedy and Hallie Albertson made a business trip to Smithfield Friday night.

MM 24c Leo Miller, who serves on the Submarine GRAMPUS spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Miller.

Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Norris spent Sunday in Greenville visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Miller, Billy and Miss Rosa Bell Miller shopped in Kinston Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith and children were recent week end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Williams at Fountain Town.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Quinn of Chapel Hill visited relatives during the past holiday week end.

Miss Jeannean Thigpen left on Monday for the Rocky Mt. Sanatorium where she will enter the Nurse's School of Training.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carroll were in Richmond for several days last week.

Mrs. Paul Hunter of Warsaw visited her parents Mr. and Mrs.
J. G. Kennedy on Labor Day.

Cpl. Julian D. Smith was at home this week end with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Julian Smith.

Mrs. B. L. Parrish of Louisville, Ky. is a guest of Mrs. Stokley Bostic.

Magnolia News

Week end guests of Mrs. Bessie Rackley were her daughter Mrs.
J. H. Johnson and three children of Wilmington.

Mrs. Mattie Merritt of Wilmington spent the week end with her daughter Mrs. Hubert Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Johnson and son of New Hope and daughter Mrs. Geo. Merritt and children of Newport News visited Mrs. Johnson's sisters Misses Lizzie, Cora and Almeta Edwards Sunday evening.

Mr. George Tatum of Rocky Mt. is visiting his sister Mrs. C. C.
Peterson.

Norwood Baker of Charlotte spent the week end with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jake Baker.

Homer Wilson of Portsmouth, Va. spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnell Ezell and children of Richmond, Va. are visiting his mother Mrs. Clyde Ezell.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Watkins and daughter of Columbia, S. C. are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
G. A. Edwards.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A.
Smith Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Calloway and son of Clinton.

A marriage of interest to us was that of Wesley Woodruff and Miss Eleanor Fussell. They were recently married in Rose Hill, Wesley and his parents and sister lived here several years before moving to Fayetteville. He is still in the Army, and they will live in Memphis, Tenn. Her mother was a na-

DOG TALES

Pity The Poor Postman

By TOM FARLEY

DOES your dog dislike the postman? Or the cop, milkman or janitor?

Well, if he doesn't, you're lucky.
For just about the most pathetic appeals for help received by dog writers and trainers come from people whose otherwise well behaved dogs have taken a violent dislike to some individual, or perhaps to all men, in uniform.

Just why dogs will so often resist a uniform, no one quite knows.
It can be reasoned that it is just because it is different. But if the uniform happens to belong to the cop on your beat, it may produce an unfortunate situation.

However, if it happens to be the milkman who comes in for the dog's displeasure, there may not even be the excuse of a uniform.

About the only cure for the situation usually lies in all round training. If it is just uniforms that your dog doesn't like, perhaps you can cure him by wearing a uniform for a few days yourself. However, if the dislike is directed towards an individual who wears no uniform, his distinguishing characteristic may be that he has a different odor to your dog's sensitive nose. Because he eats different foods from those served in your home, if this is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't hopeless in any event. For a well trained dog can be broken of any thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't thoroughly trained to instantaneous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash, praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obedience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away, use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone gets excited, the whole business will, of course, be a failure. But because he eats different foods from
those served in your home, if this
is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the
time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't
hopeless in any event. For a well
trained dog can be broken of any
thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't
thoroughly trained to instantane-
ous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash,
praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obe-
dience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that
you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away,
use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone
gets excited, the whole business
will, of course, be a failure. But
because he eats different foods from
those served in your home, if this
is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the
time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't
hopeless in any event. For a well
trained dog can be broken of any
thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't
thoroughly trained to instantane-
ous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash,
praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obe-
dience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that
you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away,
use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone
gets excited, the whole business
will, of course, be a failure. But
because he eats different foods from
those served in your home, if this
is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the
time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't
hopeless in any event. For a well
trained dog can be broken of any
thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't
thoroughly trained to instantane-
ous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash,
praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obe-
dience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that
you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away,
use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone
gets excited, the whole business
will, of course, be a failure. But
because he eats different foods from
those served in your home, if this
is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the
time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't
hopeless in any event. For a well
trained dog can be broken of any
thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't
thoroughly trained to instantane-
ous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash,
praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obe-
dience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that
you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away,
use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone
gets excited, the whole business
will, of course, be a failure. But
because he eats different foods from
those served in your home, if this
is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the
time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't
hopeless in any event. For a well
trained dog can be broken of any
thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't
thoroughly trained to instantane-
ous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash,
praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obe-
dience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that
you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away,
use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone
gets excited, the whole business
will, of course, be a failure. But
because he eats different foods from
those served in your home, if this
is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the
time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't
hopeless in any event. For a well
trained dog can be broken of any
thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't
thoroughly trained to instantane-
ous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash,
praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obe-
dience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that
you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away,
use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone
gets excited, the whole business
will, of course, be a failure. But
because he eats different foods from
those served in your home, if this
is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the
time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't
hopeless in any event. For a well
trained dog can be broken of any
thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't
thoroughly trained to instantane-
ous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash,
praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obe-
dience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that
you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away,
use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone
gets excited, the whole business
will, of course, be a failure. But
because he eats different foods from
those served in your home, if this
is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the
time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't
hopeless in any event. For a well
trained dog can be broken of any
thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't
thoroughly trained to instantane-
ous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash,
praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obe-
dience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that
you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away,
use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone
gets excited, the whole business
will, of course, be a failure. But
because he eats different foods from
those served in your home, if this
is the case, about your only hope
for an easy cure is that he may be
a dog lover and willing to take the
time and trouble (and risk the seat

of his pants) in getting acquainted.
But fortunately, the case isn't
hopeless in any event. For a well
trained dog can be broken of any
thing you catch him doing.

First of all, if your dog isn't
thoroughly trained to instantane-
ous compliance to your commands,
work him until he is. Teach him
the simple commands—come, go,
sit, lie down, heel, and particularly
"no" when he does the wrong
thing—but make him do them over
and over again. Work him on leash,
praise him when he does well, and
correct him when he does poorly.

Make the training period a big
event in his every day existence.
In a relatively short time, obe-
dience will become almost automatic. Then seek out your man.

Keep the dog on leash so that
you can correct him instantly and
make him go through his familiar
routine in the presence of his
"enemy". If he tries to break away,
use a jerk of the leash and the
familiar "no".

Success depends on two things.
First, the thoroughness of the advance training. Second, the cooperation of the "victim". If anyone gets