next year.
Some farmers are planning to install tile drainage so if the next year is as wet as this one their crops won't drown. Other plan is to start a crop rotation next year and increase their yields by planting more soil improving crops.
Lewis Outlaw, one of the supervisors of the Southeastern Soil Conservation District, recommends a complete 5 year farm plan prepared by the farmer with the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service.

This plan includes such conservation practices as terracing, drainage, rotations, improved pastures and woodland improvement to be accomplished in five years.
The following farmers have made such a conservation plan in the last few weeks: E. R. Carlton, A. M. Britt, and D. J. Middleton of Warsaw, C. C. MacMillan of Teachey and Nash Johnson of Rose Hill

Regulations governing service life insurance require veterans to pass a physical examination satisfactory to qualify for government insurance.

In many instances service-incurred disabilities could bar a veteran from obtaining insurance. This limited privilege now opens the door wide to thousands of veterans who have not applied because of the possibility of having service-incurred disabilities keep them from obtaining insurance.
