

The Katzenjammer Kids, Snuffy, Wimpy, and Jiggs join the March of Dimes

programs in all counties, but few of them carry them out. Dr. Gooding says, "A good many health officers prefer to handle their duties from a desk. I want to make a return for value received"

At present Dr. Gooding and his staff of nurses are hard at work on a series of "Planned Parenthood" clinics. The idea is to help parents plan their families for children no closer than two years apart. All material on the subject is given free of charge. The clinics have received recognition. Dr. L. H. Kling of Columbia University has chosen Duplin as one of eight counties in which he is doing studies along that line.

Duplin's tonsilectomy clinics made headlines several weeks ago. Twenty-one tonsilectomies were performed in a single day. Now those clinics are conducted once a week in Kenansville with an average of 15 tonsilectomies performed each Wednesday.

A series of general clinics at eleven different points offers all the pre-school child needs in the way of medical attention. X-ray clinics are given each Monday and Wednesday in the health department quarters in Kenansville. Too, foodhandlers clinics are offered weekly. All in all Duplin County can be proud of its health department. Dr. G. V. Gooding and his nurses. They are certainly returning "value received."

Propose Decrease Liability Insurance Rates Discussed

A filing made by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters with the Department of Insurance which proposes certain reductions in liability insurance rates (other than automobile liability) was announced by Waldo C. Cheek, Commissioner of Insurance this week. The proposal will be given consideration at a public hearing in Raleigh on January 17 at 10 a.m. This proposed revision affects only those companies who are members of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters. It is likely that others such companies will file for similar revisions in the near future.

It is estimated that the proposed revision, if approved, will result in savings of approximately $123,000 on such of these classes of business as is written by members of National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters.

DUPLIN BABY CLINIC Health For Babies

By BOB WEIRICH
It was just two years ago that Mrs. Mary Bowden, nurse with the Duplin county Health Department, prevailed upon three of her friends to turn out for a baby clinic at Wallace.

The clinic was more of an idea than anything else at that time. But Mrs. Bowden, along with Duplin County's health officer, Dr. G. V. Gooding, felt the clinic was needed. Of that first clinic, Mrs. Bowden says, "I just couldn't bear the thought of holding it without anyone present and we didn't know how the idea would take. So I prevailed upon three of my friends, Mrs. Richard Watson, Mrs. Joe Bland and Mrs. William Bryce to attend."

The idea wasn't wasted. On Tuesday, the 13th of last month Dr. Gooding, with his staff of nurses, again held their monthly "well-baby" clinic, now four in number. A total of 151 babies were examined and given treatment.

Mothers, who once attend the clinics, return periodically. They realize their inestimable value. And they are free of charge. Aside from the usual, yet complete, medical examination, the babies are weighed, receive necessary shots for diphtheria, whooping cough, small pox and tetanus injections. A month's supply of cod liver oil is given to each mother for her children.

As Dr. Gooding and his staff make their rounds, temporary examining rooms are set up in unusual. On this particular Tuesday the city hall at Wallace suddenly took on the look of a doctor's office as desks were pushed aside and white covers placed over all. At Iron Mine a church was used for a Negro clinic. At Rose Hill quarters were set up in the Town Hall. A second clinic was held at Wallace, this one for Negroes, and the Community Building was used. Maternity patients are welcomed to the clinics and pre-natal and post-natal care are offered on the same no-charge basis.

The baby clinics are now proving of inestimable value. But those clinics are just part of a series of varied services offered by the Duplin County Health Department.

Dr. Gooding has set up a better health program. The State Department of Health expects similar
