Chapel Hill Scientist To Speak In Wallace in March

Dr. Howard W. Odum, well known scientist and head of the Institute for Research in Social Science and Social Forces at the University of North Carolina, will speak to a joint meeting of Wallace civic clubs in March.

Exact date of the lecture will be made public later. Dr. Odum founded the institute he now heads 25 years ago.

In a recent poll selecting "Great Southerners of Our Time", Dr. Odum was named among the first ten. He is a close friend of Senator Graham, who persuaded him to come to North Carolina many years ago.

Dr. Odum is the author of more than a score of books, several of which are in the local library. Among his newest are "Understanding Society" and "The Way of the South." Two others are scheduled for early release: "The Techniques of Modern Man" and "Folk Sociology."

The lecturer has worked constantly to apply academic theory to practical affairs. He was chief of the social science division of the Chicago World Fair, research director of President Hoover's committee on social trends, visiting professor at Yale, Illinois, California and Washington. He has received honorary degrees from a score of colleges, including Harvard, Clark, College of the Ozarks, and Emory University. Both Time and Holland's recently carried feature articles on the speaker. He once served as football coach at Mississippi State for one year.

Tentative plans call for a supper meeting of all civic organizations. Those who are not members of any civic club, but who wish to attend, may do so by contacting a member of the committee which is bringing the speaker here.

Gospel Goes West

Lesson for February 12, 1950

SO YOU DON'T BELIEVE in foreign missions? Then you can't read the New Testament with any comfort. Every book in it was written either by a missionary, or about missionaries, or to missionaries, or to be used in mission work. Chapters 13 and 14 of Acts tell us about the first organized foreign mission project in the history of the Christian church. It is the story of how the Gospel was taken out of the narrow strip of coastland along the eastern shore of the Mediterranean, where it was born, out into the western world.

The Best They Had

THE FIRST missionary party were not raw untried men. They were Barnabas and Saul, the top leaders of Antioch. These men had done a great work in Antioch; their usefulness there was not at an end by any means. But the church sent them away to win souls elsewhere. It is a mistake to suppose that just anybody will do as a missionary.

Ignorant people who suppose that missionaries are only the "culls" of the church don't know the facts. A few years ago a scientist, Ellsworth Huntington, made a study of the graduates of Yale and Harvard who were successful enough to be written up in "Who's Who in America." He found that missionaries' sons furnished the largest proportion of these successful men.

The reason for this, he believed, is that only in missionary families do you find that both parents, and not just one, have to go through a rigid sifting process. Only the best—mentally, morally, physically—are accepted by the church today as missionaries.

Strategic Centers

SAUL, or Paul, who came rapidly to the front in the missionary team, was all for efficiency. He never did a thing the hard way if an easier way would save his energy. So we find him heading for the great centers of population.

In the synagogues he would find the most religious people in the city, people who already believed in the One God and who took seriously the Law and the Prophets.

Barnabas and Saul stuck to cities for another reason also. Not that they despised small-town folk, but they knew that cities are where the crowds are. For every dozen people they could reach in a village, there were hundreds to be reached in the cities. So today, mission work has generally concentrated first in the most heavily settled regions.

The Follow-Up

SAUL and BARNABAS also set the example for later generations in their use of the "follow-up." They did not suppose that simply converting people was enough. There had to be second visits. Some churches Paul visited as many as five times. They would appoint officers in every church. They knew that organized religion is more likely to last than disorganized religion.

They were not fly-by-night evangelists, leaving behind them only an ebbing wave of emotional excitement. Every rose grower knows that it is better to put a 10-cent rose in a 50-cent hole than to put a 50-cent rose into a 10-cent hole. So Paul did not stick little seedlings of new Christians into barren ground at random; he took pains to see that they were solidly planted in good rose-beds.

The Holy Spirit

THERE IS ANOTHER, and most important, way in which this first missionary effort has set the pace for all since: From beginning to end, they depended on the Holy Spirit. It was the Spirit who first suggested the idea; it was the Spirit who gave the power, and furnished the guidance. Not that the Spirit was or is a substitute for human effort.

But to this very day, if you want to find persons who know about the Holy Spirit at first hand, who know what it means to depend on the Spirit and to be used by Him, then get acquainted with your church's missionaries.

What to so many of us churchgoers is only a name, to them is the deepest reality by which they live.

Members and 4-H members for 1949 indicate the increasing numbers are cooperating in the extension program according to R. E. Wilkins, Negro County Agent. He explained that nearly 2500 4-H boys were reached in 125 meetings, winning honors in the District Federation.

District Calf Shows, District Sweet Potato Show and participated in numerous local events.

Adult farmers were not sitting idly by. Fifty meetings during the year attracted nearly 1000 adults and required the services of nine experts from State College in Raleigh. These planned activities had a stimulating effect in Duplin and resulted in approximately 200 acres of pasture seeded, greater use of hybrid corn, more diversification and more attention to quality crops. In appraising the progress in the county, Wilkins stated that agriculture research is only scratching the surface and predicted even more economical production as times goes by.
