Kenansville School Students Make Sight-seeing Tour Of Camp Lejeune

Camp Lejeune, April 15 — A group of thirty freshman high school students from Kenansville visited Camp Lejeune Friday.

The group was under the supervision of Rev. A. D. Wood.

The students were met at the main gate by representatives of the public information office and were taken on a tour of the Hadnot Point area.

Starting at about 10:15 a.m. the students made their first stop at the hostess house for a short rest after the long drive from Kenansville.

While talking with Rev. Wood during the stop, it was learned that two of the students, who were set on seeing the Marine base, missed a day at school to enable them to work and earn enough money to defray expenses of this trip. Another interesting story told by one of the group was of the two boys who were so thrilled with their visit last year that they actually flunked their civics class so as to make another tour of Camp Lejeune and get the answers to some of the questions they wanted to ask on their previous trip.

The tour's next stop was at the camp chapel. Here Commander E. Richard Barnes, chaplain, was at hand to greet the group and gave a very interesting talk on the memorial windows, pointing out the motif, combined religious and military background and the history of the Marine corps in stained glass, dedicated to the Marines who lost their lives in World War II. The ten memorial windows show the different Marine divisions and other units as well as the different island groups and theatres of operations.

The group continued on to the Catholic chapel to view the memorial windows there. Pfc. W. E. Johnson, organist answered many questions concerning the chapel, choir, and masses.

The students were quite interested in the next stop, the Marston pavilion. Here, one talented young lady struck up a lively piano tune on one of the ballroom pianos, and the students had a go at jitter-bugging. Other students inspected the patio and the beautiful view out over the water looking toward the boat house. T/Sgt. W. A. Butler made the group feel at home for about 15 minutes after which they went on to Hospital point. Here the boys and girls saw the sights enroute, the central fire house, the radio station, Naval Hospital, and, of course, the point itself overlooking the beautiful waterway.

A very interesting stop was made at the water purification plant where P. H. Barker, in charge of the plant, explained the entire process of the plant. Amusement was shown when it was learned that the plant's output was 5,000,000 gallons per day.

Leaving the plant the students proceeded to the hostess house where the word passed "Lunch is served". This went over with the students with a bang as they went to the dining room and got in line with their trays.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET

The mothers of the members of the Kenansville Chapter, Future Homemakers of America were honored on Friday evening, April 7, in the Kenansville School Cafeteria with the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet. The cafeteria was artistically decorated with lovely spring flowers.

The program was opened with group singing led by Mary Lee Rouse.

During the program were the following toasts and responses:

Toast to Mothers, Mary Beth Southerland.
Response, Mrs. Daughtry.
Toast to Faculty, Sara Brown.
Response, Mr. Z. W. Frazelle.
The poem "Home" was read by Angela Daughtry accompanied by Sara Outlaw at the piano.

"Mother Machree" was sung by the Freshman F.H.A. Girls.
Other special music was by Betty Whitfield, Mary Sue Burch and Emily Rivenbark.

Susan Brown, toastmistress, then introduced the inspirational speaker, Rev. Ben F. Brown, pastor of the Rockfish and Penderlea Presbyterian Churches. He gave a very inspiring talk on "Making The Home Christian."

After the talk an Easter Lily was presented to Rev. and Mrs. Brown from the members of the Kenansville F.H.A.

About 50 mothers, daughters, members of the faculty and guests attended.

The menu for the evening was: chilled fruit juice, baked ham, sliced carrots, rolls, potato salad, glazed apples, tea, jello with whipped cream and icebox cookies.

Waitresses were: Lois Calson, Belle Brock, Mary Sue Yarborough, and Shirley Meyers.

The program closed by singing "Goodnight Mothers."
