

James Walker Hospital Inaugurates Post Graduate Course For Doctors

The establishment of a year-round post-graduate training program for physicians in Southeastern North Carolina at James Walker Memorial Hospital is announced by John W. Rankin, director of the hospital.

The year-round series of visits by nationally recognized medical teachers and specialists has been instigated as one of the fundamental necessities for establishing a medical center at the local institution.

Twelve eminent medical authorities, all tops in their fields, have been invited and have accepted appointment to spend one week each month at James Walker Memorial as "Visiting Chief Pro-tem". This means that throughout the year one of these leaders in the medical profession will be in residence one week each month. During his week's stay the clinician and teacher will make rounds on the service of his specialty, hold seminars, lecture on one of his special interests, and participate in a Clinical Pathological Conference to be held on Friday evening.

All physicians in an area extending to Morehead City, New Bern, Kinston, Fayetteville, and down through Myrtle Beach, S. C., will be invited to attend any or all of these sessions.

The program is designed to bring the latest developments in medical science to the physicians of this area. In addition, it will prove a valuable method of medical instruction to the internes and residents in training at the local institution.

Fifteen hundred pamphlets announcing the program for the year beginning July 1 will be distributed this week to all physicians in the area and to the senior medical students of seven leading medical schools.

Physicians who have accepted the appointment for the year are as follows: Dr. Jack D. Myers, Assistant Professor of Medicine, at Duke University School of Medicine, Durham; Dr. William F. Mengert, Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Southwestern Medical School (University of Texas), Dallas; Dr. James Elliott Scarborough, Jr., Assistant Professor of Clinical Surgery, Emory University School of Medicine, and Director of Robert Winship Memorial Clinic, Emory University Hospital, Atlanta; Dr. Gordon P. McNeer, Associate Attending Surgeon, Memorial Hospital, and Consultant in Gastroscopy, Roosevelt Hospital, New York City; Dr. Louis Krause, Professor of Clinical Medicine, University of Maryland, Baltimore; Dr. Samuel F. Marshall, Lahey Clinic, Boston; Dr. Elliott P. Joslin, Emeritus Clinical Professor of Medicine, Harvard University School of Medicine, Boston; Dr. Eugene A. Stead, Jr. Professor of Medicine, Duke University School of Medicine, Durham; Dr. Francis G. Blake, Stirling Professor of Medicine, Yale University School of Medicine, New Haven; Dr. Louis K. Diamond, Assistant Professor of Pediatrics, Harvard University Medical School and Director of Blood Banks, American Red Cross, Cambridge, Mass.; Dr. Howard H. Bradshaw, Professor of Surgery, Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem.

Dr. Mengert of Dallas, Dr. Scarborough of Atlanta, Dr. McNeer of New York, and Dr. Blake of Yale, specialists in neoplastic diseases, are made available to the program through a grant from the American Cancer Society.

The committee elected by the Medical Staff of the hospital on Program and Arrangements is Dr. J. F. Robertson, Chairman; Dr. D. B. Koonce; Dr. J. B. Sidbury; Dr. J. B. Lounsbury; and Dr. D. H. Murchison.

God's Greatest

Lesson for July 9, 1950

A GREAT man cannot always be seen at close range. His contemporaries may not know what to make of him. Current celebrities outshine him, his enemies cry him down, circumstances hide his true greatness. You have to stand off from him, perhaps several centuries away, before you can see his true height. Great men are like tall mountains; within a few miles of them, the traveler cannot see them for the masses of smaller ridges and peaks that hide the distant view. Only far out on the plain can we see the great peak towering into the blue.

Dr. Foreman

Not Much Chance

MOSES was such a man. At many times in his life, if you had been there, you would have thought he had very little chance to live, much less to succeed. Suppose you had seen him in the first three months of his life? He was born under a death sentence; his parents were breaking the law of the land by keeping him alive at all.

Then later if you had seen him in his sea-going basket among the reeds in the river, you might have thought: Will the contraption float? Even if a princess finds the baby, won't she know what he is and send him straight off to be killed?

Or years later, when Moses was a sort of pampered stepson of the palace, what promise was in him? Pharaoh's court was full always of proud young fellows spilling for a fight. Moses might have looked to you just like another useless aristocrat. And then when Moses was out in the wilds, tending another man's sheep, married to an ignorant back-country lass who never understood him in the least; would you have put much faith in that discouraged old ranch-hand?

God's Man

BUT don't judge a man by what his contemporaries say. We know now, we have known for centuries, that Moses was one of God's greatest and best.

Consider what the world owes to that one man. Of all his services, let us note three in particular. For one thing, we trace the Ten Commandments back to him. Not that he was the first to call stealing or adultery or greediness wicked; men have known as much since early times. But we do associate the Ten Commandments with Moses' name. He preached and taught that religion is ethical; that is, right living is tied in with and tied up to right religion.

Faith and life flow into and support each other. Some religions declare that if a man pleases God that is all that matters; he can ride his neighbors as he pleases. Other religions (or substitutes for religion) say that if a man treats other men right he can let God go. Not so Moses; not so the Jews nor the Christians!

Moses was also the man through whom God revealed some of the most important truths we know about God. Moses taught his people, and through them teaches us, of a spiritual God, not like anything "in heaven above or the earth beneath or in the waters under the earth." God has "no manner of form." God is pure spirit, without a body like men or like anything.

To this day men find that hard to take in; but it is an important truth for any one who wants to think truly about God and to find him.

Moses and Christ

ABOVE all, there would have been no Christianity if Moses had never lived, or if he had failed. If the children of Israel had done what they wanted to do, sink back to Egypt and slavery, the whole great history of the Old Testament would have been unwritten. Poets and prophets would have died unborn.

But he would have had to make a start somewhere else besides with the Hebrew people, and the whole history of religion would have been different. There would have been no New Testament without the Old Testament.

Even Jesus of Nazareth either would not have been at all, or would have been entirely different, if it had not been for the whole background of the Hebrew story, in which Moses played such a leading part. If the world owes a debt to Christianity (and what a debt!), it owes, also, a tribute to Moses.

WAR ON HORNWORMS

Here are a few suggestions for an all-out war on the hornworm:

The first step in the campaign is to destroy all plants remaining on tobacco beds, thus cutting off an important source of food for all kinds of insects.

The second step is to kill tobacco moths or "tobacco flies," as they are commonly called, before they lay their eggs. One good swat can kill a tobacco fly which might lay many, many eggs to hatch out into hornworms.

Some farmers destroy the moths by putting poison in the blossom of "jimson weeds" and other plants to which the flies are attracted. Other "homemade remedies include the following:

Fill a bottle with kerosene oil. use a piece of rope as a wick and place this lighted "candle" in the tobacco field. The moths will be attracted to the light and burn their wings.

Fill a large pan or tub half full of water. Add a cup of kerosene oil. In the middle of the pan place something to come above the water and set a lighted lantern on it. Flies will strike against the lantern chimney and fall into the water, getting oil on their wings, which renders them helpless.

Hang an electric light between two posts. Put a tub of water, with a cup of kerosene added, under the light.

State College Answers Timely Farm Questions

Q. What time of day is best for dairy cows to graze during the summer?

Dairy cows should be put on pasture early in the morning, so they can secure their full of grass in the cool part of the day. It is also good practice to put them on grazing after the night milking.

Each pasture should have shade enough for the number of cows to be grazed. Where there is no trees, straw shelters made by placing a few posts in the ground, constructing a cross lattice on top, and covering with straw.

Q. At what temperature should eggs be stored.

A. Eggs should be held at a temperature of 50 to 60 degrees with a relative humidity of 75 percent.

DON'T LET THEM COME TO BAIT. HE MAY SCORE AGAINST YOU.

State College Hints To Home Makers

Like Biscuits? Here's a good mix which can be made up and stored in the cupboard, ready for use in a jiffy:

8 cups sifted flour; 1 cup dry milk, whole or non-fat; 1-4 cup baking powder; 3 teaspoons salt; 1 cup fat -- a kind that needs no refrigeration. To make: Sift dry ingredients together 3 times. Cut or rub in fat until thoroughly mixed. Lift mix lightly into glass jars without packing. Close tightly and store on shelf. A cup of this mix is enough for 6 medium-sized biscuits. To make, measure 1 cup of mix and add enough water or fluid milk to make a soft dough -- about 1-3 cup. Turn onto a lightly floured board and knead a few times. Pat or roll to the desired thickness and cut with floured cutter. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes.
