THE SAFEST PERSON

The safest person in the United States has moved back to Connecticut.

It's still that little girl -- the National Safety Council's perennial nominee for the mythical safety title. She lived in Connecticut for many years, but moved to New Jersey when that state recorded the lowest accident fatality rate in 1948.

Connecticut again came out on top in 1949. So the little gal's moved again.

The Council figures the safest person must be a little girl, because

Employment Security Law

As It Relates to Eligibility for Benefits — And Law and Regulations Relating to Fraud

Raleigh, N. C. — In order to be eligible to receive unemployment compensation benefits, from the Unemployment Compensation Fund of the Employment Security Commission, an individual must meet the several qualifying conditions imposed by State law.

First, he must have earned at least $200 in the base period, the calendar year immediately preceding, or the year before that, depending on the date he files a claim for benefits, in work for an employer covered by the Act. He must register for work at his nearest Employment Security Office. He must file an initial claim, certifying that he is unemployed, and must continue to file a claim each week (no benefits are payable for the first week, during which every effort is made to find employment for him), certifying that he has had no earnings, or certifying the amount he has had, for each week.

He must certify that he is able to work, available for work and willing to take any suitable job offered him or to which he is referred. He must show each time he files his claim that he is actively seeking work by making applications to employers who might employ him. If he refuses to accept suitable work, he is disqualified and penalized for not accepting a job referral or offer of suitable work. He is also disqualified from receiving benefits if he quits a job voluntarily, without good cause on the part of his employer, or is fired for misconduct connected with his work. His penalties range from 4 to 12 weeks, for which periods he receives no benefits and the amount he would have received, the amount of his weekly benefit amount ($6 to $25) times the number of weeks of the penalty, is charged against him and he is never eligible for this amount. No unemployed claimant may receive benefits for more than 20 weeks during a 52-week period.

When a claimant files a new initial claim, his last employer and all employers for whom he worked during the base period (the calendar year used as a basis for figuring his weekly benefit amount) are notified on special forms that he, by name and Social Security account number, has filed a claim, and the amount of his weekly benefit, based on his earnings in the base period. If one of his former employers offers him a suitable job, through the nearest ESC office, (time, place, pay, conditions of work, etc., enter into the question of suitability of work) he must accept such job. If he refuses such a job, he is disqualified for benefits and penalized, as the law requires.

If it appears that any of these disqualifying conditions exist, the ESC claims taker refers the case to an ESC claims deputy, who gives written notice to each interested cause the safest age group was the 5-14 bracket and for some reason little girls have fewer accidents than boys.

Senator LeBlanc Says South Has Great Industrial Future

Now is the Time to Start Getting Somewhere, Says HADACOL Owner

Lafayette, La. (Sp.)—Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc, colorful owner of HADACOL, wants the South to sell its advantages to the nation just as he is selling HADACOL to the rest of the country.

The Senator spoke to about 800,000 people on his recent half million dollar good-will tour of 10 southern states. His theme was the fallacy of the South producing raw products, shipping them north for processing, and then paying freight to bring the finished product back home.

The Senator pulled his handkerchief out of his pocket waving it to crowds that ranged from 25,000 to 60,000. "This handkerchief was made from cotton grown in the South," he said. "The cotton was shipped to Massachusetts and made into this finished product. Then we in the South paid the freight on it back home where we grew the cotton."

"That mill in Massachusetts furnished employment to folks up there and paid taxes that created schools and improved their economy. Why couldn't those northern folks move factories down here and give employments to our folks? I tell you, they would if we sell them the wonderful advantages of the South just as we are selling HADACOL to the rest of the nation."

Senator LeBlanc is spending a great deal of money on colored sound pictures of the HADACOL Good Will Show to display the advantages of southern industry. He plans to show these in theaters. He is also preparing an elaborate booklet to distribute throughout the north.

Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc

"I feel that when a firm has become as large as HADACOL that it owes it to its people to do more than sell just itself," said Senator LeBlanc.

Senator LeBlanc presented Mickey Rooney, Burns and Allen, Carmen Miranda, Connee Boswell, Roy Acuff, Ernest Tubb, Minnie Pearl, Sharkey and His Dixieland Band, Frakson the Magician, and Marie Germain LeBlanc.

HADACOL is now selling at the rate of more than $2,000,000 per month and the Senator is planning to increase sales to $50,000,000 if he can obtain enough raw materials.

party and conducts a recorded hearing, and, if the evidence is sufficient, the claimant is disqualified and penalized, as the law requires; otherwise, no disqualification and penalty is inflicted. Any interested party has the right of appeal to the Commission and to the State courts.

When it is found that a claimant has worked and falsely certified the amount of his earnings during the week for which he files a claim, a warrant is sworn out by the ESC claims deputy and the case is heard in the local courts. The judgment, if the claimant is found guilty, usually includes an order to repay the Commission all amounts received illegally, a fine, a jail sentence, or both. If the amount illegally received cannot be recovered from the claimant, it is charged against any amount to which he may become eligible later, and collected if he ever again files an eligible claim.

In addition, the Central office of the Commission checks the quarterly records of wages paid by employers against benefits paid to their former employees for the same quarter. If it is found that wages were paid to an employee during the quarter in which he received benefits, a transcript of benefits paid by weeks is sent to the employer, if there appears to be any question as to his eligibility for benefits received, and he is asked to check the weekly wage records of such employees and make a report to the Commission. If it is found that the claimant has received benefits during any week, and has knowingly falsified his earnings, a warrant is issued and the claimant brought to court.

It is possible for claimants to secure benefits to which they are not entitled, just as it is possible for people to steal, kill, or violate other laws, but it is rare that claimants get away with violations permanently, just as few lawbreakers avoid paying penalties for their violations.

SCOOTERS KILL

Motor Scooter accidents in cities killed about 65 persons and injured 5,000 in 1948.

That is an estimate based on a sample of 78 cities of more than 10,000 population. More than half the injured riders were 15 to 19 years of age, and only 5 per cent were women.
