January 19, 1951

Dear Friends:

Due to the present world conflict, I, along with countless others, have been called back into the Army to serve a period of time, unpredictable as of now. My good mother and father have been managing "TORE STORE" for me. I feel this is too much of an added responsibility to ask of them; so, under these circumstances have decided to sell out to Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Booth.

Wiley and Hilda are very well known to all of you and I'm sure they will appreciate your business in the future as I have in the past. I'll appreciate any business you can throw their way and I'm sure they will be more than glad to serve you.

May God bless each and everyone of you. Maybe I'll see you soon.

Yours sincerely,

Henry M. West, Jr.

I've Made My
 1951
 Farming Plans
 HAVE YOU?

The way the world looks today makes me think that I've got to put my farm on all-out production, and I aim to do just that. I've found out from a lot of pretty good farmers around here that the best plan is the balanced plan. Sure, I'm going to raise as much tobacco as I can, and perhaps some cotton, but since I got some good looking ladino-fescue pasture, I've also got a nice little dairy herd started. In that way, I'll have a year-round income, and a year-round balance of work. Oh yes, we're planning to plant a big garden, too! We're going to raise all of our own food right here on the farm. We've found out in the last few years that by growing all the food the family needs, we can save right much money. Besides, frozen fresh vegetables and meat fits mighty good all winter long.

Make Your Farm Plans Right Now!

Be sure to ask your county agricultural workers for all the help they can give you. Work with them in planning a well balanced year-round farming income.

If you haven't received your 1951 Better Farming for Better Living booklet, ask any of your County Agricultural workers to give you one, or write to us. It will give you many helpful hints when you start your plan for 1951.

Dianne wore a blue and pink net evening dress and was assisted with her program by Miss Millie Burch, who was dressed in a blue evening dress. Before the program, Dianne presented her two teachers, Mrs. Emory Sadler and Miss Hines with lovely corsages of pink carnations.

Dianne's first group of selections was the Two-Part Invention No. 14 by Bach and seven Waltzes by Schubert. Millie Burch then sang "To A Robin" by Mohr. She was accompanied by Miss Hines.
