Attend State Council Meeting

More than fifty Home Demonstration women of Duplin County were among some three thousand women who attended the ninth annual state Council Meeting of Negro Home Demonstration Clubs held in Raleigh recently. The morning session was highlighted with an address by David E. Weaver, director of the N. C. State Extension Service. Mr. Weaver spoke on the theme "Building Tomorrow's World Today".

The evening session was devoted to business reports and musical entertainment from the three districts.

Beulaville Sisters Marry in Double Wedding At Hallsville Baptist Church

Misses Thelma Brinson and Velma Brinson, daughters of Mrs. Jeanette Brinson of Beulaville and the late Ellis Brinson of Beulaville, and Julius S. Sandlin, Pfc., U. S. Marine Corps, and Joseph W. Sumner of Jacksonville were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon, March 24th at 5:30 o'clock in a candlelight ceremony in the Hallsville Baptist Church. Rev. A. L. Brown, pastor of the bride officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by the Rev. L. Grady Burgess of Jacksonville. The vows were said before the altar decorated with long leaf pine, ivy, lighted tapers and baskets of gladioli.

A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Jim D. Sandlin, Jr., pianist, which consisted of Clair de Lune by Claude Debussy, Serenade by Schubert, Romance by Rubenstein, To An Evening Star by Wagner, Lohengrin's Bridal March by Wagner and the Wedding March by Mendelssohn. Misses Mary Ida Sandlin and Dorene Nethercutt, soloist, sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "Seal Us Oh Holy Spirit" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The brides were given in marriage by their father-in-law, James W. Kennedy of Beulaville and Chas. F. Parker of Raleigh. They chose for the occasion white gaberdine suits with Navy blue accessories. They carried a white Prayer book topped with a lavender orchid with streamers entwined with fern and lillies of the valley.

Mrs. James W. Kennedy and Mrs. Chas. F. Parker, sisters of the brides were matrons of honor. They wore Navy Blue suits with pink accessories and carried nose gays of pink carnations with lavender ribbons.

The bridegroom Julius S. Sandlin was attended by a cousin Fitzgerald Bostic as best man. Joseph W. Sumner was attended by a friend, Ray Daughtry as best man.

Ushers were Hal Quinn of Kenansville, David Allen Sandlin, Beulaville, J. D. Sloan, Cinquapin, cousins if the brides, and Linwood E. Sumner of Meulaville, cousin of of the groom. They wore grey gabardine suits.

The mother of the brides wore a navy blue crepe dress with navy accessories. Her corsage was of red carnations.

Mrs. Register, mother of groom J. S. Sandlin wore a tan suit with a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Bostic, mother of Joseph Sumner, wore a red suit with a corsage of white carnations.

Stanford Club Meets

The Stanford Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Marie Monk on March 16th at 3:00 P. M.

The president opened the meeting by singing "Brighten The Corner, after which the club collected was repeated. After the reports of the secretary and various committees were given old business was taken up. Plans were completed for the store window display during Home Demonstration week. Mrs. Lizzie Southerland and Mrs. Jannie M. Hall were elected delegates to represent the club at the State Council meeting in Raleigh.

The hostess, Mrs. Monk, served a delicious course of open-face sandwiches, mixed drinks, devils food cake and mints, which was enjoyed by all.

Games were played with prizes awarded as follows: 1st prize, Mrs. Maggie Brinson, 2nd prize Mrs. Janie M. Hall, 3rd prize Mrs. Thelma Southerland.

The meeting was adjourned until the 3rd Friday in April at which time it will meet with Mrs. A. S. Roberts.

Why Grow More Cotton

There are at least three good reasons why North Carolina farmers should plant as much cotton as they can care for properly this year, believes J. A. Shanklin, cotton specialist for the State College Extension Service.

For one thing, he points out, cotton is selling at an all-time high. With increased domestic demand and a backlog of foreign orders piling up, a good price for the 1951 crop is assured.

In addition, Shanklin says, farmers are being called upon to produce cotton as a patriotic duty. Next to steel, cotton is the most essential material for war use. Every man inducted into the armed services requires an additional 250 pounds of lint.

Finally, the specialist asserts, it will be to the farmer's advantage in future years to grow as much cotton as he can in 1951. If and when allotments are again placed on cotton production, the acreage planted this year will be considered in determining the size of the allotment.

Shanklin says every farmer who plants cotton this year should be prepared to follow a complete insect control program. Definite plans should be made now to repair or buy equipment. Those who wait until the last minute are going to be disappointed. When the equipment is bought, consideration should be given to the type of insecticide to be used.

A group of Vance County home demonstration club women has just completed a 16-lesson course in the fundamentals of sewing.

CONSERVATION FARMING

By GEORGE V. FERNET
Duplin Soil Conservationist
Many Duplin Co. farmers ruined their improved pastures last year by grazing too early and too much. This year the cold winter has held up the growth of the improved pastures more than usual and the stands of clover and grasses are not as good as in previous years. Therefore it is most important that our pastures be carefully managed this Spring and Summer.

All Pastures Specialists agree that all stock should be kept off until the clover and grass is at least 9 inches tall and never grazed below 6 inches, especially the first year.

With proper management poor stands will improve and many farmers who are disappointed with their pastures now, will be agreeably surprised before the Summer is over.

Last year Robert Blackmore of Warsaw was so disappointed with his four acre pasture that he almost plowed it up in April. By the first of July that same pasture was completely covered with clover and fescue over 15 inches deep. It was the most profitable 4-acre field on my farm," he said last Fall.

Warren Bostic of Rose Hill has one of the most productive pastures that I've seen this year. He has four cows with young calves on a one acre plot, they have been grazing there for over a month and the clover and grass is still about 10 inches high.

The Supervisors of the Southeastern Soil Conservation District recommend that Duplin Co. farmers who plan to seed pastures this Fall, start making their plans now. Select suitable land and apply lime now. Plant an early maturing crop or a cover crop that can be plowed in by the middle of August so the land can be prepared for seeding in September.
