

Camp Tuscarora Sets Operating Budget For 1952

CAMP TUSCARORA

Budget for operation of the Tuscarora Boy Scout Council for 1952 was adopted and two veteran service certificates awarded at a meeting of the Council Executive Board held last week at Camp Tuscarora.

The approval of the budget recommendations of the Finance Committee, headed by Bryon E. Bryson of Calypso, came following a full discussion of the proposal calling for a total of $28,407.15.

The Executive Board unanimously endorsed the proposal and pledged support to the fund raising effort.

President Sam H. Stallings recognized two members of the Executive Board — A. T. Griffin, Jr. and James W. Eganer, who received certificates of appreciation for their efforts in the Official Handbook, for effort and progress in Scout service, and in living the Scout Oath and Law.

A report on camping operations was made by Camp Director J. Robert Kluter, immediately following a dinner served in the Camp mess hall. Total registration for the first week of camp includes 105 campers and counselors.

In other matters considered by the Executive Board, thanks were voted for the cooperation of V. Grey Herring, Jr. in lending a truck to the camp.

A. T. Griffin, Jr. reported on the excellent physical of the camp property and President Stallings appointed Griffin to handle necessary insurance matters for the committee with instructions to look into the reevaluation and replacement of certain camping facilities.

Growth of the Council in enrollment of active scouts and cubs now has reached an all-time high in membership. Executive Boyers reported the enrollment at May 31, 1951, reached a total of 2,358 an increase of 521 over the same date last year. The enrollment in 1949, as of the same date, was 1,249 the Scout Executive reported.

Increased membership in scouting imposes greater responsibility to raise a larger fund to maintain services carry on an effective organization and extension program, and provide for proper leadership. Butler told the executive committee in a report he prepared to reveal the strong economic growth of the four county area comprising Tuscarora Council.

Citing business and industrial facts in a study which he made at request of the Council officials, Butler said there is proof that the money is available, the wealth is here, and an investment in youth is a safe and wise course of action.

Health and effective buying income of the area are growing, the report pointed out, with Chairman Bryson of the Finance Committee adding that the budget requests at this time will mean an average cost of $11.50 during 1952 for each boy presently registered in Scouting in the Council.

tion of the Federal Home Loan Bank System being assigned to the eighth southern district.

In 1940 Mr. Clark returned to Fayetteville where he and his wife became co-owners of the Mayflower Laundry and Dry Cleaners, one of four in the city of Fayetteville.

The 14 intervening years have seen Fayetteville become a boom town with the index of war personnel. The laundry business has boomed.

Today the Mayflower Laundry is one of the most modernly-equipped in the state. With a staff of 75 persons, the plant has expanded twice and has been completely equipped with new machinery over the last three years. It is ideally ventilated throughout having air-conditioned offices and features a refrigerated fur storage unit. The business is an investment in excess of $100,000.

Since Commissioner Clark took over his highway position in 1949, the running of the laundry has been entrusted to his capable wife, a petite blonde, whose good looks belie her executive ability. Wilbur spends more than half his time in highway work and calls the division headquarters located in Fayetteville, his office during morning hours. Afternoons are mostly spent at the laundry or traveling over the division.

The Third Division Highway Commissioner took over his highway background. For two terms he served as mayor pro tem of Fayetteville where he found out what good highways mean to cities. He became familiar with the farmers' road needs when he was a stockholder in Golden Belt Orchards and Farm Inc., a corporation which owns a 1200 acre farm in Cumberland County.

In spite of busy work schedules with his highway duties, Wilbur Clark finds time to be active in many other phases of community life. He is a member of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Fayetteville, one of the city's larger churches, where he has served as a deacon for five years. He recently served on the pulpit and building committees which last year completed a $360,000 church addition.

ice. And only last Friday the telephone office called to remind us of our bill. This is true of a large percentage of the phones in Kenansville and Beulaville. We feel that the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company should be made to maintain a larger field force than they do in Duplin. There should be at least one full time employee in each Kenansville and Beulaville and a larger force in Warsaw. It will cost them money, yes, and so are our no good telephones costing us money. We don't mind paying so much if we get what we are paying for. The trouble is not with the fellows in Warsaw. I don't see how they can keep up with the service as well as they do. Our hats are off to those not to the Big Boys in Tarboro who sit in their offices and allow sufficient

Miss Alderman Is Presented By Club

On Sunday afternoon, June 24th Miss Marilyn Alderman, Rose Hill Pianist, repeated for her fellow townsmen and eastern Carolina friends the recital which she recently gave at Wake Forest college. She was presented by the Rose Hill music club of which she is a member and which has followed her musical progress with interest and encouragement since her childhood. For her audience it was a thrilling listening experience. The promise of an outstanding artist was recognized in this young musician of whom her graduate instructor recently said to her teacher of her childhood "she has talent, the ability and the looks for a career as an artist". It is easily seen that she also has the charm of personality and stage presence to win her audience.

Miss Alderman has progressed far in technical and interpretive development and her future will be noted with interest. Throughout the program, well selected from the work of Beethoven, Brahms, Chopin, Debussy, Carpentier, and Cheskin, the young pianist continued to impose the stamp of an artist on her playing, opening her program with Beethoven's bold and vigorous Sonata in C major (Wald-
