is pure white with a long cup and its name is Bearhubs. And I roved to the strawberry market in Wallace . . . they sold some berries there last week, and the season will be in full swing next week. No poem has ever expressed that wonderful awake feeling of spring more poignantly than Pippa's Song of Robert Browning.

The year's at the spring,
And day's at the morn;
Morning's at seven;
The hill-side's dew-perl'd;
The lark's on the wing;
The fall's on the thorn;
God's in His heaven—
All's right with the world.

And on Tuesday night, Duplin's good friend and mine, Sam Byrd, opened in a new play on Broadway . . . "The Chase" by Horton Foote, starring John Hodlak and Kim Hunter the gal who got an Oscar for her brilliant supporting role in "Streetcar Named Desire." The play is directed at the time we won a Ferrer, and had a successful try-out in Philadelphia. It might be labeled a Western play, but the action is on the Gulf Coast of Texas. If you ever want to get a scoop on your roving reporter, you ought to ask Sam about the time we won a Big Apple contest. We were younger then. And one of my treasured memories is Sam singing "Lonesome Road" on a high hill overlooking a lake in Maine in a sunset that was sheer glory.

And I hear that anyone who thinks by the inch and talks by the yard should be moved by the foot.

seventeen in the state penitentiary for the killing of John Allen Armwood on the night of March 12th, 1952 after a fight in a "piccolo joint" near Faison.

One amusing witness brought some humor into the case of the state against Jimmie G. Faison indicted on three counts of attempted rape, assault and housebreaking. Cousin Jeremiah Smith was ill with pneumonia on the night of March 1, 1952, and evidently the whole neighborhood had gone to sit up with him. The defendant had got hold of some whiskey for him that cousin Jeremiah said must have been made in New York or somewhere because it knocked the sickness plumb out of him. Jimmie G. Faison was sentenced to two years on the road, and the sentence was suspended upon payment of costs and $500.00 for the benefit of Gladys Smith, this sum to be paid in monthly installments of $40.00.

Dentist Visit Is Delayed

Dr. J. M. Brogdon of Hopewell, Va., writes that he expected to visit Kenansville Easter but due to illness of Mrs. Brogdon could not do so. He and Mrs. Brogdon expect to come down before too long and look over the town and county. He graduates in dentistry at the Medical College of Virginia in June and is thinking seriously about locating here.

No Parking

If you are expecting a blessed event, and need some smart clothes to conceal the news until you are ready to divulge it, or just want to add to your peace of mind, I urge you to try the Carolyn Shop at the Market Street Shopping Center at Market and 16th streets. They carry everything you could wish, and they will take plenty of time to see that you are properly fitted. I know, because I bought a very elegant, ultra chic dress there last week . . . not for a blessed event, however.

Drive Wheels Power Spaced

An exclusive feature on the tractor shown above, is the changing of wheel tread spacing with the power of the engine which permits the spacing of wheel tread to any position you select. In the barn yard or on the job it's safe, simple and convenient. By easing three eccentric, the power of the engine slides the wheel disc on spiral rails in the rim. Adjustable stops check the spacings and lock the wheel in place.

Without loss of time, increased earnings are made with economical row spacings, which conserves the properties in the soil by using every available inch of the field for productive growth.

Drive wheels that are power spaced in less than five minutes are a feature of tractors manufactured by Allis-Chalmers and designed for the CA and WD agricultural models.

er than the 23rd day of May, 1952, and answer or demur to the complaint in said action, or the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in said complaint.
