HI QUALITY IS MORE THAN SKIN DEEP!
Parts may look alike on the surface, but the true story of quality goes far deeper than that. International Harvester engines have that quality. Regular HI parts from the assembly line are examined with this 1,000,000-volt x-ray. It looks "under the skin," checks to protect HI standards of quality. This is only one of the many reasons why it will pay you to use HI precision-engineered parts for all of your McCormick machines.
IH PARTS FIT RIGHT... WORK BETTER... LAST LONGER...

Rambling In Duplin

By Maude P. Smith
It was a dreary, rainy day to begin rambling, but your Roving Reporter and I started for Wallace. If you need new whistle bait this year be sure to go to Eisenberg's Fashion Shop and see his new line of Catalina sports wear. He showed me a purple swim suit, and my my, wouldn't the man go for that! If you haven't been to Wallace lately, you should. There are several new buildings going up, including a new tobacco warehouse. Then there is Carter's Fabric Mill which is a very modern building with its beautiful lawn, new one way streets in other words Wallace is rapidly growing.

When Mr. A. C. Hall asked what was happening in Kenansville and the reply was—Nothing Much, he chuckled slyly to himself.

The Strawberry Market, the next stop—and a thrilling place it was with its long rows of cars, trucks and horse drawn carts and wagons waiting for the auction to begin.

There were men browsing around in shirt sleeves, and old colored men peddling hot roasted peanuts, one man working a crossword puzzle and writing up orders for shoes between times. Little Picaninies with strawberry stain around their mouths, (and a stomach ache later I imagine) waited excitedly.

Along with the excitement there was also beauty, for just across the street from the market was the home of Bill Hussey back in a pine grove with borders of beautiful iris, poppies, verbena, and other blooming flowers and his lawn which is nicely kept.

Ding dong! The bell rang and the auction was under way. The first load sold for $8.00 per crate. The highest sold that day (Friday) was $10.95. $14.50 was the highest price for Thursday. The prices were lower on Friday because the berries would not get to the northern markets in time to make the sale, and they would not hold over.

The Massey berries sell higher than the others it was reported by Joe Bryant. He also said that the average load of berries on a truck was 300 to 350 crates.

We traveled the hi-ways and by-ways on the way back to Kenansville. If you don't think you can get stuck on Duplin County roads just ask your Roving Reporter.

The blueberries at Double Trouble Blueberry Farm, East of Magnolia, were in full bloom. They will begin bearing in June. The weather was much nicer when we arrived in Kenansville, but the atmosphere in the Duplin Times office was hot, due to the fact that Mr. Grady had a visitor who had made head lines last week.
