The V. H. Reynolds family have recently returned from a trip to Illinois where they attended a large family reunion celebrating the golden wedding anniversary of Mrs. Reynolds' parents, the Reverend and Mrs. C. F. Schmidt. It was the first time all the family had been together since the children had married. They came from six different states to honor their parents, from North Carolina to California. There were more than 40 present, 22 of them grandchildren of whom four were new arrivals this past year. At a special service in connection with the reunion three of these young children, including Judy Reynolds of Kenansville, were baptized by their grandfather, Reverend Schmidt, assisted by one of his sons, a minister in California, and a son-in-law a minister and a professor in Iowa.

On their return trip, the Reynolds went through the Hermitage Wonder Cave, and to the top of Look Out Mountain in Tennessee.

About the biggest kick anyone got this week was those trying to keep cool somewhere kicking in the waters. No matter how glad you are to see your friend back, you'd better mind how you apply that pat on the back, these days on account of that sunburn.

One thing about appearing dumb or at least, silent—that you may know more than you appear to, which is a distinction in it's self. It may not always work but most of the time it sounds just as well. You notice a person fired with ambition, is not so easily fired.

Funeral services were held last Sunday for Mr. Daniel Futreal who died Friday night after a long lingering illness. Services were in a family cemetery here.

M-Sgt. James Coats, son of Mrs. Frank Cavanaugh who is now serving in Laudsburg, Germany with the 7030th Hq. Sq. for the past six months has now recently been made Sgt. Major of the base. Mrs. Coats has been making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cavanaugh since Mr. Coats has been in Germany.

Friends regret to learn of the illness of Mr. Corner Cavanaugh who has been confined in a Wilmington hospital recently. Hoping he will soon be out and to active duties again.

Mr. and Mrs. Eris Rouse of New Port News, Va., surprised some of us with the announcement of the arrival of a daughter on June 25th somewhere in New Port News hospital. Mrs. Rouse is the former Miss Lois Cavanaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cavanaugh of Wallace. Mrs. Joe Cavanaugh, mother of Mrs. Rouse is now spending a few days with Mrs. Rouse in Va.

Mrs. Johnnie Lechtworth and family of Kinston visited with Mr. and Mrs. Gatlin several hours last Wednesday night.

Eula Sanderson, Mrs. Guy Rhodes and Mrs. Vida Milloy all motored down to Wilmington last Tuesday during the warm of the day.

Mrs. Ellis Williams had a serious accident here last week when she stepped outside of the door after dark to come into contact of a lawnmower and fell over it and a piece of it pierced her leg near the ankle. Medical aid was soon applied but the pain and wound is still very serious but getting on very well.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Futreal and daughters, Grace and Tena of Fayetteville all spent the day with

Students Aid Quest For New Antibiotic

Columbia, S. C., June — The search for a new antibiotic that may be better than any of the other "wonder" drugs goes on and on, with scientists testing soil samples from various parts of the world.

It could be found anywhere—possibly in your backyard. It was such a sample from Missouri, processed in routine manner, which gave the world the golden mold now known as penicillin.

As an interesting and practical sidelight to their biology studies, several students in Columbia High School recently forwarded a soil sample from the South Carolina state capital, which lies in the sand-hill belt, unusual from a geological standpoint.

This area, many miles inland, was at sometime in the earth's history the bottom of the sea. Specimens of marine life have been found in the giant sand hills which geologists say were once coastal sand dunes. These sandy hills extend from the area around Pinehurst in North Carolina through Camden and Columbia and on through Alken and Augusta.

Each sample of soil gathered from various unusual areas in the world is processed by scientists in a dogged quest for a new antibiotic even better than aureomycin, which effectively prevents the growth of staphylococci, streptococci and bacilli, and which has saved hundreds of thousands of human lives and is used by poultry and livestock raisers to eradicate various diseases in animals.

Scientists believe that somewhere there is soil with a strain of microorganisms that may provide a possible "super wonder" or "cure all" drug and the most exciting story yet in medical annals.

Henry Dixon and Mrs. Martin Dell last week as well as spent some time in Wallace doing some shopping.

Mrs. Butler Cavanaugh who has been quite ill recently is now at home and about her work and is feeling fine. It could be that the warm weather has something to do with her being able to get her sunshine vitamins.
