R. V. Wells Addresses Warsaw Rotary

R. V. Wells, Clerk of the Superior Court of Duplin County addressed the regular meeting of the Warsaw Rotary Club on Thursday, July 19. The president, Lee Brown presided. At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mr. Wells spoke on the function of the clerk's office and the operation of it. He discussed the various kinds of proceedings instituted. Since the clerk deals with two separate courts, he must keep both sets of records, those of the county court and those of the superior court.

This is another in the series of Rotary programs featuring local prominent men in Duplin, officials of the County, all kinds of business men, warehouse men, bankers, manufacturers, publishers. It is designed to acquaint the members with the men who make up all the activities in Duplin County.

Besides the speaker, Mr. George Worley of Clinton was a guest.

A & P To Move Into Larger Warsaw Quarters

Mr. Armstrong, manager of the Warsaw A & P Store announces that the firm hopes to move into its new store in a very short while. In keeping up with the progress of Warsaw and its growing business A & P has leased one of the Les Brown buildings near the theatre and has renovated and modernized it. The new store will be larger than the old, having more shelf and display space. A large refrigerated vegetable and fruit counter has been installed and as soon as this has been proved effective the manager hopes to move. The new store is painted red, the usual A & P color. Watch for announcement of its opening in the Times.

Rumor Scotched; Office, Not Clinic For Warsaw Dr.

Dr. Matthews of Warsaw who will open a new office on Flank Street in back of the A & P store in Warsaw will not operate a clinic as has been persistently rumored, according to his two office workers who were asked on Tuesday, Mrs. May Parter and Mrs. Clara Britt. Rumor has had it that Dr. Matthews would open a baby clinic, a regular clinic, but his nurse and receptionist maintained that it was only a rumor and that the doctor would merely open an office. Dialogue overheard on a casual island: "Who is that lady I seen you with last night?" "That wasn't no lady. That was my daughter." "A man in Rocco's cafe asked a question about you yesterday."

Tucker, Sr. and other relatives until August 14.

A delicious dinner of fried chicken, rice and gravy, garden peas, lettuce and tomato, rolls, iced tea, and banana pudding was enjoyed by the 17 present. Joe Newkirk, president, called the meeting to order and a short business session was held. It was decided that the next meeting would be on July 4, 1953 with Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Evans in charge. A note of appreciation for the flowers sent at the death of Mr. J. C. Merritt, father of Mrs. Herman Gore, one of the class members was read. Mrs. Abbie Smith, secretary and treasurer, read the minutes and gave the treasurers report. Members of the class who were not present were Kenneth Taylor, Jr.; Pearl Lanier, Linton Southwell, Mrs. Wayne (Annie Louise) Hoover, and Mrs. Herbie (Betty) Hayes. The class will be looking forward to their meeting next year and hope that they can have a 100 per cent attendance. In 1950, the year they organized they had a perfect attendance of the 15 members of the 1945 class. Last year there were three absent.
