

A Hymn Is Born

I Gave My Life For Thee

A frail young woman visits an art gallery

Nearly a hundred years ago... a frail young woman of 22 sat in an art gallery in Germany. Too delicate to attend school regularly in her native England, Frances Blissett Havergal's father had sent her to visit friends in Düsseldorf. Exhausted from sightseeing, Miss Havergal sat, by chance, to rest in front of a painting of Christ on the cross. Over the words of the hymn she had written the words: "This have I done for thee, what hast thou done for me?" Inspired by the painting, she wrote a few lines of poetry. That night at the home of her friends she turned the scraps of paper into the first draft of the hymn. Her hymns are still in use around the world... and foremost among them is the one that would have been destroyed in the fireplace but for a chance gust of air.

I gave my life for thee,
My precious blood I shed,
That thou mightest recover;
And quickened from the dead;
I gave my life for thee,
What hast thou done for me?

I suffered much for thee,
More than thy tongue can tell,
Of bitter agony,
To rescue thee from hell;
I've borne it all for thee,
What hast thou done for me?

My Father's house of light,
My glory circled above,
I left, for earthly night,
For wanderings sad and long;
I left it all for thee,
Has thou left ought for me?

And I have brought to thee,
Down from my home above,
Salvation full and free,
My pardon and My love;
I bring rich gifts to thee,
What hast thou brought to me?

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Christians Differ

Lesson for October 12, 1952

"I WILL GIVE YOU the secret of true happiness." If a man starts talking in that vein he will have listeners at once. Jesus began his famous sermon on the mount with that magic word "happy." It is unfortunate that most of our English translations use the word "blessed" because for most people "blessed" is a church-word. They don't know whether they want to be blessed or not; they have no doubt about wanting to be happy. It is twice unfortunate that Jesus' meaning has been hidden under an even more forbidding word, "beatitudes." What we have here is a series of one-sentence pictures of truly happy persons.

Dr. Foreman

What Christians Are

In these sentences Jesus sketches the kind of person who "has" that is to say, belongs to, the Kingdom of Heaven. If God were forced to throw away some of the human race and keep others, these are the people he would keep. Jesus in these short sentences is picturing the Christ-like. He is not talking about what they believe but about what they are. There is all the difference in the world between Jesus' idea of a Christian and some of the popular ideas today. For example, many persons think of a Christian as a person who keeps a certain number of rules, or believes a certain number of things, or belongs to a peculiar kind of club called the church. But a club member may be exactly like the people on the outside except that he has paid his dues and they haven't; and some church members are just like non-church members except that they have paid their dues (or at least owe them) while the outsiders have not.

Finding True Happiness

Let us venture to put the meaning of Jesus into simple words of today. The following sentences are meant to suggest only some of the means wrapped in these truths-for-happines. Do you want to know the secret of happiness? Jesus asks, I will tell you. The happy are those who know how little they know and how far from good they are. These are the real people. God's people. The happy are not always the gay; the happy are the serious, those who feel a sincere sorrow for their sins and shortcomings, sorry enough to turn away from them. The happy are those who do not insist on their own rights, who carry no chip on their shoulders, who are more interested in justice for others than for them selves. After the proud have destroyed the proud, these are the people to whom the earth belongs. The happy people are those who want to be good more than anything else in the world. This is the one desire that God always fulfills. Happy people are those that find their happiness in helping others; these are the people who will find helpers in their own time of need. Happy people are those who are pure, not in act alone but in inner thoughts and desires. They are the ones who have any eyes for God. Happy people are not only peaceable themselves but help others to live in peace as well. These are the people who are really God-like. Happy people are not always free from trouble; but their troubles have been caused chiefly not by their sins but by the fact that they are good. They have their heaven in their hearts.

Christians Are Different

You are happy yourselves (Jesus concluded) when the hard things said about you are lies. You are happy when you suffer as I suffer, on behalf of others. God will reward you; you belong to the glorious company of the best men of all time, for there never was a good friend of God who was not misunderstood and slandered. Jesus never explained all he meant. ("He who has ears, let him hear," he used to say.) But whatever may be puzzling, one thing is clear: Christians are different. If a man fits these descriptions ever part-way, he is noticeably different from the run-of-mill human being. We cannot water down Jesus' ideas, for they are really radical. We should not try to make it sound easy; he did not. But let us be as frank as he was: If you want to find real happiness, if you want to belong to God's people, if you want to be a real Christian, this is it.

Steam roasted in their own juices and packed in two pounds of lard, they can be served hot or cold.
