G. A. Coronation At Baptist Church

In a recent coronation ceremony, marked by its simplicity and beauty, at the Warsaw Baptist Church, Misses Iris Ezzell and Joyce White received the highest honor awarded by the Woman's Missionary Union to members of the Girls Auxiliary. These were proclaimed Queen Regents and were presented their green-gold cape by their pastor, Dr. Alton Greenlaw. Their cape bearers were little Marian Daly and Ann Holt Jordan.

Receiving recognition as Queen with Scepter were Misses Peggy Torrains, Margie Davis and Betty Ann Parker. Their counselor, Mrs. F. J. Thomas presented the scepters which had been carried by little Linda Grice, Dianne Cook and Cynthia Batters.

Miss Rebecca Eason was honored as Queen and crowned by Mrs. Alton Draughan. Little Marina Blackmore was her crown bearer. All of the queens were dressed in white, each wearing her complete G. A. emblem and receiving the particular symbol of her new achievement.

Making the Court to receive the Queens were four Princesses, five Ladies in Waiting and ten Maidens. The Princesses included Misses Pat Hubbard, Lillie Mae Phillips, Jackie Fussell, Ruth Byrd who wore street length yellow dresses and silver coronets and carried open Bibles. Mrs. Paul Britt presented to them the G. A. monogram for their emblem.

Dressed in green, street length dresses with silver hats, the Ladies in Waiting received the white star from their Counselor, Mrs. Robert Blackmore. These were Misses Ann Straghan, Judy Stanhill, Joyce Potter, Judy Rollins and Becky House.

The ten young ladies who had completed the requirements for the first Forward Step received the title of Maiden. These, dressed in green, carried out the five star ideals and presented other phases of the work. Included in this group were Misses Juanita Hinson, Marie Byrd, Joanne Zachary, Judy Pearsall, Gloria Smith, Eleanor Herring, Martha Ann Barr, Sue Whittle, Carol Bradshaw and Grace Herring. Mrs. L. S. Whittle presented the green emblem as their basic award.

Church Night Of Stewardship

Climaxing a week's Stewardship Clinic the Warsaw Baptist Church observed the Church Night of Stewardship on November 2. The program was sponsored by the W.M.U., planned by the stewardship chairman, Mrs. W. D. Byrd.

The scripture reading was given by Larry McCullen from the gospel of Luke. Deans Pollock led the evening prayer of petition and praise. The Sunbeams, directed by Mrs. John Daly, sang two stewardship songs used to draw the attention of the congregation. Special music was planned by the Girls Auxiliaries.

The stewardship skit, "Timothy Taylor's Tithes" was so presented by members of the Royal Ambassador, including Drew Greig, Timothy, Bill Straghan as the ground, Bill Rollins, as the seed potato; Billy Vann as the tools; Jimmy Boyette as the Sunshine; Neal Mitchell, the rain; Joe Harrell was Strength and Cebron Fussell, the Tithes. Mrs. W. V. Vann helped with this presentation.

The Y.W.A. presented the Cooperative Program, using the local church budget figures, and challenged all toward a more liberal giving, through this channel to mission causes throughout the world. A chart was used to show the distribution of each dollar contributed by the Warsaw church through the Cooperative Program. Mrs. Avon Sharpe, Miss Mabel Byrd and Miss Peggy Mitchell took part.

The stewardship chairman of each of the eight circles presented messages to show that "every one of us shall give account of himself to God" for our time, our actions, our ways, our words, our money, our life, and our stewardship of the gospel. These chairmen represented the W.M.S.

Concluding the program the pastor, Dr. Alton Greenlaw, spoke briefly on the theme "God's impression of me?"

Old Age and Survivors Insurance Under Social Security Act

(This is one of a series of articles on old age and survivors insurance under the Social Security Act. These articles were prepared by your social security office at Wilmington, North Carolina. You can get more information from that office by visiting there, writing, or telephoning 3-1521.)

Over 63,000,000 persons are now insured by the old age and survivors insurance provisions under the Social Security Act. Three out of every four persons who are gainfully employed — either working for someone else or carrying on their own business — may become entitled to the benefits of social security for themselves and their families.

The 62 million persons who are buying social security protection for themselves and their families include workers in all sorts of jobs and industries. Some of the specific groups that are covered are:

1. Most persons who work in factories, stores, offices and in service industries like laundries, barber shops, restaurants, and theaters.

2. About 4,000,000 self-employed persons who own their own businesses and have their source of income from these businesses. The self-employed who are not covered include mainly professional men such as doctors, dentists, accountants, undertakers and engineers. Farm operators, too, are not covered.

3. Most regularly employed domestics in private homes are covered. Persons who do domestic work in hotels, boarding houses, etc. are covered in the same way as employees in any other commercial enterprise.

4. Farm workers may be covered under the act, but only if they are "regularly employed" by one particular farmer.

5. Employees of non-profit institutions may be covered under the act under certain conditions, depending upon the institution in which they work.

6. Some governmental employees, state, city and Federal, are covered by the Act. The situation varies from state to state, so that it is difficult to tell an individual employee whether he is covered.

7. Persons with at least 90 days of active service in the armed forces of the United States at any time after July 26, 1947, and prior to January 1, 1948. There are other groups of workers who are covered such as persons who are working outside of the United States for American employers. If you are not sure whether your work comes under the protection of the Social Security Act, go to the social security office at Wilmington, North Carolina, and inquire. If you prefer, write or telephone the office. The number is 3-1521. The office will be glad to send you, free of charge, a pamphlet which will explain social security to you.

Drury B. Thompson Returns To Job

Drury B. Thompson, Raleigh, has returned to his responsibilities with the State Board of Public Welfare as staff attorney and director of the division of institutional and protective services after an 18 month tour of military duty, according to an announcement by Dr. Ellen Winston, commissioner of the State Board.

Thompson served as assistant post judge advocate in the Department which handles the legal work of court martial cases, adjustment of claims, legal assistance to military personnel, legal counsel to the General and his staff, and the administration of the uniform code of military justice.

A graduate of the school of law at Duke University, Mr. Thompson served with the State Board of Public Welfare for nearly three years prior to his recent tour of military duty. In the position to which he returns he has responsibility for the administration of the State Board's program of inspection of jails and licensing of boarding houses for the aged. In addition, Mr. Thompson handles the agency responsibility in the field of domestic relations and juvenile courts. Upon request he counsels in the framing of needed social legislation and gives counsel to county departments of public welfare on legal matters concerning the program of the State Board of Public Welfare.
