Return Engagement Here two performances DON PAS-QUALE, it was announced today by Mrs. Lorelle F. Martin, president of the Duplin County Unit of the North Carolina Education Association. This unique traveling organization formed in 1949 by A. J. Fletcher, Raleigh attorney, to give aspiring singers a chance to appear in operatic productions and at the same time give the public an opportunity to hear opera in English, Last year more than one thousand Duplin County music lovers enjoyed this company's performance of the opera—SCHOOL FOR LOVERS. As a result of the formances in the past two seasons, the Company has gained international fame, feature article having appeared in eight national publications and one book. The State Department announced its intention of reprinting an article which appeared in Etude last December in a publication which will be distriuted to all foreign countries. Last season Grass Roots Opera which is administered by the Ex-tension Division of the University of North Carolina, presented seventy-nine performances through out the Tar Heel state and Virginia. For the first time a plan was worked out with the public school whereby training in opera listening was integrated into the music ap-preciation courses. Approximately forty-eight thousand school child-ren received this training, twentyeight thousand of which saw for the first time an actual opera performace. The idea of English, performed in a logical was soundly approved by the students, and their elders, as evidenced by countless letters writ-ten by the children.

The fact that North Carolina is the only place in the nation where students of singing can sing from ten to twenty performaces of sev-eral different operas in one sea-son has attracted young vocalists from Tennessee, Virgnia, Pennsy-lvania, New York and Connections as well as North Carolina while this season Texas, Michigan, Virginia, New York, Arkansas and North Carolina are represented. The dozen singers from this state represent Murphy, Wilmington, Wake Forest, Elon College, High Point Greensboro and Raleigh.

The Duplin County Unit of the North Carolina Education association sponsor of the local per formances, hopes that the public will not miss the opportunity to see this entertaining well staged musical performed by singing act-ors of profession caliber.

The night performance will take place at 8:00 o'clock. In keeping with Grass Roots Opera's plan to give school children a chance to see staged operatic productions, a matinee will be given at 2:30 p.m. Both performances will take place in the Kenan Memorial Auditorium. The children of the schools will learn the story of the opera from classroom teaching material supplied the teachers by the opera company.
