Court House

It won't be too long before the renovating of Duplin's Court House will be completed. The inside now glows with a new coat of paint colors varying in different offices. The court room color scheme was patterned somewhat after the practice court room in the law school at the University of North Carolina Work is about to commence on seats in the court room.' All badly worn and damaged seats and backs will be replaced with new.

Mrs. Parker Injured
Mrs. Virginia Parker of Beulaville slipped and fell from the second floor to the first landing in the court house here Monday. She suffered severe bruises, an injury to her back but no bones broken. Dr. Robert Willis was called and examined her. She was told to remain in bed several days.
