More than $6,000 has already been pledged for the coutest by 19 North Carolina banks, and other banks are making pledges daily. Top award will amount to $1600, second placer in the state-wide contest will receive $1000 and third placer will get $600. The prize money will be deposited with the North Chrolins college of the winner's choice for use by him as needed for schooling.

The state will be divided into 10 groups and the groups into three divisions. County winners will receive a $25.00 defense bond, group winners a $100,00 defense bond and the division winners will receive $500,00 in money.

Telegrams and letters of approval have been received from the heads of several North Carolina's leading colleges. They include Dr. H. W. Tribble of Wake Forest College, Chancellor R. B. House of the University of North Carolina, Gordon Gray of Greater University of North Carolina, A. Hollis Edens of Duke University, and J. W. Harrelson of North Carolina, State College.

Is What Pays Off

More Milk Per Cow

"More milk per cow is what really pays off in dairy business,"

G. H. Farley, county agent for the N. C. State College Agricultural Extension Service, says Williams' mall farm nestles in a warm valley between two tree-covered mountains. The previous owner had been unable to make enough money on the place to pay the taxes. But with the assistance of the Farmers Home Administration, Williams has trans-formed the valley and hillsides into an area of lush, green Ladino clover and grass. Williams started producing Grade A milk for sale commercially four A milk for sale commercially four years ago. He only had two cows. Now he has a herd of nine high producing purebreds and grades. All along he has emphasized high production in building his herd, ays County Agent Farley. Two of is cows have been milking around eight gallons each per day. At pre-each of these cows are bringing in more than $100 per month after he haul bill is paid. Williams is continuing his herd improvement work. By taking ad-vantage of the proven sires of the artificial breeding program, he figures he will "get the farthest in the shortest time." "If you happen to be around here in the next few years you will really see something," says Williams, pointing to his fine heifer calves.

Words of the Wise Pride is a fault that great men blush not to own; it is the ennobled offspring of self-love. -(Joanna Baillie)

Paul wrote to Timothy that "having food and raiment let us be therewith content, but they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and harmful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition."

By Alfred J. Buescher

"But thou, O man of God, ... fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou are also called, and hast professed before many witnesses." Paul urged Timothy. MEMORY VERSE-I Timothy 6:10.
