

Herring's Mammoth Star Warehouse

Star Set For 'Best Season'

Firm Has Spacious Warehouses Ready For Opening Sales

Charlie Herring, owner and operator of the mammoth Star Warehouse on South Queen Street, and his experienced sales staff is ready to launch the warehouse on its sixth season as an integral part of the Kinston Tobacco Market. Herring opened the Star in 1948 and staffed it with a group of veteran tobacco men, who are looking forward to another outstanding season when Auctioneer Ed Dale's chant signifies the opening sales. The Star contains 130,000 square feet of floor space, 45,000 of which was added in 1949 after the firm's successful operation's demanded more space. The building boasts modern features and is as well lighted as any warehouse on the Bright Belt.

Owner-manager Herring, who is a native of the Seven Springs section of Duplin County, has had 18 years' experience as a warehouseman. This includes 10 years on the Border markets. He also has warehouses in Georgia and Virginia.

Herring sold over 12 million lbs. of tobacco for Eastern Carolina farmers in 1932 and is regarded as one of the leading warehousemen in the tobacco business and has a wide following among Lenoir County and other Eastern Carolina farmers.

Assisting the veteran warehouseman in addition to auctioneer Dale will be Park Williams, bookkeeper, Claude Banks, bookman, and Clarence Stroud, floor manager.

W. E. Mallard will continue on the staff as office clerk and Lynn Pollock is again weighman. John Booth will be the night man and Harold Sutton, checkout man.

Floorman will be J. S. Ormond of Dover and Harman Miller. Joining the force will be Sken Howard of Beulaville as leafman.

Herring predicts that the high quality of tobacco raised in Eastern Carolina this season will be reflected in the high prices that will be paid to the farmers by the buyers on this year's auctions.

He also sees another highly successful year for the Star Warehouse and the Kinston Tobacco Market.

QUESTION: What is the outlook for cattle prices?

ANSWER: Most experts believe the surplus will be disposed of by late 1934 and the price will rise again.

Weekly Tobacco Market Report

Wilson, N. C., Sept. 12, 1933 - Volume of sales was heavy on Eastern North Carolina flue-cured tobacco markets this week. Average prices by grades were generally steady to a little lower, according to the Federal-State Market News Service. Quality of offerings showed a slight improvement over last week.

Sales for the four-day period ending September 11 totaled 51,116,889 pounds and averaged $55.54 per hundred. This was the highest weekly average of the season, topping last week's by 94 cents. Season sales were brought to 174,979,436 pounds for an average of $54.50. For the comparable period last year 129,842,158 pounds had averaged $49.86.

A large number of grade averages continued steady with quotations of the week before. Fluctuations were small - mostly $1.00 to $2.00 per hundred pounds. More losses than gains took place, with declines being centered on lower quality grades.

A small decrease occurred in the percentage of nondescript marketings, while a slight increase was shown in smoking leaf. Bulk of sales consisted of poor to good leaf, fair lugs, and nondescript.

Weekly receipts of the Stabilization Corporation under the Government loan program amounted to about 3 per cent of gross sales. Deliveries for the season represent a little over 3 per cent. For the comparable period last year nearly 95 per cent had gone under loan.

The U. S. Crop Reporting Board estimated the 1933 production of Type 12 to be 430,300,000 pounds as of September 1. This is about 20 million pounds below previous indications as of August 1. Total flue-cured production was estimated at 1,225,347,000 pounds.

Habits form the rails on which the train of life travels.

What you start doesn't matter - it's what you finish that counts.

Raleigh Academy To Hold Fifth Symposium Friday

The Raleigh Academy of Medicine will hold its Fifth Annual Symposium on Friday, October 16, at the Hotel Sir Walter, Raleigh, N. C. The subject this year will be "Renal Disease," and an effort will be made to present both the medical and surgical aspects of the subject with emphasis on correlation between the two.

The panel of speakers this year is headed by Dr. Homer W. Smith, Professor of Physiology, New York University Medical School, who is an international authority on renal physiology, and who is the author of a number of books on medical subjects presented for popular, non-medical audiences. Other speakers will include Dr. Franklin Kyser, Northwestern University Medical School, a specialist in Internal Medicine; Dr. Charles Barnett, Cornell University Medical School, a pediatrician; Dr. W. E. Kittredge, Ochsner Clinic, New Orleans, a urologist; Dr. Vincent Hall, Argonne National Laboratories, Urbana, Ill., who has done research on renal disease using the electron microscope; Dr. J. F. McManus, Professor of Pathology, University of Alabama, Birmingham, a pathologist; and Dr. Homer W. Smith.

The Symposium will be an all day and evening affair. All physicians of the state are invited as guests of the Academy, both for the talks as well for the the Academy to be given at the Sir Walter at 6:30 that evening.

The Raleigh Academy was founded on February 2, 1870 and is the oldest local medical organization in North Carolina which has preserved its continuous existence. Originally founded as a local organization for the encouragement of the furtherance of medical thought and the maintenance of high medical standards for its own members, it had originally ten chartered members. Today it has a membership of approximately 85 Raleigh physicians. The Academy presents this yearly symposium for the edification of its members and guests, as its contribution toward the cultivation of the science of medicine and the advancement of the character and honor of the profession. Anticipated attendance of from 200 to 300 physicians is expected.

QUESTION: What value is the Smith - Doney Classing Service to me as a cotton grower?

ANSWER: The classing service, which is free, tells you the grade and staple length of your cotton. Thus you can know exactly what your cotton is bringing on national and local markets, and the government loan value of your cotton. It is considered by many farmers to be the first step to take in marketing your lint intelligently.
