Duplin Farm Bureau Annual Meet Nov. 10

The Duplin County Farm Bureau will hold its regular meeting and barbecue on Tuesday, November 10, at 2:30 according to LeRoy Simmons, president of the organization. The meeting date has been changed due to a conflict with an REA meeting. It will be held at the Kenansville High School and a prominent speaker will be on the program. The meeting will get under way promptly at 2:30 with barbecue and all the trimmings coming at 4:30. President Simmons urges every member to take time out for this meeting as resolutions about next year's farm program will be considered. Officers for 1954 will be elected and delegates to the state convention in Raleigh next month will be named. Membership committees are urged to continue their work through November 3rd and to meet that night at the Agricultural building in Kenansville for reports. Several townships are still short of their membership goal and we need at least 1400 members for 1954. Let's meet and eat on November 10th.

Eastern Carolina Methodists To Hold Annual Conference In Durham, Oct. 28

Rocky Mount, N. C. — The Methodists of Eastern Carolina are preparing for the annual session of the North Carolina Conference to open at the Duke Memorial Methodist Church, Durham on Wednesday, October 28, closing on Sunday, November 1. Bishop Paul N. Garber will preside. The election of the first new secretary of the Conference in 30 years will highlight the session and is creating widespread interest among Methodists. The new secretary will succeed the late Dr. Thomas M. Grant of Rocky Mt. who served in this position for 30 years and had just been re-elected for a quadrennium before his death early this year.

The commission on World Service and Finance has just released its tentative report totaling over $1 million. This represents an increase of 12 per cent over last year, or $14,000, and will be one of the most important considerations of the session. The increase is designed to benefit Methodist Orphanage in Raleigh, which cares for 285 children, the new Methodist Retirement Home in Durham, the Golden Cross Hospital and the Church Extension Fund and the Church Extension program of the Church. Funds will also go for the support of 83 retired ministers and 97 widows of ministers. Included in the College Sustaining Fund is support for a proposed new phase of educational work at Louisburg College to tie this institution to the rural churches of the Conference. Also included is support of Camp Don Lee at Arapahoe where 1,000 Methodist youth benefit each summer; and the Minimum Salary Fund of the Conference with the ultimate objective of providing a minimum salary of $3,500 for each married minister with family. The report also includes sufficient funds in the Conference Expense Fund to provide for a Conference Treasurer's office with a full time treasurer.

Due to the general growth of Methodism, the expansion will be financed by an increase of only one per cent in applied percentages. In addition to the budgeted items the Conference is laying great stress on special gifts and offerings for the building of new churches within the Conference and for the relief of human suffering and foreign missions.

Are You A Descendant Of The Governors Council?

Mrs. Lyman A. Cotten, Chairman of the Commission on the Governors Council and House of Commons, 1766-67 for the Tryon Palace Commission, is asking the assistance of the people in the state in helping to locate the descendants of the members of the House of Commons assembled in New Bern in 1766-1767. In that year the law authorized the building of the official residence of the Governor and the seat of the government of the Colony of North Carolina. The sum of 16,500 pounds voted on at successive legislatures in 1766-67 permitted the construction to begin in 1767 of what was popularly known as Tryon's Palace.

Mrs. Cotten's letter states: "We are anxious to ascertain the names of the living descendants of the members of the Commons and of the Governor's Council of 1766-67. There are, doubtless, many of them living in North Carolina, and scattered throughout the United States. . . I am enclosing lists of the members of these bodies, hoping that you can arouse interest in locating descendants." The names from Duplin County listed are Felix Kenan and Joseph Williams. Anyone having any information that would interest Mrs. Cotten please contact Mrs. Lyman A. Cotten, Hooper Lane, Chapel Hill, N. C.

It's In The Book

I know there is some rule about yielding the right-of-way to fire trucks police and ambulances. But it there a specific law requiring drivers to pull over and stop? N. R. High Point Absolutely, the Motor Vehicle Manual is very definite about this. It states that all drivers, upon hearing a siren, shall pull well to the right and stop and remain so until the emergency vehicle has passed. However, if an officer directs you to move you must, of course, obey him.

The Duplin County Agricultural Department has "Shined" again, taking third premium of $550 at the North Carolina State Fair this week. As a feature of the North Carolina State Fair, the Agricultural Department is devoting itself to the United Agricultural program through which North Carolina has accepted "THE CHALLENGE." The N. C. Board of Farm Organizations and Agencies, which is sponsoring "The Challenge Program," invited five counties to arrange and present exhibits depicting their programs for Better Farming and Better Rural Farm Living. Duplin County was chosen as the county to represent the Southeastern District of North Carolina. Through the cooperation of the Duplin County Agricultural Extension Office, the high school agricultural departments, the home economics departments, the soil conservation department, the F. F. A. and F. H. A. departments, both white and colored of the entire county, a most impressive exhibit was shown at the fair under the title "A NEW DAY DAWNS WHEN ALL WORK TOGETHER." The exhibit was in the form of a wheel of progress divided into six spokes, each spoke representing one phase of the CHALLENGE program. Each spoke representing these six phases were made up of models, some of the models being exact reproductions of Duplin County buildings and enterprises. The first phase of the challenge "More Dignity and Contentment in Country Living," was represented by a model home surrounded by a model farm with adequate barns, houses and animals. The second phase, "Improved Educational Opportunities," was portrayed by a model school. The third phase, "Greater Security," was depicted by a model hospital, health center, Red Cross building and a modern bank. "Increased Per Capita Income," the fourth phase, was represented by the Duplin County auction markets and our factories. The sixth phase, "Finer Spiritual Values," was the scene of a large rural church with its stately spire and the congregation leaving the church with a look of contentment. The entire display was lighted with rotating lights at the front of the exhibit and set off with a backdrop of the rising sun, representing the new day that will dawn for Duplin County when all of our people work together.

S. students sang "Believe" accompanied by Edgar Wells. The following program was given on "Health and Safety." Corporal T. G. Brooks of State Highway Patrol was the principal speaker. He gave sixteen rules for safety on the highway. They were: 1. Don't "tail-gate." Generally keep at least the length of one car between you and the car ahead. 2. Leave all your problems at the curb. Drivers attention should be on driving. 3. Drive defensively, not offensively. Don't expect other drivers to always do the right thing. Be on the alert. 4. Don't quarrel about the right-of-way. Give it to the other fellow rather than risk an accident. 5. Always keep your car under control. 6. Never be too lazy to lift your foot from the gas to the brake the minute you see a potential danger. 7. Never plan in advance exactly how many miles you must cover in a certain time. 8. Don't overdrive your headlights at night; your brakes at any time. 9. If you stop on a highway, stop off the main roadway. 10. Be willing to "go a second mile" in courtesy, remember that you can live by the three C's of safe driving, care, common sense, and courtesy. 11. Accept traffic laws and regulations in the spirit in which they are intended - aids. 12. Don't try to keep up the pace set by a "horse" larger than the one you are driving - racing on highway is strictly prohibited by law. 13. Be conscious of your vehicle position on the highway whether moving or parked. 14. Know the condition of your car and its equipment. Everything must be kept in A-1 condition.
