Research Science Protects Consumers

A skilled technician at the J. C. Penney Co. laboratory tests wool materials after samples have been treated to resist moth damage. Moths won't eat treated wool and they starve to death. This is an example of how the modern department store protects the public against inferior merchandise and keeps constantly upgrading the quality of goods on its shelves.

Benson Cuts Wheat Crop For 1955

Secretary of Agriculture Benson last week ordered a further cut-back of 13 per cent in wheat-planting for the 1955 crop and called a grower referendum for July 23 to approve rigid marketing quotas to enforce planting goals, according to an announcement of the U. S. Agricultural Department in Washington.

The announcement stated that perhaps the strictest controls in the history of American farming to prevent the production of new crop surpluses. The government now has about six and a half billion dollars invested in farm surpluses, mainly wheat, cotton, corn, and dairy products.

Another Reduction
The wheat reduction comes on top of a 17 per cent decrease in this year's wheat acreage. With the harvest of this year's crop, the nation will have a two-year supply of this bread grain.

The secretary is expected to announce later similar control programs for next year's cotton, major types of tobacco, peanuts, corn and sugar crops—all of which face surplus production problems.

The rigid overall controls announced by Benson are designed to keep extra wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, peanut and sugar crop land from being diverted to the production of excessive supplies of other cash crops such as soybeans, flaxseed, oats, rye, barley, potatoes, dry beans and vegetables.

Under this program, farmers will be required to comply with federal planting allotments for all crops for which allotments are made in order to be eligible for price support aid on any crop. Allotments are now planned for wheat, cotton, major types of tobacco, peanuts and sugar crops.

Total Acreage Allotment

In addition, farmers whose allotments call for a total reduction of more than 10 acres in the allotment crops will have to comply with a "total acreage allotment" for their farms in order to get price supports.

The total acreage allotment will include all crop acreage allotments established for the farm and the 1953 acreages or adjusted acreages of all other crops on the farm except hay, cover crops, green manure crops, pasture, idle crop land and summer fallow.

These controls are perhaps the strictest in history.

Of the total amount spent on advertising, the two candidates spent $9,684.51 with newspapers and magazines received $4,497.11 from the two politicians.

Printing of leaflets, handbills, booklets and other material, cost the total of $17,869.17. Scott figured his printing at $12,784.72 while Lennon spent $5,084.45.

The victorious candidate put his advertising-printing bill at $30,691.37 while Lennon was spending $25,276.97 for the same purpose.

Scott said he spent $5,233.04 on telephone bills while Lennon paid the Southern Bell only $1,076.46.
