Work of Evangelism Committee Plans For Revival

In the absence of the pastor the Deaconship Evangelism Committee will have charge of the mid-week prayer services at the Warsaw Baptist Church. M. A. Mitchell, A. L. Humphrey, and S. A. Jones are members of the committee who will preside at the weekly meetings, throughout July.

In preparation for the church revival, August 30 - September 5, emphasis will be devoted to Evangelism throughout July. The meaning of evangelism will be discussed by John Anderson Johnson on Wednesday, July 14; the mechanics (systematic visitation program, enlistment, canvas study) of evangelism will be considered on Wednesday, July 23; and the necessity of prayer, the organization of prayer leagues, prayer lists, etc.) will receive attention on Wednesday July 23.

The visiting preacher for the revival will be Dr. E. Norfleet Gardner of Laurinburg. Dr. Gardner is an outstanding pastor, vitally concerned with the spiritual development of Christians as well as the winning of lost souls to a knowledge and acceptance of Christ. The travel experiences to world mission points have given Dr. Gardner first-hand knowledge and inspiration for his emphasis to world Christianity. His active participation in state denominational agencies and boards and Convention ministries justify his declarations on Baptist doctrines singly - without union - and plan of church work.

Eleven members of the Warsaw Baptist Junior Training Union spent last week at Caswell Baptist Assembly as representatives of their church to participate in the state memory work tournament. Because of their hard work in learning the required scriptures and of their victory in the associational and regional tournaments the church rewarded them by paying half of their week's expenses at the Assembly. Ten returned home with the state gold seal as a State Winner. The ten winners at the state level were Drew Grice, Ann Straughan, Mabel Jane Straughan, Bill Straughan, Bill Rollins, Billy Vann, Hubert Merritt, Jimmie Boyette, Jimmie Bradshaw, Joe Harrell.

Three other juniors spent the week at Caswell and were there to greet the group on Saturday who came to complete the junior choir. These three were Neal Mitchell, Carol Bradshaw and Eleanor Herring. Mrs. W. Y. Vann was the counselor for the group. Dr. and Mrs. Alton Greenlaw were faculty members in the Intermediate and Adult Departments, but shared afternoon fun with the juniors on the beach.

Making the trip on Saturday other members of the choir, who joined those who had spent the week at Caswell, were Joyce Potter (pianist) Mary Lou Potter, Linda Kay Barr, Martha Ann Barr, Sue Whittle, Nina Garner.

The Greenlaws At Ridgecrest

Dr. and Mrs. Alton Greenlaw left Warsaw following the mid-week prayer service Wednesday for Ridgecrest where they will spend their vacation. Recognizing their stewardship of talents and abilities both will give their three weeks vacation time to the youth of the South. Both believe in the program of Christian training and educational opportunities provided by Southern Baptists in their summer assemblies at Ridgecrest and Glorieta. Both consider the invitation to teach as an honor, but more so as a God-given blessing.

The attendance for the Training Union Assemblies has increased each year so as to demand three full weeks. The Sunday School program also claims three weeks. The program is duplicated each week, with some necessary changes in personnel. More than 2200 will be enrolled in the various age groups each week.

The program of work includes class periods by age groups for the study of practical, progressive, and effective promotional methods. Workshops, clinics and the most modern techniques and facilities are made available. Agents by age groups, vital subjects to current life are discussed through panels, forums, lectures, seminars and group participations. Classes in Bible study, visual education, handicraft, journalism, library science, and drama are held for those interested in such.

The afternoons are spent in recreations according to the desires of the guests. Many varied sports are provided, scenic drives, book review teas, etc.

Evening services are for total groups. Inspirational messages, inspirations, pageants, films, and lake-side campfire services conclude the day. Thousands of people each summer choose to enjoy their vacation with God, and for God in a setting that provides relaxation, refreshing experiences and joy - that is Ridgecrest.

Hymn Festival

Under the auspices of the state Baptist Training Union Department the annual Hymn Festival at the Caswell Assembly attracted 24 choirs from over the state, including the Warsaw Baptist Junior Choir. This was the first appearance for the Warsaw Choir and it received placement in the second grouping, Grade B, under rigid standards.

In order to participate on the state level the choir had fulfilled all requirements. All members of the choir are regular members of the local Training Union; all stanzas of four hymns are memorized and sung with proper interpretation; the choir appeared before local, associational and regional audiences and received from each a rating which enabled it to progress to the next standard. On the state level the standards are very high. Several choirs return year by year before achieving an A rating.

Miss Joyce Potter is pianist for the Junior Choir and Mrs. John Anderson Johnson is the director. Sixteen choir members made the trip to Caswell last Saturday to sing. These included Linda Kay Barr, Martha Ann Barr, Carol Bradshaw, Eleanor Herring, Ann Straughan, Mabel Jane Straughan, Sue Whittle, Nina Garner, Mary Lou Potter, Bill Straughan, Drew Grice, Bill Rollins, Jimmie Bradshaw, Billy Vann, Neal Mitchell.

Others from Warsaw attending the festival included: Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Straughan, Mrs. Paul Potter, L. S. Whittle, Major Eugene Johnson, Mrs. Ormond Grice and Linda Grice, Dr. and Mrs. Greenlaw, Jimmy Boyette, Hubert Merritt, Joe Harrell and Mrs. W. Y. Vann.

"Caswell By The Seaside"

Let's go to Caswell Caswell by the Seaside! Where shall we be going? What shall we look for?

From highway 11 out of Wilmington we take state highway 150 toward Southport, but before reaching there we find markers designating "Caswell Baptist Assembly" and we follow the arrows for about eight miles. Crossing the bridge we find ourselves on a peninsula, with our destination situated on the tip of Oak Island where the Cape Fear River empties into the Atlantic. Almost surrounded by Elizabeth River, Cape Fear River and the Ocean we find a scenic beauty and delightful atmosphere not surpassed on the N. C. Coast. Our destination is known for its historic significance and for its present day religious opportunities.

Named for the first governor of North Carolina, Fort Caswell was built of brick, remodeled with cement additions and modern equipment. Dating from 1824 it received its share of congressional appropriations through World War II. Through the years the government spent millions of dollars at Fort Caswell. Time, energy, life were poured out here for a century, costly artillery and instruments of war went to rust and decay. Built as a protection site, it proved useless to the government. In 1949 the site (being used at the time as a Naval Base during World War II) was declared war surplus and sold for $86,000.

"The guns have gone, the masses of brick and mortar bear mute testimony to noble efforts made to protect a priceless heritage. The fortifications were built and main-

The Straughan Children

The three Straughans do it again! Training Union is a family affair, especially for the Straughan family of Warsaw. The three children are active members of the Training Union and receive the full support and help of their parents in the Training Union activities and plan of work.

Miss Ann Straughan is a good winner because she learned four years ago to be a good loser in her first attempt in the state junior memory work tournament. Each of the last three years she has been a state winner.

Bill Straughan entered the tournament four years ago and has repeated victory each year, thus receiving the special "four-year" certificate at the 1954 state tournament.

Miss Mabel Jane Straughan is keeping up the family record and she returned from the Assembly with her second state winner seal this year.

Credit for such victories must be shared by church leaders and family. Much time must be spent in learning the work and in cultivating skills through study, practice, drill and is made possible only by understanding and cooperation by family, leaders, and friends.

The three Straughans receive another recognition. The three are members of the junior choir. As members they fulfilled the requirements toward participation in the state hymn festival, held on Saturday during the Assembly.

Twelve of the basic buildings are now under construction on the new Wake Forest College campus near Winston-Salem.
