Training For Tomorrow

The splitting of the Atom has created the greatest revolution in science and technology since the invention of the steam engine. And now high school graduates can step right in on the ground floor of this new miracle field. YOU can be enlisted for this training and help in the development of our future atomic weapons of war. Equally important, YOU can acquire a background and a skill which will fit YOU for a profitable peacetime career of applying atomic energy for the good of mankind.

Today your United States Army must have technical specialists with nuclear know-how to meet the needs of the Atomic Age.

Through the atomic weapons support program, such men are now being trained in the following courses: Electrical technician, assembly (mechanical), electronic technician and nuclear technician.

Atomic training is wide open to YOU if you are a high school graduate and can meet certain physical and educational qualifications. YOU are eligible for this training and on the road to a promising career. See your local US Army Recruiter, Sgt. Cook, for further information and enlistment in a fast growing program. Sgt. Cook is in Wallace on Wednesdays and Kenansville on Thursdays of each week.

A lazy manner in which to write a column; quoting others and thus filling the space. But a good way since the poets express the thought I wish to convey more beautifully.

Miss Burch Honored In Wallace

Miss Mary Sue Burch shared honors with Miss Jean Wells on last Saturday afternoon when Miss Sue Carol Oswald and Miss Trudy Williams were hostesses at an informal tea in the home of Miss Oswald on Raleigh Street in Wallace.

The dining and living room were ensuite for the occasion and lovely arrangements of gladioli, mums, asters and fever few were used profusely throughout the rooms.

Mrs. Ralph Carlton received the guest introducing them to the receiving line which was composed of Miss Oswald, Miss Wells, Mrs. Martha W. W. mother of Miss Wells, Miss Williams, Miss Burch, Miss I. C. mother of Miss Burch, Mrs. D. R. Sykes, mother of the groom and Mrs. John Sheffield, grandmother of the groom elect.

Mrs. Kenneth Currie directed the guests into the dining room where Mrs. Francis Townsend received. From a pretty appointed tea table which was overlaid with a cutwork linen cloth, centered with an arrangement of white flowers in a silver bowl, burning white tapers in silver candelabra flanked the centerpiece. Party plates of iced drinks, salted nuts, sand dunes, party sandwiches were served by Miss Frances Jones, Miss Barbara Carter, Mrs. Irving Graham and Mrs. Edward Williams. Goodbyes were said to Miss Mary Wingard Oswald.

Those in the receiving line were presented corsages of asters, excluding the brides-elect who wore white corsages, all of pastel colors. Others assisting wore corsages of gladioli. At the conclusion of the party the hostesses presented Miss Burch and Miss Wells with a gift.
