Heath - Taylor Vows Spoken In Queen Street Methodist Church

Miss Imogene Taylor of Kingston and Mr. Floyd Heath, Jr., of Pink Hill were united in marriage at Queen Street Methodist Church in Kingston, Monday, November 11. The ceremony took place at high noon with the bride's pastor, Rev. Mark W. Lawrence, officiating. Background music was played softly by Mrs. Henry Johnson.

The couple was unattended and for the wedding the bride was attired in a blue antique taffeta Leslie Foy original ensemble with matching accessories, using a cascade corsage of cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Daniel W. Taylor, mother of the bride, wore a dress of black crepe with matching accessories and a purple orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a navy wool suit with navy accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Following the ceremony the bride's mother entertained at a luncheon. The brides table overlaid with an Irish linen cloth, held an arrangement of spider chrysanthemums and gladioli against the background of burning tapers. The tiered wedding cake, elaborately decorated, was topped by a miniature bride and groom. After the couple cut the cake, Mrs. Taylor, assisted by Mesdames Gamel Cotton, Edward Speight and Vivian Roberts served the luncheon to out of town guests and immediate friends.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will be at home, temporarily at 611 North Queen Street, Kingston.

The bride is employed as assistant supervisor of the Kingston office of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The bridegroom is employed in the postal transportation service of the U. S. Government.
