February Offers Much Excitement To Sportsmen

February 1955 will offer much excitement to sportsmen in North Carolina. February is the top of the winter-early spring season for golf, fox hunting and the flowering of camellias in North Carolina.
The annual gold match for the Silver Fells Club at Pinehurst is set for February 8. These matches are followed by the Tin Whistles Club's 51 annual Flag tournament on February 12. The Pinehurst Country Club's Senior Four-Ball Golf Tournament will be played February 23 through March 4. All four 18-hole courses at Pinehurst, and the three at nearby Southern Pines are in top condition and more popular than ever before.
Down on the coast, the Valentine Season is celebrated with the annual Nags Head Foxhunt, and at Pinehurst, Washington's Birthday is the occasion for a gala formal ball at the big Carolina Hotel. The Valentine's Season Foxhunt at Nags Head has become a three-day annual classic which brings hunters and hounds to the Dunes of Dare from many states in the fall, which starts at 7 a. m. February 17, 18 and 19 when hounds are "traced out" to chase gray foxes across the dunes and through the Nags Head Woods. You ride to the hounds in jeeps or automobiles at Nags Head. Master of Foxhounds is John Ray Watkins, Oxford tobaccoist, who is among the many hunters bringing packs of fine foxhounds to the coast for the pursuit of foxes. Many local hunters are expected to attend these Nags Head Hunts.

Facts As I See Them

By VIDA MILLOY
Casually speaking in reference to "Juvenile Delinquency" one major reason so many of the younger generation today are "delinquent" is in my mind, is the fact that they are constantly "gorged out" on the very things which their parents practically started for in their youth. Why, it's almost come to pass that many parents hesitate to buy their babies — new baby carriages, for fear that the most of us seldom get around to start fixing it. At least, most of us can wind up putting things back where we didn't find them in the first place — with advice not to do it again. And now, facts to keep in mind about the home about that free advice, the only way to avoid that is to almost never give more. Free, that is.
Many of us usually go about with a chip on our shoulder, or sometimes crying over spilled milk, which indicates we should condense one and kind that we possibly have seen dust or wood a little higher up than the tin of our nose. Too, if we are quick to get ruffled or insulted, we usually take it upon ourselves to accept it or leave it; the latter is the cure for it from any source.
Some say, a bathing beauty is a girl worth waiting for. Southern is what you basked for, summer, the period when a distant relative does not remain distant.
Kingfish—Yeah Between now and the wedding, a strike in one of them industries could kill the romance.

New Cattle Grub Control Announced

Veterinary scientists, searching for better ways to control cattle grubs, have come up with another new angle of attack, the American Foundation for Animal Health has announced.
Research veterinarians of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have reported encouraging results with daily intake of phenothiazine during the months when heel flies deposit eggs on the legs of cattle. The drugs are absorbed into the animal's blood stream so they can attack grubs before extensive damage is done.
Treated cattle averaged some 80 per cent fewer grubs than untreated animals, and some were completely free of infestation.
Grubs are the larvae of the heel fly. They burrow in the animal from ages deposited on the hide by the adult fly. After living within cattle several months, they puncture their way out again, usually through the back, and in so doing cost the livestock industry millions of dollars every year in damaged hides and prime meat cuts.
Some success in cattle grub control also has been reported with drug injections which accomplish much the same results as the feeding program, according to the Foundation, but more research is necessary.
The present common method of control by spraying or dusting cattle is considered unsatisfactory. It does not prevent all damage to the hide, inasmuch as treatment cannot be started until the grubs are present under the skin of the back.
