Wildlife Food Mixture Available For Free Distribution In North Carolina

Eugene Carlton of Warsaw was instrumental in having a truck load of ten-pound bags of wildlife food sent to Kenansville for Duplin farmers this week.

More than 4000 ten-pound bags of wildlife food seeds are available to landowners who wish to improve their lands for rabbits, quail, and turkeys, it was announced today in Raleigh. Bob Hazel, farm game specialist with the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, stated that the bags of annual seeds would be sent to landowners without charge as long as the supply lasts. For most of the State the mixture consists of 2 pounds of combine milo, 2 pounds of millet, 2 lbs. of cow peas, 2-1/2 pounds of soybeans, and 1-1/2 pounds of annual lespedeza. For the mountain counties half the bag consists of the above mixture and the other half is buckwheat, with a quarter-pound of sunflower seed added.

The mixture has been developed by farm game experts to provide a quick means of establishing food patches for wildlife. The Wildlife Commission's long range program for habitat improvement is based on the planting of perennial plants such as shrub lespedeza and multiflora rose. Present planting stocks of these perennials do not bear until the second year, although new strains are being developed that will bear seed the first year, Hazel said. He stated that the annual seed mixture would provide excellent food for part of the winter months of the first year while the perennials are reaching maturity.

Hazel pointed out that the annual seed mixture will plant two eighth-acre plots. He said that it would be more desirable for the game to come to our stores rather than one large one. The patches should be located near good cover, and will require one bag of 6-8-4 or 4-6-4 fertilizer. Applications for the free bags of seed mixture can be obtained from the district wildlife biologists, county agents, Soil Conservation Service agents, and from the County Wildlife protectors. Planting instructions come with the bags of seed.

March 1 is the deadline for applications for shrub lespedeza, he said. The entire crop of multiflora rose seedlings, totaling almost a million plants, has been applied for, but there are approximately five-million shrub lespedeza seedlings still available. Well over a million lespedeza plants have already been distributed this winter from the Commission's wildlife foods nursery at Chapel Hill.

Excerpts From Kiplinger Letter

FASTEST GROWING STATES
Arizona, Delaware, Florida, Nevada and New Mexico are at the top of the list in rate of population growth. The Pacific Coast has slowed down a bit in the past four years and didn't grow quite as fast as it did from 1940 to 1950. Florida, with a gain of 19 per cent, has edged out California, which grew 18 per cent in the past four years. In actual numbers of people, however, California is the leader and its population will probably top even New York state in 1956.—The Kiplinger Letter

MARRIAGE BOOM AHEAD
Only 1.5 million marriages occurred in 1955, as compared with 2.3 million in postwar 1946. But by 1960, there will be a new wave of marriages resulting from the boom in births in the 40's. About 2 million a year.—The Kiplinger Letter

PEOPLE ARE MOVING LESS
Since World War II, shifting from state to state and place to place has lessened progressively. In the past year only five million people moved from one State to another, 126 million stayed put—same home, same city.—The Kiplinger Letter.

HIGH INCOME INCREASES 90%
During the past five years, the $100,000 and up income group has grown by 90 per cent. This class, which is economically important, includes the upper middle class, the well-to-do and the so-called rich. But it represents only 7 per cent of the total number of families in the country.—The Kiplinger Letter.

FOUR MILLION BABIES THIS YEAR
The baby boom continues; over four million were born during 1955. That means 25 new babies for every 1000 population. The record high was reached in 1947 with 26 babies per 1000. During the depression decade of the 30's the birth rate was 18 per 1000.—The Kiplinger Letter.

Following is a description of Great Books of the Western World by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. GREAT BOOKS OF THE WESTERN WORLD.

"Produced by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. in collaboration with the University of Chicago, William Benton, publisher, Robert Maynard Hutchins, editor, Mortimer J. Adler, associate editor and editor of the Syntopicon.

"The set contains 54 volumes encompassing 443 works by 74 authors—spanning Western thought from Homer and the Bible to the 20th century. It totals 32,000 pages, comprising 25,000,000 words. Each volume is a complete, self-contained preparation of the set occupied 100 scholars, chiefly engaged on the Syntopicon, for eight years and cost $2,000,000.

"The set contains whole works, not excerpts and for 21 of the 74 authors, all their works. It is the only publication in English, or the only edition aside from rare or expensive printings, of key works by Aristotle, Hippocrates, Galen, Euclid, Archimedes, Ptolemy, Copernicus, Galileo, Harvey, Descartes, Pascal, Newton, Montesquieu, Kant, Lavoisier, Fourier, Faraday and Freud.

"The set includes 1,200 pages of original writing, including Dr. Hutchins' introductory volume, 'The Great Conversation', and the 102 introductory essays in the Syntopicon by Dr. Adler. The unique contribution of the set is the Syntopicon, Volumes 2 and 3. It comprises an 'index idea' through which it is possible to trace 102 fundamental topics through all the writings in Volumes 4 to 54 of the set. It is as though all these 443 works had been read 2,987 times, each time with a particular topic in mind.

"Over 400,000 man-hours of selective reading have thus already been done for this Great Books user; this would be over 70 years for an individual reading 24 hours a day. The Syntopicon operates in the field of ideas as the dictionary does in the field of words and the encyclopaedia in the field of facts, thus constituting a third, essential reference work. There are 163,000 references in the volume, part of and part of again, which the 2,987 topics are discussed in the 443 works.

The Plight of the Tobacco Farmer!
In view of the fact that the planting season is here and so much has been said and written about the best varieties of tobacco to plant, I wish to offer a few suggestions.

I speak not as an advisor, for I am not as wise as Edmund Burke, and I wish it distinctly understood that the statements I make here are intended solely for the best interest of the producer of flue cured tobacco as I see them.

I further wish it known that I neither smoke nor "chew" tobacco and therefore I could not qualify as an expert witness as to taste and aroma.

But the question that has been uppermost in the minds of the grower in what variety to plant, in the January issue of the Progressive Farmer is comprehensive editorial

Tobacco Problems and What Vaden
"I wish every tobacco grower would read that article. It is a clear cut picture of the situation which confronts him. In that editorial, and I quote as follows:
"The Stabilization Corporation itself along with Tobacco Associates, Inc., tobacco manufacturers, and our tobacco experts should speak out so as to insure proper guidance for farmers before actual seed sowing goes further" end quote.

Well, they have spoken and in no uncertain terms. In effect they plainly tell you that they will not be in the market for any of the pale, odorless varieties. I have yet to talk with one tobaccoist whether he be warehouseman, manufacturer or exporter, who will hesitate to say that they will not be interested in any of the white, sick, odorless tobaccos. It is my cool, deliberate and unbiased opinion that if those pale sick varieties predominate the market they did this year they will break the back of the Stabilization Corporation which seems now to be top loaded with those varieties, and according to their own statement, are paying $3,000 per day interest on money borrowed to make loans to give tobacco farmers 90 per cent of parity.

It's a common expression among some farmers — that it is immaterial to them if the government buys it just so they get their money. They don't seem to understand that the government is not in the tobacco business, but is merely lending money to the stabilization Corporation, if and when they vote to keep production fairly in line with demand or consumption.

Let us try to follow the trade demands and not be a party to the breaking down of the stabilization Corp., for it is the "modern Samartian" of the tobacco farmer's plight seeking to relieve him of his misfortune and distress!

Hotel Kinston Ballroom Scene Of Meet Of Eastern N. C. Doctors January 24

A heart specialist, a pediatrician and a bacteriologist from the University of North Carolina will serve as lecturers for postgraduate medical courses to be held on January 24-25 in two Eastern North Carolina cities.

Dr. Edward C. Curnen, Jr., professor and chairman, Department of Pediatrics, and Dr. William J. Cromartie, associate professor of bacteriology and medicine, will be lecturers at the Hotel Kinston Ballroom on Tuesday, January 24. They will speak at 5 p.m. and following a dinner session, again at 7:45 p.m. Their topic will be "Diagnosis and Management of Virus Diseases."

Dr. Ernest Craig, associate professor of medicine, will deliver two lectures on heart disease at Edenton on Wednesday, January 25, at the Nurses' Home of Chowan Hospital.

He will speak at 4 p.m. on "Congenital Heart Disease" and again at 7:30 on "Rheumatic Heart Disease."

Both courses are part of the post-graduate series sponsored by the UNC Medical School and Extension Division for physicians in general practice. Cooperating in sponsoring the programs are the Lenoir County Medical Society, in the Kinston course, and the First District Medical Society, in the Asheboro - Edenton-Elizabeth City course.

Mt. Olive Junior College Gets $12,550 Donation From Minister

Mount Olive — Mount Olive College moved another step nearer accreditation as a liberal arts junior college this month as the result of an endowment fund for the college library, made possible by the Rev. J. C. Moye, Sr., of Snow Hill.

The Moye Endowment fund will ultimately reach the sum of $12,500; already $5,000 of this amount has been invested and the remaining $7,500 will either be given by Moye during his life time or will come from his estate. Announcement of the endowment fund was made this week by W. Burkette Raper, president of Mount Olive college.

Income from the Moye Endowment is to be used for the advancement of the library, which is to be named "Moye Memorial Library." One of the requirements for an accredited junior college library is an expenditure of $500 annually for new books, and the $12,500 endowment will virtually assure the college of this. Raper said, "By endowing the library, Moye will be making a contribution to the education of every student who ever studies at the college," the college president declared.

In September of last year, the college added a full time professionally trained librarian to its faculty in the person of Mrs. Mildred Southernland Council, a native of Mount Olive. Mrs. Council was the first supervisor of the school libraries in Wayne County and has had a number of years experience in the field of library work. She received her training from Appalachian State Teachers College.

The Mount Olive College library has received special attention during the past year. New steel book stacks of the latest design have been placed in the library and many new books added.

During the past year the college has made progress in departments other than the library. A new science laboratory recently was equipped at cost of approximately $4,000. Dr. C. C. Henderson, a well-known physician in the Mount Olive community, gave the college its first endowment last spring in the amount of $5,000. New office and classroom furniture has been added. The student enrollment is almost double that of last year.

Mount Olive Junior College, which began operation in the fall of 1954, is owned and supported by the North Carolina State Convention of Free Will Baptists, who have a membership of 30,000 in North Carolina. Mount Olive College is the only college in North Carolina supported by the denomination and is the only liberal arts college related to the denomination in the United States.

MR. FARMER: More Information Given By Experts On Farm Income Tax; You Must File 1956

This article, the second in a series describing the provisions of the Federal Income and Social Security laws as they affect farm people, was prepared by Charles R. Pugh, W. L. Turner, and C. W. Williams, extension farm management specialists, N. C. State College.

If you filed a Federal income tax return last year, the necessary forms or reporting Federal income tax will be mailed to you.

Otherwise, forms, including any extra forms required may be secured from your local post office or bank or the nearest Internal Revenue Service office. By completing two copies of each form, the taxpayer can retain a copy for himself.

The forms must commonly required by farmers and their use are as follows:
"Form 1040": The amount of income tax is computed on this form from the listing of taxable income from all sources, including the profit (or loss) from farming operations, non business deductions (or the standard deduction) and exemptions.

"Schedule F": Used to determine farm profit or loss from the itemized sources of farm income and farm deductions. It is designed for use by farmers filing on either the cash or the accrual basis. Types of farm income reported on Schedule F include: livestock raised or purchased, produce raised or purchased, agricultural program payments, and patronage dividends.

"Form 1040 ES": Used to declare an estimate of tax. Farmers file this estimate by January 15 unless they file their final return and pay the tax on or before February 15.
